PREFACE

THE manuscript now printed for the first time and given verbatim et literatim has been for some years in the possession of the Society of Friends in London ; permission to publish has been cordially given by the executive of that body. It has been transcribed by Miss C. Fell-Smith, and the printers' proofs have been checked by me with the original and I have added a few textual notes.

The notes at the end of the volume are the result of long periods of research in which I have been ably assisted by gentlemen well acquainted with the Furness district, among whom must be named W. G. Collingwood, M.A., F.S.A., of Coniston, John F. Curwen, F.S.A., F.R.I.B.A., of Heversham, and William Farrer, D.Litt., of Carnforth.

The persons whose names appear in the Account Book are, in the main, unknown to history, even to Quaker history, but the record of their financial transactions throws a bright light upon conditions in an obscure part of England in the second half of the seventeenth century. Professor C. H. Firth has stated that "in general the special merit of the lives of the Quakers is that they introduce us to a wider circle than the memoirs of courtiers and noblemen ; all sorts and conditions of men appear in their pages ; a picture of the middle classes and the people could be put together from them" (article in The Scottish Historical Review, for July, 1913, on "Some Seventeenth Century Diaries").

INTRODUCTION

The Household Account Book or cash-book of Sarah Fell of Swarthmoor here printed includes much beyond what its title would lead the reader to expect, for incidentally there are set down various sums received or spent on behalf of the local Meetings of the Society of Friends, and others throwing light on the business undertakings of the Fells and their kindred. Though these casual entries do not give a complete record of the transactions they refer to, they are of value in the dearth of other records, and the book as a whole affords a fairly complete account of the conditions of life in one of the larger houses in Furness in the latter part of the seventeenth century.

Such a record possesses the greater interest from the fact that Furness by its situation and history had characteristics of a more primitive state of society than other parts of the country. Lying between Windermere Lake and the Duddon Valley its physical boundaries are very distinct, and the special jurisdiction of the abbots of Furness had made it during the middle ages a little principality in itself. The abbots were resident lords, and in wealth as in jurisdiction had no rivals in the neighbourhood. The Harringtons of Aldingham or Muchland, and their successors, had rank and a great estate, but did not reside except occasionally in Furness. Gleaston Castle was built by them about 1350, but seems to have fallen into decay a century later and was left to go to ruin. The lords of Pennington and of Nevill Hall in Ulverston resided respectively in Cumberland and Yorkshire, and the families of Kirkby, Broughton and Fleming, though they might be described as also of knightly rank, could not attempt to rival their feudal superiors, the abbots. The little house of Austin Canons at Conishead and the minor squires and gentry, such as Bardsey of Bardsea and Ambrose of Lowick, do not appear conspicuously.

The abbey fell and the rule of the abbots came to an end during the century of confiscations which marked the Tudor epoch and changed medieval to modern conditions. In 1487 the Broughton estates were forfeited for loyalty to the house of York and given to the earl of Derby, an absentee. In 1536 Conishead Priory was suppressed and the Crown took possession; about fifteen years later it was sold to Sandys, whose successors were the Doddings. Then came the fall of the abbey in 1538; the revenues and exclusive jurisdiction were thenceforward administered by the King's agent, who, when resident, was obviously insignificant by contrast with the old abbots. The site and part of the lands were sold by the Crown and became the property of the Westmorland family of Preston, whose estate was called "The Manor" simply. The Prestons were of equal position with the Kirkbys and Flemings. Yet another confiscation, due to the attempt to place Lady Jane Grey upon the throne, brought the great lordship of Muchland into the Crown's possession; locally the act would have little significance, for it meant merely the change of an agent. Then another in 1570 placed the Nevill Hall estate in Ulverston at the mercy of the Crown, for its owner, Sir John Nevill of Liversedge, had incurred forfeit by taking part in the abortive rising in the North in 1569. These changes had at least one result; they allowed the minor families of older days to spring into prominence.

The last-named confiscation has an immediate bearing on the story of the Fells. Humberstone's Survey shows that Swarthmoor was included in the demesne lands of Nevill Hall. Conishead Priory had had some share in it, and there may have been minor proprietors. The details of its acquisition by the Fells are not known. The Nevills' estate was granted out in parcels either on lease or in fee, and the Fells probably purchased Swarthmoor from the Crown grantees. The surname is a common one and little is known of the origin and fortunes of this branch of them. The will of a Leonard Fell of Ulverston, dated in 1542, shows that he had a grandson Leonard (son of Richard) Fell and a son George, to each of whom he bequeathed "housing and lands." The Ulverston registers do not afford sufficient details to enable the descent to be traced with certainty, but the son named may be the George Fell who in 1546 married Margaret Henshaw. It is more to the point to notice that in 1570 one of the free tenants of the manor of Nevill Hall was George Fell, holding a piece of land called St Mary's Acre. A minor tenant was one Richard Pettyt, who occupied a piece of land in Swarthmoor; this may be the "Pettie's Tenement" frequently mentioned in the Account Book. It is of interest because on the site of its barn was built the Swarthmoor meeting-house.

From its architecture Swarthmoor Hall is supposed to have been built about the year 1600, and from its size it is clear that the Fells had by that time acquired wealth and were occupying a good position among the local families. The owner was no doubt the George Fell, whose name appears in the subsidy rolls of 1620, 1625 and 1628 as holding lands in Ulverston of the clear annual value of £3. There was however another George Fell of standing in Ulverston; he was assessed to the subsidies named upon goods valued at £3. In 1625 George Fell the elder, described as "of Swarthmoor," and George Fell the younger were of sufficient wealth to be summoned to receive knighthood; they declined, and in 1631 had to compound for the refusal, such enforced compositions being a device to increase the King's revenues. In 1623 Thomas Fell, as son and heir of George Fell of Ulverston, gentleman, was admitted to Gray's Inn, and in 1632 he married Margaret Askew, daughter of John Askew of Marsh Grange, who bore him a son George and seven daughters, one of whom, Sarah, kept the cash-book now printed in full. Thomas succeeded his father before 1641, when as "Thomas Fell, esq.," he was assessed to the subsidy for lands of £3 clear value; George Fell of Swarthmoor being at the same time assessed for goods of £3, as before. The lawyer prospered and taking sides with the Parliament in the Civil War was promoted to a judgeship in Cheshire, which then still retained a separate judicial staff as a palatine county, and was also made chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster. Acquiring a moiety of the manor of Ulverston he secured the position of his family among the local squires. He died on Friday, 8 October, 1658, and lies buried in Ulverston church. By his will he founded a grammar school in the town.

But though Judge Fell has attained a place in the Dictionary of National Biography he and his house of Swarthmoor owe their celebrity to his wife Margaret and to George Fox. There is no need to dwell on their history. Margaret Fell's personality is one of the glories of Furness. She became a convert of Fox's at his first visit to the district in 1652, and though her husband did not follow her example he tolerated the meetings of the Friends at his house. After ten years of widowhood she married Fox in 1669, greatly to the disgust of her son George Fell. This son died in 1670, before the Account Book begins, and whatever right he had in Swarthmoor appears to have gone to his seven sisters; at least their descendants had it. From the book itself it is clear that Margaret Fox, though by her second marriage she had forfeited any legal claim to it, was in authority there, for everything about the house or farm seems to have been bought or sold "for mothers account." By inheritance she had a share of Marsh Grange in Dalton, formerly, as its name would indicate, part of the Furness Abbey estate and afterwards paying a quit-rent to the Duke of Albemarle to whom the abbey's lordship was granted at the Restoration for his services in raising Charles II to the throne. In the time covered by the Account Book, 1673-1678, Marsh Grange was occupied by one of the daughters and her family—Mary Fell, who had married Thomas Lower in 1668. Three other daughters also had married, so that at Swarthmoor there were living with their mother, Sarah, Susanna and Rachel. They occur very frequently in the accounts, as may be imagined, and sometimes they went little excursions in company, leaving traces like these: "By money sister Lower, sisters Susannah, Rachel and myself gave Mary Caton, when we went to sister Fell's—1s." (49). This would be their brother George's widow; they dined there. Or again: "By money in expense when we three maid sisters went to Cartmel well—1s. 2d." (391); the famous medicinal well under Humphrey Head. An earlier visit made by the three sisters in company with "brother Lower" had cost 9s. (91).

During our period the mother was frequently absent from Swarthmoor. George Fox had returned from America in 1673 and his wife and Sarah Fell went to greet him on his arrival at Bristol. Sarah must have returned soon for the book begins on 25 September; Margaret went with her husband on visits, returning alone in December. Then Fox was imprisoned at Worcester almost the whole of 1674, and in July his wife with her daughter Susan Fell went to visit him at Worcester. She laboured much in procuring his release, and they returned together to Swarthmoor in June, 1675. In March, 1677, George Fox set off on his travels once more, his wife accompanying him as far as Sedbergh (371). Other periods of absence are to be found by examining the accounts, many if not all being visits to Meetings of the Society of Friends in the neighbourhood and beyond it; one to the Meeting at Coppull, near Wigan, and then into Cheshire occurring in 1677 (403). Sarah Fell herself appears to have been one of the chief organizers of the Women's Meetings of the Society in the district, and those at Swarthmoor, Cartmel and Hawkshead are frequently referred to; Lancaster, Quarrel Flat in Cartmel, Walney Island and Kendal were other Meetings visited, and once a meeting at Hugh Tickell's in Cumberland was attended by mother and daughter (101). The local success of the Society in Furness is to some extent accounted for by the isolation of the district and the paucity of what were called "gentle" families. Practically all the householders were equal, whether they were styled gentlemen or yeomen or husbandmen, and the simplicity of speech and manners inculcated by the Friends was already prevalent. The general religious condition seems to have been that of quiet acquiescence in whatever arrangements the State made—episcopacy was succeeded by presbyterianism and this again by episcopacy without any noteworthy opposition being aroused, although there were numerous nonconformists after the Restoration. For a time the authorities looked sharply after them, mistrusting their loyalty, but there is little evidence of a persecution distinctly religious. The Baptists at Tottlebank and Torver and the Society of Friends are the earliest known instances of organized nonconformity.

The history of the latter goes back to the preaching of Fox in 1652. The Friends were persecuted before the Restoration by the Presbyterian Sawrey and after it by the Episcopalian Kirkby. In the end the last-named seems to have come to the conclusion that there was no harm in them, and when George Fox settled for a time at Swarthmoor in 1675, Colonel Richard Kirkby, the chief man of the local gentry, called upon him to welcome him (Camb. Jul. ii. 311). The general persecution of nonconformists in 1684 extended to Furness, William Kirkby, the colonel's son, being an active agent in it but finding some of his brother magistrates hostile to him. The parochial clergy seem to have been quiescent.

The Account Book has incidental notices of persecution. A possible case may be Sarah Fell's own imprisonment. She mentions that on 5 May, 1676, she "went to prison at Dalton," (271), but no cause is assigned. Again on 7 December, "father," i.e. George Fox, "gave Thomas Benson, bailiff of the liberties, for his civility to me, being a prisoner—2s. 6d." (337, see 275, 300, 362). The detention could not have been for any long time, as the accounts were kept very fully, almost day by day, at that time; and the reason may have been purely civil, for there are elsewhere references to the courts at Dalton and Ulverston and the assizes at Lancaster. On 15 November, 1677, money was lent to Richard Gawith, "when he went to prison" (434, 435), and in the following February 5s. was sent to him, "he being prisoner at Lancaster" (463). Though again no reason is given the offence was most probably a religious one, he having the sympathy of his fellow-believers. About the same time "mother's fine in Cheshire" (461) of £20 is recorded among the payments; this of course does not throw light on the local conditions in Furness. The few local Catholics do not seem to have suffered any active persecution after the Restoration until the Oates Plot. A list of "convicted recusants" drawn up somewhat before that time shows seven names in Urswick, thirteen in Dalton and six in Aldingham; these would have to pay the fines and be subject to the ostracism decreed by the statutes. Their chief local protector was Sir Thomas Preston of The Manor (243. 3), but when his son died he left the district and joined the Society of Jesus in 1674. He continued to maintain a Jesuit chaplain in Furness, whose arrest was in 1678 attempted by Daniel Fleming of Coniston, one of the local justices. At Bardsea was seated the decaying Anderton family also adhering to the ancient religion; James Anderton and his wife are recorded in the list just mentioned. Bardsea Hall is mentioned in the Account Book (75. 1), a payment of 6d. having been made there, perhaps a quit-rent for some parcel of land.

Apart from the Prestons of The Manor, the last of whom, as just stated, left the place in 1674, the chief neighbours of the Fells were the Doddings of Conishead (15. 8). The hearth tax roll (21. 1) of 1673 shows that Swarthmoor and Conishead each had 13 hearths liable to the tax; this means that they were very great houses for that period, and it may be stated that no other house in Ulverston had more than 5 hearths, that house being Jonathan Williamson's; those of Thomas Fell and Widow Woodburne had 4 each; twelve houses had 3 hearths and twelve 2; forty-one had only one hearth liable. The Doddings are mentioned occasionally. Miles Dodding, the then owner of Conishead (15.8), had been a minor at the Restoration, but his epitaph describes him as "a faithful son of the Church of England." He would therefore be out of sympathy with the Swarthmoor family on religious matters, though his father had fought for the Parliament in the Civil War and was most likely a Presbyterian. The only Furness squire who was an avowed nonconformist was the Baptist Roger Sawrey (135.1) of Broughton, some eight miles north-west from Swarthmoor, but as the Account Book records a visit of Sarah Fell and her sister to Broughton Tower (221) it seems probable that there was religious intercourse between them.

Speaking generally the accounts throw no light on the social relations among the local gentry and yeomen. They do, however, give some information as to the general conditions of life in the Swarthmoor household and the district. The occupations were, of course, mainly agricultural, but other trades were carried on, and some of the bolder commercial efforts of the family are indicated (34.1). Nor yet is there much recorded of public affairs. The various assessments paid to the constables of Ulverston are of course entered in the accounts, but without a hint of the indignation they aroused at the time. Early in 1674 Miles Dodding wrote to Daniel Fleming of Rydal complaining of "the insolent assessors of Ulverston, who continue their overcharges though they have been fined. The constables pretend that the fines cannot be enforced because they have not been able to sell the goods distrained on that account." A little later William Kirkby wrote stating that he and his two cousins the Prestons had had before them the Ulverston assessors and sub-collectors, who obstinately refused to obey a former order in Mr Dodding's case. One local agitation is casually mentioned, a small tax being paid in October, 1673, "for charges in managing the business of Dalton parish being overlaid in its assessment" (9). The complaint of the Dalton people seems to have been renewed in the following June on a fresh levy being demanded in respect of foot-soldiers. In July Dodding proposed a meeting of magistrates to consider how "to compel the obstinate Dalton men to pay their arrears"; but more moderate views were taken by the general body of magistrates, who next year appointed special surveyors to inquire into the assessment. The "managing the business" concerned the Fells through their ownership of Marsh Grange. In 1677 "an assessment to build 30 ships with" was paid in respect of Pettie's Tenement (395). In addition to the taxes royal briefs were sent round asking gifts for the relief of distress of various kinds; two of them are mentioned, one occasioned by a fire in Cheshire in 1673 (15) and another for a fire in Southampton in 1675 (207). There was also a collection for a fire at Northampton in 1675/6 (241).

Sunday was probably devoted to religious exercises, as we may gather from the records of small sums being given to collections on that day, but secular business was not avoided. Tuesday was given to the Women's Meetings of the Society. Thursday was a busy day for the account-keeper and probably for everyone around, it being the Ulverston market-day. Saturday was the Dalton market-day, but that does not seem to have interested the Swarthmoor household so much as the Ulverston day. A clock is mentioned (93), and the accountant's watch also (39, 233, 311); this was mended by a whitesmith in Ulverston, but once it had to be sent off to Lancaster (115). Several guinea pieces came into Sarah Fell's hands; three she sold for £1. 1s. 6d. each. This seems to have been the usual value, though on one occasion only 20s. was recorded. Two pieces of gold which brought £1. 12s. may have been a guinea and a half-guinea; the coin was then a new one and its value fluctuated (379. 1).

A purchase of beeswax for candlewick (235) indicates how the house was lighted. The fuel in common use was no doubt peat from the neighbouring mosses; there are various payments for cutting and carrying turf, as well as for purchases of it. Coals are mentioned, but were probably too expensive for general employment in the house; thus £1. 8s. was paid for 4 qrs. of coals bought from Miles Dodding "to burn a limekiln with" (277), and a little later £1. 2s. 5d. was paid for 3 qrs. (323). Bracken was used for thatching some of the buildings (253).

Food and drink are naturally prominent in the accounts. Sarah Fell wrote to her mother in 1675—"We desire to know, as soon as thou can, when we may expect you with our dear father, for several reasons as thou may well know. Thou should buy us a cask of wine, of what sort thou judges father likes best, for we have none, only some cider and March beer bottled up; also you should buy us some anchoves, some olives and two larding needles and some oranges and lemons and what else you think fit.”<sup>1</sup> At that time it was by no means easy to provide stores for a great house in Furness. Much came from the land and gardens about Swarthmoor, and there were shops in Ulverston, many purchases for the house being made there on market days as the most casual glance at these pages will show, but many things had to be sent for from Lancaster or sometimes from Kendal. In 1676 a cask of wine was brought from Kendal at a cost of 4*s.* 8*d.* (303); it had reached Kendal from Newcastle; a little later four other runlets arrived from Newcastle, the carriage being 2*s.* 10*d.* each (315). From Newcastle also a Hollands cheese was brought at a cost of 6*d.* (353). A later entry confirms the impression that Newcastle was the convenient East Coast port for the Dutch trade and Kendal the last stage on the way to Furness (459). White wine is found used for physic (27); malt (81), ale (353), and brandy (299) are mentioned, malt being sold as part of the produce of the estate. Among the medical resources kept at hand were cinnamon waters (249), juniper berries (274), saffron and “treacle” (27); “bleeding leeches” (113, 117; see 389) also were used, and a “jannes drink” (534) is named. Sugar candy (231), beer and brimstone (263) are found to have been given to calves not in good health, and “bolalmanacke” was another cattle medicine (333).

It was from Lancaster that most things were brought that could not be purchased at Ulverston. The carrier seems to have come regularly across the Sands to attend the Thursday’s market, and there he was met by his customers. A long list might be gleaned from the accompanying accounts; it will suffice to mention some to show both the provision made for Swarthmoor and the limited resources of the adjacent market town: bedsteads, garden shears, scythes, spades, nails, bridle, salmon, red herrings, seed wheat, French beans, fruit, spices, salad oil, vinegar, oil of almonds, starch, books, writing-paper, a cask of sweetmeats, chocolate, hops, flax, linen, cloth and serge. Through Lancaster also they received trunks from Preston, a

"portmantle" from Wigan (31), cheese from Cheshire (233), oats from Manchester (391), brown sugar from London (25), a basket from Bristol (231), various things from Worcester and a box from York (243). Letters were usually brought and sent off by the carrier, but on one occasion 2s. 6d. had to be paid "for going with a letter to Lancaster to the post, that required haste" (347), and on another 1s. 6d. was given to a special messenger sent to the county town. Oranges and gloves were received from London. Traffic was probably carried on by riders and pack-horses entirely; saddles and pillions are frequently mentioned. When "father" was at Swarthmoor pipes and tobacco were needed (283, 363), and, as might be expected, he had a considerable correspondence, so that there were many payments for letters. Tobacco was not bought exclusively for smoking, being used also to wash sheep and other animals (9); but an entry of "tobacco pipes for sister Susannah" (459) strikes the reader as singular. Perhaps she wanted them to give away. Kendal was a place for dyers, and from it were obtained bellows, pan and plates, shoes, soap and wheat flour. Flax was obtained from Kirkby Lonsdale (357). Purchases were made of "Wyre salt" (307) and "Whitehaven salt" (329); the former would be made at the salthouses near Thornton in the Fylde and carried across to Rampside by boat.

The variety of articles purchased shows that the Fells provided liberally for their house; it also reminds us of the necessity there was in old times to keep a large stock of food and useful articles always in the larder. One remembers the "mouldy air" that came from the storeroom at Blunderstone Rookery, in which there was "the smell of soap, pickles, pepper, candles and coffee, all in a whiff." At a much later time than 1675 such careful provision was requisite, and far more then in view of the badness of roads and the scantiness of the supplies to be had in a country town. Furness in its isolation required even more than usual forethought on the housekeeper's part, seeing that Lancaster, the nearest shopping town, was some 20 miles distant by a road across two estuaries passable only for a few hours each day. The carrier, though visiting Ulverston for the weekly market regularly, might of course be available on other days.

As "books" are mentioned among the provisions for the family carried over from Lancaster, we see that the mind was not neglected, though unfortunately our curiosity as to the literature deemed suitable has nothing herein to satisfy it. Some of "uncle Richardson's" books were bought by an attorney for 15s. 10d. (446). For "binding and fitting the great Bible" 1s. 6d. was paid in 1676 (317), and at another time "an old history book" was bound (367). Almanacks could be purchased at Ulverston (25, 165, 447); they cost about 3d. each, and the same sum was paid there "for a primer for little William Yeamans" (139), who perhaps came to live with his aunts at his father's death, he being a child of Sarah Fell's sister Isabel. Lower Furness was fairly well provided with schools. That at Urswick was founded in 1580, that at Ireleth near Dalton in 1612, one at Dalton itself in 1622, another at Dendron in 1642; and Judge Fell had founded one at Ulverston in 1658. How far they were all in active work is unknown, but probably each was useful in its neighbourhood. William Yeamans seems to have had lessons at home for a time, 1s. being entered as payment to Richard "Gowth" (no doubt the Gawith already mentioned as a prisoner at Lancaster) for coming to teach the boy (171, 207), and then he was sent to a school at Pennington (223). Nothing seems to be known of this school. Less obviously intellectual was a "little rattle for little Margery Lower," which cost 1d. (321). George Fox sent maps as well as cheeses from Holland in 1677 (443, 459). Holland was the great map-producing country at the time. There are two interesting references to Thomas Lawson, formerly the minister of Rampside Chapel, who was one of Fox's early converts and won fame as a botanist. In 1674 "Brother Lower...gave Thomas Lawson for coming over hither to instruct him and sisters in the knowledge of herbs—10s." (95). At another time Sarah Fell paid him 1s. 6d. "for a book called the Young Clerk's Tutor" (113). As to Sarah it may be noticed that while in the letters printed by Mrs Webb she uses the titles usual among the Friends, in the Account Book she calls the months by their usual names—March, April, etc.; titles like Duke, Sir and Esquire also appear (59, 132, 223, 375, 413).

Dress, naturally, is somewhat prominent. Sarah and her sisters did not restrict themselves to sober grey in their garments. Green ribbons mingled with black or with white, stockings were dyed sea-green or sky-colour (293), and a petticoat dove-colour (159). Sarah had her "muffe" and sister Rachel her "blacke allamode rounde whiske"—a whisk being a neckerchief (421), while sister Susanna was gratified by a "little pocket looking-glass." But what did these good ladies want with vizard-masks? (145, 367). Were they a protection from wind and rain in travelling on horseback in all weathers? Spinning and weaving were probably domestic industries. "Within the memory of man," wrote Fr. West in 1774, "every family manufactured their own wearing apparel." At Swarthmoor in one case a Cartmel man received 4*s.* 6*d.* for working 19 yards of "huggebacke" for the house (113, 239). A material called "Lancashire plush" was purchased (11, 138, 314); another material called "harden" was a coarse fabric; calico is mentioned. Clogs were worn, perhaps only by the labourers (167, 449, 451).

The Account Book is largely concerned with the work on the farm which was the chief occupation of the district. The weekly markets at Ulverston and Dalton were attended for the sale of farm produce as well as for purchasing. Cattle and sheep and horses were bought and sold at the fairs at Dalton, Hawkshead, Milnthorpe, Ambleside, Lancaster, Hornby, Kirkby Lonsdale, Ravenglass and Preston. Wool was at times taken to Lancaster for sale; so were turkey-cocks and pepper. "Setting potatoes" were bought, and cabbages, cheeses, apples, linseed, sheepskins, oats, beans and other things were sold. A sheep dog was bought for 6*d.* One of the Swarthmoor "mastiff dogs" having worried a neighbour's sheep, 4*s.* 6*d.* was paid in compensation; of that sum 2*s.* 6*d.* was put down to sister Susanna's account "because she was some cause of preventing the dog from hanging before" (371). Powder and shot were needed for keeping the crows from the wheat (157). Setting mere (or boundary) stones in the moss was the landlord's duty and interest (221). The prices of goods are of great interest throughout, and are the more valuable because set down in detail. A barrel of herrings cost 18*s.*; for two salmon of 39 lb. weight only 4*s.* was paid, while a quire of writing paper cost 5*d.* An ox-hide realised 18*s.* and a cow-skin 12*s.* 6*d.* or 13*s.*; wheat brought rather over 20*s.* a bushel.

Female labour was employed in the farm work, and many details of the wages paid to men and women are given, though it is not always clear whether or not food or some other allowance was included in the remuneration. One of the earliest payments is £3. 10s. 6d. "to several shearers for shearing here in harvest" (1), so that the grain crop must have been a good one. Another year £2. 10s. 2d. was paid "for shearing in all at Swarthmoor," besides 8s. for shearing two acres of bigg (or barley), and some more. For mowing six acres of meadow 2s. was paid; at another time 3s. for six days' mowing. Only 1s. was given for eight days' threshing. There are, however, variations in the rates set down which make it difficult to ascertain the normal wage. Ellen Pollard received £2. for a year's wages at Marsh Grange and William Dickonson, probably a boy, had 5s. for the year. Ann Standish's wage for the year was £1. 17s. 6d., but she paid 8s. for a silver spoon lost and 6d. for a pot broken. Another maid's wage for a quarter was 6s. 6d. Several women working in the hayfield had 1d. a day each; others for dressing peat in the moss received 3d. or 4d. a day. Three boys for harrowing 30 days had 3s. 9d. or  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. each daily.

While agriculture was the chief occupation, the Swarthmoor family, owing in great part we may suppose to their alliances in marriage, engaged in some wider commercial enterprises. The first of these to appear in the cash account related to a purchase and sale of coal. On Saturday, 1 November, 1673, Sarah Fell spent 5d. at Dalton "about coals that Joseph Sharpe and I bought," and a week later £14. 9s. was paid for the coals beyond the price received for some which had been sold at Piel. This affords us a hint that the coals had been brought by sea to Piel, the old fortress-harbour of the monks of Furness. The coals were "called" at the market at Ulverston by the bailiff, so that those who wanted to buy might know of their chance, and several sums are set down as receipts for sales made. On another occasion coals were brought from Conishead Bank, so that there must have been a landing place there. Somewhat later, at least, iron ore was shipped from that part of the Furness coast. A reference to coals in 1676 implies that they were wanted for the forge.

A greater venture, in the early part of 1674, was "the voyage to Bristol," to which we find a number of references (34. 1). Money being borrowed to help the enterprise, wheat and barley were purchased and a ship was loaded therewith, at Rampside apparently. Pots of salt butter were bought to send to sister Yeamans and hogsheads of meal. The particulars of expenses set down show that a number of visits had to be paid to Ulverston and Dalton, and one day a boy received 6*d.* for bringing a message from Rampside about the vessel. The Fells were perhaps inexperienced in the red tape of the custom-house, for on 25 April 3*s.* had to be "spent at Dalton with the seamen and Custom Master, about the vessel for Bristol, when they stopped it," and 1*s.* 2*d.* two days later, when she seems to have been cleared, 4*s.* being given in "fees and for a cockett" or customs certificate. At the same time £1 was paid to the master of the vessel on account of freight. Incidentally we learn from all this that Dalton was the seat of the customs officials, though it is some little distance from the water side. A letter was sent to Kirkby Hall about the vessel, so that it may have been thought desirable to obtain Colonel Kirkby's assistance. In the end a good deal of wheat and other grain was left unshipped, and this had to be disposed of in small parcels; and there seems to have been a minor or supplementary shipment to Liverpool. No balance sheet is available to show how these ventures turned out, but as in 1677 another vessel was sent with corn to Cornwall it may be presumed that the result was considered favourable. "Brother Lower" was in Cornwall at the time. On this occasion 6*s.* 10*d.* was paid "for a cockett to discharge the vessel at the custom-house...for making the charter party, and expense at custom-house and Kirkham's." Gawin Kirkham was the master of the ship and he received £53 for freight. This was perhaps on account of goods brought from Cornwall on the voyage to Furness, for we gather that wine, brandy, slate and tin had been received. The vessel belonged to Whitehaven.

More interesting, in view of the later mineral development of Furness, are the allusions to the buying of ore, the forge and the sale and shipment of iron which are scattered through the accounts and seem to be more frequent in the latter part. The detailed forge account was no doubt kept in a separate book. At the beginning of the period covered Reginald Walker was in charge of the forge, and the first reference to the business is a payment to him for iron in November, 1673 (11), another being found in December (26). A purchase of ore at Dalton is mentioned in May, 1674 (79), and more was bought in the summer. Later in the year an "ore leader" is named, i.e. a carrier of ore. It appears from later items that the ore was carried in bags on horseback (451, 461, 465). Ore was purchased from Thomas Preston of Holker, who had bought it from Sir Thomas Preston of The Manor. In 1676 William Wilson had become the "forge clerk," and various sums are put down for the forge account and iron sold. In 1674 one purchaser lived in the Fylde (154), and another in the next year was of Stodday near Lancaster (246), so that the business was extending beyond Furness. A greater venture was made in 1677, when 14*s.* 6*d.* was paid for carrying iron from Penny Bridge to Barrow, in order to be sent to Cornwall (399). This was no doubt done in conjunction with the corn shipments already mentioned. The details are of considerable interest, because the industry was in its infancy and Furness iron was probably a new thing in Cornwall. From the sum paid for carriage the shipment must have been one of some size. It may be gathered further that the forge was near Penny Bridge and that Barrow, then a very obscure hamlet, was the place of shipment. A remarkable effort to extend the trade to the continent is noticeable in 1677, for in August 4*d.* was spent at Adgarley "when we went to choose ore to send father," who was then in Holland (411), and it was sent to him there by way of Lancaster (413). It would be interesting to know if the effort had any success. In another place we are told of six iron plates being brought (by water) from Bristol to Grange (234); these were for the forge.

In its relations with the outer world, commercial and religious, Swarthmoor Hall was then no doubt a marked exception to the rule in Furness. The great body of the yeomen or "statesmen" would be fully occupied with the cultivation of the land and with their cattle, and their travels and interest might not extend beyond the markets and fairs in the neighbourhood, with Lancaster or Whitehaven probably the limits of personal knowledge, so that the life of the countryside was self-contained and uneventful. Still there are indications in the Account Book, quite apart from the religious journeys of George Fox and his wife and the commercial undertakings above referred to, that Furness people were not always stay-at-home. Thus the Swarthmoor sisters gave 2s. 6d. to Peggy Corker when she returned to London after coming down to Furness to see her friends and relatives. At different times two little girls were sent up to London (117, 475); the reason is not stated, but it was no doubt to place them in situations. Other references to London occur in regard to letters and presents and the settlement of accounts. Ireland also is named. More interesting are the donations of £1 to Joseph Nicholson, "when he went again for New England" (215), and of 4s. to Richard Robinson of Bootle in Cumberland, "when he went with his children towards New Jersey" (363). This last was apparently a case of emigration. Nicholson, who also belonged to Bootle, had suffered persecution from the Puritans of New England as well as from the Episcopalians of the old country.

Swarthmoor Hall draws visitors to it every summer from many parts of the world. Its Account Book, showing that it had then relations of different kinds with the Old World and the New, is thus of interest to many outside Furness, the conditions of which in the time of Charles II it illustrates in such detail.

DESCRIPTION AND HISTORY OF THE MANUSCRIPT

The manuscript from which the following accounts are taken is contained in an oblong book measuring  $5\frac{3}{4}$  ins. by  $14\frac{3}{4}$  ins., bound in a white vellum cover much worn and now without clasps. There are 117 openings, each numbered in the printed volume for facility of reference, but leaves have been removed both from the beginning and the end of the book, and also from openings 47, 51, 91, 94, 113, 116; and leaves have been mutilated at openings 5, 107, 108, 117.

The whole is in the handwriting of Sarah Fell, daughter of Margaret Fell (afterwards Margaret Fox), and step-daughter of George Fox, the founder of the body generally known as Quakers. It has been copied from some earlier book or books of accounts (perhaps one such was the "pockett booke" referred to on page 215), the entries being carefully and regularly written, with here and there slight indications of change in the colour of ink and sharpness of pen. The first entry is dated 25 September, 1673, and the last 15 August, 1678.

Extracts from the Account Book have appeared in books on the Fell family and on Furness. They have been mostly taken from The Fells of Swarthmoor Hall, by Maria Webb, first published in 1865, but, judging by the inaccuracy of the extracts given by Mrs Webb, it seems unlikely that she had seen the original, although she knew that it was then in the Thwaite Collection of Swarthmore Manuscripts.

At a later and more critical period of historical research, Mrs Crosfield, when preparing her monograph, Margaret Fox of Swarthmoor Hall, 1913, had the original book at hand, and she gives in an appendix numerous quotations from the Account Book, carefully reproduced. No other use, so far as is known, has been made of the contents of the Book save brief extracts, printed under the direction of the latest owner, James Herbert Midgley (Margaret Fell, 1908; Journal of the Friends Historical Society, 1915).

xxvi Description and History of the Manuscript

It is fortunate that the Account Book bears upon itself the impress of its history.

At the head of the front cover can still be read the words of Sarah Fell: "An old Cash Booke which is written thorow." This is followed, in a modern hand (said to be that of John Thwaite of Blackburn), by "This old Cash Book from 1673 to 1678 old Style belonged to Margaret Fox of Swarthmore Hall and was kept by her Daughter Sarah Fell (afterwards Mead)."

It is probable that the book remained at Swarthmoor Hall with a large number of other manuscripts until the sale of the estate in 1759, when these invaluable relics of the past were divided among descendants of Fells.

We next hear of the cash-book in the hands of a grocer of Lancaster, to whom must be attributed its present damaged condition, for (to quote words written at the top of page two of the cover) "this Booke was rescued from oblivion by y<sup>e</sup> care of a Friend of Lancaster, Bridget Whalley, who discovered it in the hands of a Grocer there, who was using it as Waste paper." All honour to Bridget Whalley! She and her sister Mary lived in the old family house in King Street. It is not known at what period of her long life of eighty-three years the book was rescued or when it was handed on to the next owner, Susanna Haworth, a maiden lady and Quaker minister, living at Crawshawbooth (1786—1853). Perhaps the transfer took place in 1846, when Bridget Whalley died, and her estate, valued at £30,000, was divided by her will among her nephews and others—the record in the book states simply: "B<sup>t</sup> Whalley to Sus<sup>a</sup> Haworth, Crawshawbooth."

Following the label giving this last item of information are written the words: "and afterwards came into possession of S. H's Niece Elizabeth (Midgley) Thwaite in 1862," but some other owner must have cared for the volume between the death of S. Haworth and the date of the above transfer. This owner was probably S. Haworth's sister, Martha Midgley, wife of James Midgley, of Springhill, Rochdale, at whose death in 1862, the precious volume doubtless passed to her eldest daughter, Elizabeth Thwaite, wife of John Thwaite, of Blackburn.

The last record of ownership given in the book states: "On the death of Elizth Thwaite [which took place in 1878], this book came into the possession of Susannah Midgley, of Torquay."

Description and History of the Manuscript xxvii

We are informed that at the death of S. Midgley in 1897 it passed into the hands of her sister, Martha Cash, also of Torquay, who shortly afterwards gave it to her son-in-law, James Herbert Midgley, of Grange-over-Sands.

In 1915, J. H. Midgley wrote from Torquay: "I should like, as a small mark of the kindness done me by the Friends Historical Society in electing me to the position of President, to present the Swarthmore Account Book itself to the Devonshire House collection, as I have long felt that it ought to be among the other archives of Friends."

Thus, at last, this interesting record of bygone days (or as much of it as has been saved from vandal hands) has found a resting place in the Library of the headquarters in London of the Society of Friends and has there become re-united to many another of the Swarthmore Manuscripts which have arrived by numerous and devious paths at this same resting place.

A NOTE BY ALICE CLARK

AUTHOR OF THE WORKING LIFE OF WOMEN IN THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY

Household accounts such as those kept by Sarah Fell are invaluable for the picture they give of the economy of a gentleman's household. This particular book is peculiarly rich in entries showing the part taken by women in the productive life of England during the later years of the seventeenth century and illustrating the extent to which even large establishments were already dependent on outside sources for the necessities of life.

The wives of farmers and tradesmen were usually actively interested in their husbands' business. They generally kept the purse and were engaged with the buying and selling. Yet though they were thus constantly occupied with finance, arithmetic was not considered a necessary part of education for girls. Thus it is unusual to find any elaborate accounts kept by women though there are notable exceptions such as Sarah Fell's and those kept by Lady Grisell Baillie and Dame Margaret Nicholson. Sarah Fell evidently found her knowledge of arithmetic incomplete, for an entry occurs of 1s. 6d. for "a booke called y<sup>e</sup> younge Clarkes Tuto<sup>r</sup>" (113).

Her book-keeping was very complicated, each of the seven sisters having an independent income: while separate accounts were evidently kept for household expenses (always entered as "mothers account"), for the forge, for shipping enterprises and for the Women's Meeting. In addition the Fells appear to have acted as Bankers for the countryside (82. 14°; 83. 8°; 89. 18°; 105. 19°; 108. 30° and many other entries).

The Account Book does not show the extent to which Margaret Fell and her daughters were occupied with the oversight of this varied business, but it is probable that the girls were conversant with many of its details. Some years later one of the sisters, Margaret Rous, writes to her mother of her daughter, "I had not known she had been so bad... I...wrote to her, being she was so wickedly bent and resolved in her mind, I would not meddle of her but leave her to her husband's relations, and her salt concerns, since which I have heard nothing of her. But I understand by others she is still in the Salt business. I know not what it will benefit her but she spends her time about it."<sup>1</sup>

Apart from any share they might take in the business enterprises of their husbands a large amount of productive work was regarded as specially belonging to women in the seventeenth century. This included the dairy, orchard, garden, the management of pigs and poultry, the spinning of wool and flax and the brewing of beer. Thus a large proportion of the food and clothing for an ordinary family was provided entirely by the women and children belonging to it. When either business, pleasure or sickness prevented the father from attending to his affairs the mother was generally able to supply his place. It is possible that Judge Fell may have been so much occupied with his public work that his private affairs were chiefly managed by his capable wife and daughters. A similar example may be found in the Life of Peter Heylin who "being deprived of Ecclesiastical preferments, he must think of some honest way for a livelihood. Yet notwithstanding he followed his studies, in which was his chief delight. In which pleasing study while he spent his time, his good wife, a discreet and active lady, looked both after her Housewifery within doors, and the Husbandry without; thereby freeing him from that care and trouble, which otherwise would have hindered his laborious pen."

A good deal of information may be obtained from the Account Book concerning the employment of women in humbler conditions of life. Payments for manure and ploughing are often made to the wife of so and so, but it is impossible from such an entry to tell whether the said wife was farming on her own account while her husband followed another trade, or whether they were both concerned in farming, for farmers' wives were apt to take a leading part in the family affairs. Evidence of their activity is to be found in many directions. For example, Josselin enters in his diary: "This day was goodwife Day with mee; I perceive she is resolved to give mee my price for my farme of Mallories, and I intend to lett it goe." A few weeks later he notes: "This day I surrendered Mallories and the appurtenances to Day of Halstead and his daughter."<sup>1</sup>

Goodwife is a term only used of a married woman or widow.

Some of the entries show quite clearly that women are acting as their husbands' agents (115. 6°; 122. 24°), but in other cases they may quite possibly have been trading on their own account (111. 28°; 327. 29°; 339. 21°; 386. 15°).

The payments made for cinnamon-water, cloth and hemp cloth (91, 99, 106) were probably to shop-keepers who may have been widows—women were considered to be specially qualified for shop-keeping, or any sort of trading which consisted chiefly of buying and selling. This is shown by the means selected by Friends for assisting widows in distress. Many entries can be found in the minute books of Women's Meetings or Monthly Meetings of sums paid to provide poor widows with a small stock in trade. For example, in London Friends were directed to "visitt y<sup>e</sup> widow Smith...and if they see ocatione to hand something to hur as a stock...a little trade not exceeding 20s."<sup>1</sup> or again it is entered "paid Mary Fairman for y<sup>e</sup> widdow Thomas as a stock for hur to buy something to sell againe 10s."<sup>2</sup>

In some parts of the country, especially in certain boroughs, retail trade was strictly confined to persons who had served an apprenticeship, but girls were sometimes apprenticed to shopkeepers, and in any case widows were invariably allowed to carry on the business of their late husbands.

It was to a woman servant, Elin Pollard by name, that the Fells entrusted the marketing of their Dairy Produce. She was paid £2 per annum (73, 221), which was rather higher than the usual rate of wages in that neighbourhood, and many entries occur of money received from her for butter and cheese sold (72, 96, 128).

At this time scarcely any roads existed in England. Wheel traffic was probably unknown in the Swarthmoor district and all supplies must have been carried on pack saddles. The cost of transport was therefore almost prohibitive, and whenever a local scarcity of food occurred, which would happen every few years, profiteering became possible. Stringent by-laws were made for the prevention of "corners" in wheat, meat and other articles of food, and great efforts were taken to secure an open market; but one gathers from the cases which come before the Quarter Sessions that the larger dealers escaped and that the by-laws against regrating, that is to say buying to sell again the same day, were chiefly used to harry poor women, who by taking perishable articles of food from the market and selling them at people's doors were performing such a useful service to the busy housewife that the shopkeeper found them dangerous rivals to his trade.

The Jenny Colton, concerning whom there are so many entries in this Account Book, was probably a "Regratress." The "Womens Meetinge" provided her on July 13, 1674, with a little stock of 5s. (117) and the Fells supplied her with goods, probably on easy terms. Entries occur of payments made by her for wheat, rye, butter, beans, &c. (108, 114, 120, 166, 197, 200, 274), and they also made loans to her (139, 142, 413). It appears from the Account Book that she was employed at times in knitting and dealt in white bread (296, 325, 399).

Farm work at this time was performed by men and women servants who "lived in" and were paid customary wages regulated by the Justices at Quarter Sessions. The extra work at harvest or on other occasions on the larger farms was done at day rates by the husbandmen, their wives and children, whose holdings were too small for the entire maintenance of their families. The day wages were also controlled by the Justices, but it was not intended that any families should depend exclusively on wages. It was hoped that all were possessed at least of gardens and grazing rights.

With the exception of Elin Pollard the wages of the household and farm servants do not appear to have been entered in these accounts, but numerous entries of day wages indicate the nature of the agricultural work undertaken by the wives and widows of husbandmen in that neighbourhood.

Great efforts were made by the authorities to secure that all young people went into service where it was supposed they would receive stricter discipline than in their own homes, but it is evident that husbandmen often preferred to keep their sons and daughters at home where there was much work to be done. Then at harvest the whole family might undertake fields "by great" (111, 115, 135), that is to say at a piece rate; or the individual girls would work by the day, as the four who were paid 1*d.* each per day on July y<sup>e</sup> 17<sup>o</sup> 1674 (105).

Peggy Dodgson was the most constant hand employed by the Fells. Her wages seldom exceeded 1*d.* per day in addition to her food. On May y<sup>e</sup> 23<sup>o</sup> 1674 she was paid 2*s.* 6*d.* for "filling man<sup>r</sup>, scaileinge manner, washinge, harrowinge, & dressinge meadowes 17: days" (75). At other times she is paid 1*d.* a day for "Rubbinge" (85), and 2*s.* 6*d.* for "settinge & dressinge 5: dayworke of peates in Conniside Mosse" with Ann Geldart (93). She was employed 5 weeks and 4 days "workeinge at hay, & about pullinge hempe & Line &c." (123), and on August y<sup>e</sup> 27<sup>o</sup> in the same year "fo<sup>r</sup> workeinge hay & pikeinge line, & pullinge, & fo<sup>r</sup> washinge close 6: dayes," she receives 8*d.* (129).

For "swingleinge & Rakeinge brakens 8: dayes" she was paid 1*s.* 2*d.* (139). She also weeded corn and the garden and scailed mole hills and on one occasion sold "5 y<sup>rds</sup> of teare of hempe" presumably her own manufacture (161, 223, 247, 407).

One penny or 2*d.* per day and her meat and drink was the maximum rate usually fixed for the lighter forms of women's farm work by the Quarter Sessions; but higher rates were given for the women who undertook heavier work such as mowing corn or shearing sheep. An Account Book of this sort throws a very interesting light on the relation between the cost of living and the maximum rates of wages appointed by the Justices.

The Fells paid 4*s.* 2*d.* for the meals of two mowers, who were no doubt men, for three days (105). That is to say their food cost 8*d.* per head per day. Two days later wages are entered for mowing at the rate of 6*d.* per day (105). Thus a man's wages were actually less than the cost of his own food, and it is obvious that his wife and children cannot have been expected to depend upon them exclusively. In fact they were supposed to have a holding from which they could get their own food and by spinning provide their own clothes.

Beside the light which it throws on the activity of women in production during the seventeenth century, these accounts are interesting for the evidence they give of the extent to which trading was usual at that time.

Each household was not even then self-contained, but formed part of a community very closely knit together in mutual help and service, buying and selling the goods necessary for life and cooperating in financial transactions with more distant regions.

The Fells employed professional tailors to make clothes for women as well as men (85, 125). Their shoes were made by shoemakers. They sent the thread spun at home to a weaver to be made into cloth (93, 99), while on the other hand they entered into banking and shipping transactions for their neighbours. Such articles as malt, corn, hay, chickens, butter, cheese, manure, and many others appear sometimes on one side of the account and sometimes on the other, showing how different families were bound together by the give and take of commerce.

In all these transactions the women of the household were closely concerned, so their interests were not confined to their own home and their own family, but they felt themselves integral parts of the larger life of the village community and the nation.

Westmorland Quaker Records=A collection of cuttings from the Kendal Mercury and Times, beginning January, 1902. In D. with index.

- I 1 The name of John Higgins occurs more frequently than any other in the Account Book. He acted as carrier between the Hall and the town of Lancaster and made many journeys across the Sands, chiefly conveying letters to and fro, of which there were large numbers, but also carrying a variety of goods, such as iron ore, hops, red herrings, books, vinegar, sugar, meat, paper, oysters, "phisicall things," "chocolata."

Crossing the Sands was a dangerous and difficult operation. "They are left uncovered at low water to a great extent; and travellers between Lancaster and Furness had formerly to cross from Hest Bank to Ulverston by the route brogged out by the guides; the brogs being branches of trees stuck in the sand to mark where the treacherous way was safest; a dreary distance of about fourteen miles" (Richardson, Furness, i. 14).

According to Macaulay the carriage of a letter under eighty miles was twopence. At the beginning of the reign of Charles II the revenue from letters was £20,000 and at the end thereof £70,000.

- I 2 Various persons of the family name of Gardner appear in the Account Book (see Index). They resided in the parish of Urswick and were, probably, not Quakers.

Urswick is very frequently mentioned. The parish lies on the east of Furness, bordering Morecombe Bay. The name of Christopher Gardiner occurs, anno 1620, in the account of the parish in Richardson's Furness (ii. 25). Urswick was also a family name.

- I 3 The designation "litle Coop wife" is not clear at this day. It probably refers here and on p. 7 to the wife of one of the younger members of the Cooper family, the word "litle" taking the sense of younger. For an example of this, see Camb. Jnl. i. 405, ii. 337.

- I 4 Robert Briggs was a Friend, of Hollowmire, a hamlet in the township of Osmotherley (Richardson, Furness, i. 258). His first wife, Elizabeth, died at Urswick in 1654 and was buried at Swarthmoor; in the following year he married Elizabeth Townson, widow, by whom he had several children. His sufferings for the Truth in 1664 are recorded in Camb. Jnl. ii. 65, 69. In 1688 he signed a certificate of transfer of membership to Cork of Margaret Gawith (Jnl. F. H. S. viii. 87). In 1674 the Registers note the death, at Stony Cragg, of Elizabeth, wife of Robert Briggs.

- 3 1 Isabel Briggs was probably one of the family of Robert Briggs (1. 4), but she does not appear among his daughters in the Birth Registers. She was a servant at the Grange and received one pound wages for a year and three weeks' service.
- 3 2 From the beginning the Church work of the Society of Friends has been undertaken by bodies acting over different areas. In Furness each particular congregation had its Preparative Meeting—the minutes of the Swarthmoor Particular Meeting, 1699 to 1722, are in D. and are quoted as the "Record." Then there was the Monthly Meeting, an aggregation of several Preparative Meetings and the Quarterly Meeting which included other parts of the county of Lancaster. Men and women met separately and had different duties.
- One of the duties undertaken by the Women's Monthly Meeting of Swarthmoor, Hawkshead and Cartmel which was frequently attended by members of the Hall family (57, 137, 169, 189, 311, 343) was the care of their poorer members, and there are frequent references in the Account Book to the "weomens Meetinge stocke." For a record of the M. M. a book was provided (67), perhaps the one still in existence. This served a truly useful purpose in providing help for Friends in need by the supply at times of money, at others of material on loan or as a gift, or of personal assistance. Mrs Fox and her daughters were contributors to this Stock (67, 297). Contributions from Swarthmoor, Cartmel and Hawkshead are also recorded (68, 96, 284, 296). The recipients were women as a rule—there is one entry at least of help to a man Friend (129).
- There were also frequent collections taken for a Stock at Lancaster—a similar object, perhaps, over a wider area—(3, 49, 51, 129, 149, 167, 195, 251, 373, 471, 497), to which Mrs Fox and her daughters gave amounts varying from sixpence to a shilling.
- The Men's Meeting had also a Stock (267, 306, 457) and record books (47, 180).
- See Index under Stock, Men's Meetings, Women's Meetings.
- 3 3 There are, apparently, fifteen John Fells named in the Account Book, distinguished now by trade, now by residence, now by relationship. John Fell, the smith (also termed "whitesmith"), undertook work not now associated with that of a smithy—repairing surgical apparatus (11, 49), bleeding animals (49, 77, 163, 211, 241), attending to clocks and watches (39, 93, 233, 311), etc., in addition to other services for which he rendered accounts (3, 39, 139, 177, 257, 351, etc.). A son is mentioned (57, 93).
- 3 4 "Greaveses" or "Greaves House" seems to have been a well-known place of call (15, 51, 55), where ale and other "strong waters" could be obtained (3, 15, 41, 43, 262, 429—"for a diett drinke"). The wife here was perhaps wife of Thomas Greaves—cp. 262 with 267.
- "Greaves boyes" were useful about the place (169, 305, 373, 379). Edward Greaves, of the Greaves, is mentioned (160, 108, 263); also James Greaves of the Greaves in Pennington (134, 176, 224).
- Thomas Greaves, perhaps the husband of "Greaves wife" above, often appears. Mrs Fox gave his daughter a shilling when the latter went to London (473). A boy of the name occurs twice (221, 291), perhaps the same as one of the above "boyes."
- 3 5 Perhaps the Margaret Kirkby of Dalton, who, according to the Registers, died in 1701. She did useful work for the Fell and Lower families. Her financial transactions are not very lucidly stated by our account keeper (27, 60, 115, 270, 271). In the Record, pp. 1-6, there are references to a debt of eleven shillings which "Peggy Kirby" owed Barbara Ormandy (aft. called Kirkby), which debt was "to bee continued in y<sup>e</sup> meetings remembrance until payd." It was reported discharged in May, 1699. In August, 1700, we read:—"Steven Crossfield is desired to pay John Corker for making Peggy Kirby's will" (p. 7). Half-a-crown was paid, and Peggy was ordered to reimburse Steven. She signed a certificate of removal for Margaret Gawith in 1688 (Jnl. F. H. S. viii.).

- 3 6 Jane Cowell ( —1717) was wife and widow of John Cowell (18. 11). Her connection with the Fell family is not evident. She received payment for various articles supplied to Marsh Grange—geese, cloth, herrings and manure being mentioned. In 1682 she signed the Abraham-Fell Marriage Certificate (Abr. MSS. XXIV, printed Jnl. F. H. S. xi. 164). Her name appears later on the minutes of the Record. In March, 1707/8, she was "advised to take care in the discharg of her husbands Just debts," and later it was found that her goods were "like to come a great dale short of payeing her husbands debts," and a few months later we read: "Y<sup>e</sup> friends appointed about Jane Cowels debts give acc<sup>t</sup> they have advised her to offer both her body & goods or effects as many as shee hath, to her creditors," but "y<sup>e</sup> execution of y<sup>e</sup> said advice" had to be "pressed upon her." Later she was "willing to answer friends advice." Some trouble respecting a "sale bill" follows, but seems to have been satisfactorily settled. Jane is reported slow in discharging her husband's debts (Record, pp. 49-55).
- 3 7 Deborah Salthouse ( —1710) was the wife of William (3. 8). Sarah Fell lent her 2½*d.*, which was repaid within a month, both transactions being carefully recorded. Her husband and she were witnesses to the marriage of Daniel and Rachel Abraham (Abr. MSS. XXIV, printed Jnl. F. H. S. xi. 163, 164).
- 3 8 William Salthouse ( —1707), at his marriage with Deborah Thompson (3. 7) in 1670, is styled "shoemaker of Dragley Beck." He was probably a relative of Thomas Salthouse (1630-1690/91), who was one of the Swarthmoor household at the time of George Fox's first visit in 1652 (Camb. Jnl.). His mother was Jane Salthouse (267. 1). The Account Book records various payments of his bills, presumably for foot-wear (3, 39, 45, 101, 171, 239, 391, 487, etc.). He lent Sarah Fell considerable sums of money (30, 39, 65, 135, etc.), and conducted other financial transactions (69, 183, 361, 457, 463) shewing that he was a man of affairs. He was also useful in the concerns of the Church (Record, pp. 2, 30, etc.). His son William (1676-1749) appears on the Minutes under date 1st of First Month, 1708: "This day Will: Salthous & Hannah Fisher proposed to this meeting their intentions of marrying each other: and this meeting finding nothing that might make any stop or opposition therein, allows them liberty to lay their said intention also before y<sup>e</sup> monthly meeting" (Record, p. 49). After passing other Meetings the marriage was duly accomplished.
- 3 9 At his marriage with Elizabeth Waller "of Marsh Grainge" in 1662, Joseph Sharpe ( —1710) is located at "Marsh Grainge in Plaine Furneiss, Lancashire" and, at his death, at "Hollowmyre in Osmunderley." He had frequent business transactions with Sarah Fell, various sums of money passing between them on loan (6, 15, 26, 37, 60, 170, 174, 271, 411, 493). He was also in partnership with her in the coal business (11, 13, 30, 176) and with her sister Susanna and herself in the grain trade (21, 41, 79). Elizabeth Sharpe died in 1710; there appears to have been one child, Mary, ob. inf. A nephew, Tom Mires, is mentioned (145). Bessie Sharpe (125) may be the above Elizabeth.

Judge Fell, in his will, proved 4th December, 1658, leaves fifty shillings "unto Joseph Sharpe, my faithful and careful servant at the Marsh Graynges" (Webb, Fells, p. 141; Barber, Swarthmoor Hall, p. 19), and on the death of Margaret Fox, an inventory of her goods was taken by J. Sharpe et al. (Jnl. F. H. S. ii. 105, 106). Joseph and Elizabeth Sharpe signed the wedding certificate of Daniel Abraham and Rachel Fell in 1682 (Abr. MSS. printed Jnl. F. H. S. xi. 163, 164).

- 3 10 That is, a horse belonging to a man named Duckett. Note the omission of the possessive, not uncommon at this period.

The name Duckett was of frequent occurrence in N. Lancashire and Westmorland. Squire Duckett of Grayrigg Hall was an active persecutor of Friends (Taylor, The Story of Magdalen Duckett, 1905), and see Fleming MSS.

- 3 11 As no entry under the name Caton has been found in the Friends' Registers for Lancashire and Westmorland down to 1750, it is presumed that members of this family here named were not Quakers, though in close association with Swarthmoor Hall and Marsh Grange. Perhaps this was the family to which William Caton (1636—1665, see Camb. Jnl.), the companion of George Fell, belonged. His parents were humble and godly.

There were two of the name Thomas Caton. Wages in curious odd amounts appear to have been given to both from the Swarthmoor exchequer (3, 23, 135, 138, 141, 181, 203).

A William Caton married Helena Fell in 1617 at Ulverston church (Fell Assoc., Registers).

- 3 12 A collation of the various references to a nurse in the Lower family points towards her identification as Mary, wife of James Penington of Hawkshead; she died in 1675 and was buried at Colthouse, and she was, perhaps, the same as mentioned in the accounts of Sir Daniel Fleming (1633—1701) under date 1656/7, Jan. 21: "Given unto Mrs Pennington—as a grace wife—at Kirkby oo 10 oo." (Fleming MSS. p. 365, see also pp. 380, 385.)

Margaret Lower, to whom Mrs Penington was nurse, was the eldest child of Thomas and Mary Lower. She was born 28th of June, 1673, and died in March, 1674/5 (215).

Considerable sums of money were given to nurses and servants, at childbirth and other times (3, 7, 49, 75, 79, 81, 99, 119, 189, 241, 271, 273, 275, 307, 323, 335, 337, 341, 345, 365, 383, 393, 407, 419, 439, 447, 473).

- 5 1 Isabel Atkinson, widow, received frequent payment for spinning, but she also engaged in outdoor occupation, dressing peats, weeding the garden, etc. Her son, James, assisted her by digging peats (281), and a daughter in other ways (315). This James was probably the James mentioned elsewhere (see Index). He is associated with a sister (115, 125) and his mother (125) in working hay. The daughter may have been the Alice of the Account Book; she is mentioned in connection with her mother (157).

It is difficult at this distance of time, and with the slender data at command, to assort the various persons of this name. There are entries of Jennett Atkinson (37, etc.), Jane (322, etc.) and Jenny (115). From the close of 1675, the addition "y<sup>t</sup> was" appears in connection with both Jennett and Jane (251, 322, 347, 353, 359, 471).

PAGE NOTE

Tom Atkinson, pedlar, bought rabbit skins (30) and sold, on one day, ribbon, silk laces, holland, etc. to the value of twenty-six shillings (63).

There may have been more than one Richard Atkinson mentioned. One had considerable trade as a carpenter and wheelwright.

- 6 1 The Manor House of the Prestons was built on a portion of the site of Furness Abbey and is now embodied in the hotel of the Furness Railway Company (Barber, Furness, p. 180 ; Richardson, Furness, ii. 137). There was not infrequent communication between the Manor House and the Hall. The sale at the Manor (139) was perhaps in consequence of the retirement of Sir Thomas Preston (243. 3).
Josiah Hird and John Marshall were both connected with the Manor House.
- 6 2 James Cooper seems to have been employed at Marsh Grange ; he was paid four pounds "in full for 1 : yea<sup>re</sup> wages" (45, 73). He received one of the four Quarterly Meeting hats for which he paid four shillings and sixpence (166, 169). He was agent for Joseph Sharpe and partners for the purchase of grain (21, 34, 41, 48). On several occasions Margaret Fox rewarded him for special service (33, 37, 45, 273).
- 6 3 There was a John Kilner, of Ulverston, a cooper (d. 1681). Perhaps it was his wife mentioned here and elsewhere in the Account Book. "Old Kilner wife" lived at Ulverston. Each of the score of entries to her name records her purchase of grain from Margaret Fox, the total amount paid, from Oct. 1673 to Oct. 1676, being rather over eighteen pounds.
"Kilner's wife house" is mentioned in local legal documents of the close of the century ; also "Laurence Kilner brazier," and "William Kilner apothecary of Ulverston."
- 6 4 Several of the name of William Wilson figure in the Account Book. William Wilson, of Ulverston, was a stock-raiser (48, 56, 198, 296, 342), and his wife purchased cereals from the Hall (6, 26, 230, 386, 426). Another William Wilson was "fforge clarke" (341, 349, 467, 473) and had considerable dealings in iron (322, 347, 390, 508) and iron-ore (403, 409, 471). Sarah Fell was his banker (322, 331, 339, 370).
A William Wilson was intermediary for the passage of various sums of money (181, 215, 355, 434).
For William Wilson, wood worker, see II. 1.
William, of Hawkshead, borrowed money (117, 134).
- 6 5 Reginald (Regnold) Walker ( —1682) resided at Fell-foot in Little Langdale. At his house in 1659 took place the marriage of William Wilson, tailor, of Langdale Chapel Steel (d. 1682, for whom see Camb. Jnl.) and Dorothy Sharpe, of Eshdale. Reginald's eldest daughter, Mabel, married William Barrow in 1676. Another daughter, Sarah, married William Atkinson in 1693. His wife, Margaret, died in 1695. He had considerable dealings with Sarah Fell in regard to the sale of iron (11, 230, 234, 235, 243, 246, 254, 274), and in the work of the forge (142, 154, 198, 200, 214). Money on loan also passed between them (18, 26, 27, 96, 218, 262, etc.). His fine, bold signature to minutes of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting of Friends is that of an educated man.
- 6 6 George Millerson was a useful man about the Hall and Grange for going errands—carrying letters to Preston and turkeys to Lancaster and taking messages to Rigmaden and Milnthorpe, and when not so occupied he worked at home "brakeing hempe & line," "threshinge & fillinge manne"; and "buckinge hankes of yarne" (9, 135, 209, 329, etc.).

The name George Millerson occurs in legal documents of the end of the century, but without description.

Rigmaden Hall and Park, situate in the Lune Valley, between Kirkby Lonsdale and Sedbergh, was purchased in 1661 from the Ward family by Thomas Godsalue (d. 1694). Godsalue was an old family at Kirkby Lonsdale (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc., n.s. v. and viii.).

Information from W. G. Collingwood, F.S.A., of Coniston, 1916.

A member of the Godsalue family married into the Quaker family of Backhouse, anno 1691 (Backhouse Descendants, 1894).

- 7 1 The Registers contain the record of the death of Edmond Cooper of Scales, in the parish of Aldingham, in 1688, and his burial at Sunbrick. This may be the same as the Edmond Cooper who received wages (7), who is mulcted in six shillings for causing damage to a horse (59) and to whom Sarah Fell repaid various sums of money she had borrowed (73, 83, 89, 111, 181).

- 7 2 Perhaps Ann Geldart was the same as Ann, wife of George Geldart, of Ulverston. George and Ann had two children, the younger, Sarah, born 1657 (the same year as that in which her father died), married Daniel Cooper (123. 1), and the elder, James (1653—1719), married, at Swarthmoor Hall in 1677, Mary Cooper, sister of Daniel and daughter of Edward Cooper (13. 2). Mary Geldart died in 1731. This was probably the James Geldart, London carrier, mentioned Webb, Fells, pp. 339, 332, 333, 341, and in Jnl. F. H. S. xi.

Ann's special line of business was that of a cheesemonger, she frequently purchasing cheese from Margaret Fox (18, 30, 56, 210, 278, etc.), the prices ranging from 1s. to 1s. 8d. each. She occupied herself also with haymaking, footing stockings, working peat, etc.

- 7 3 Margaret Caton's name appears mainly in connection with articles of dress, supplied her during her time of service at the Grange. Her relationship with others of the name has not been discovered.

- 7 4 There are quite frequent references in the Account Book to property near Swarthmoor Hall, named Pettys, doubtless so named from its owner, John Petty, or some previous owner of the same name. At some date uncertain, but prior to the earliest date in the Account Book, 1673, the small estate came into the hands of Judge Fell's youngest daughters, Susanna and Rachel. The word "tenement" mostly describes it, but we find also "house and land" (78) and "barne" (33), the house and land being let off at £2. 10s. a year (78). There was one hearth only for which one shilling was paid under the Hearth Tax (21, etc.). Repairs to the property are entered (243, 247, 419, etc.). Payments of various assessments are numerous—"y<sup>e</sup> great Assesmt<sup>r</sup> for y<sup>e</sup> Kinge" (7), also for the poor, for bridges, soldiers' pay, ships, maimed soldiers, Walton Copp, the Master of the house of correction, the militia—the amounts being 8d., 6½d., 2½d., 2¼d., 2d., etc.

Prior to 1687 this property was sold to George Fox for seventy-two pounds for, in March, 1686/7, he wrote to his son-in-law, Thomas Lower: "I offer and give up freely to the Lord for the service of His sons and daughters, and servants called Quakers, the house and houses, barn and kiln, stable, and all the land...being about three acres...called Pettys, at Swarthmoor, in the parish of Ulverstone" (Webb, Fells, p. 341, from Benson Collection of Swarth. MSS.). The deed of conveyance, dated 16 September, 1687 (copy in Camb. Jnl.), refers to "that Mansion or dwelling house, barne, kilne,...and one Close of land called the Croft [81, 211, 217]...heretofore in the possession of John Pettye deceased and late in the occupation of Susannah Fell & Rachel Fell." The barn was remodelled for a meeting house, and the meeting which was held in the large room of the Hall from 1652 was transferred to the meeting house hard by, in 1688, and has been held there down to the present day. For the later history of Pettys, see Endowed Charities (County of Lancaster)—Quaker Charities, 1905, p. 14.

- 7 5 John Cocken lived at Ulverston. His wife is mentioned (7), but it does not appear whether she was the same as "old Cocken wife," who followed her son to Ireland (49).

There was a place also named Cocken (or Cockan, in George Fox's Journal) opposite to the Island of Walney. Called then a town, it has now almost disappeared (Richardson, Furness, i. 194, ii. 157, 206).

- 7 6 The variety and character of the work accomplished by Peggy Dodgson is astonishing. Her strength and endurance must have been great. Here is a list of some of her occupations: washing (7, 27, 75, 85, 99, 129, 247), swingling (15, 139, 147, 325), filling manure (15, 27, 41, 75, 161, 223, 391) and scaling it (75, 161, 223, 391), rubbing (27, 85, 99, 129, 139, 161, 247, 263), scouring (27, 263), spinning and knitting (41, 195, 223), harrowing and dressing meadows (75), spreading, dressing and setting peats (85, 93, 223, 285), rinsing (85, 147, 247, 343), weeding garden and corn (85, 99, 223, 407), working at hay (99, 123, 297, 407), piking and pulling hemp (123, 129), raking bracken (139), reeing (195), scaling molehills (247). The amount paid her is a little over one penny per day. She owed Sarah Fell various small sums (113, 161, 195). In June, 1676 (285), the name changes to Margaret.

An explanation of some of the above terms will be found in the Glossary and in II. 3; 15. 7.

- 9 1 Robert Cooper (—1682), of Ulverston, supplied the Fell sisters with haberdasheries such as "inkle" (9, 101, 345, 439), "fillitin" (23, 39, 75, 101, 439), garters and tape (101, 115). On one occasion he brought for Susanna a pocket looking-glass, for Sarah a money-box, and for Rachel a pair of "sisers" (75), and on another a pair of cradle strings for Humphrey Lower (345).

- 9 2 Quindem (9, 13, 221) is "one of the most ancient taxes levied in Furness, that of the 'Fifteenth,' a tax amounting to the fifteenth of one's property. The Furness 'Quindam,' by which the poor-rate was laid, is undoubtedly the last traces of this tax, 'quindam' being evidently derived from the Latin quindecim, fifteen." (Richardson, Furness, i. 248.)

"Overlaide" means overcharged. Some months later a petition was sent from Dalton to the Deputy Lieutenant for the county of Lancaster asserting that the Township was unable to meet such an increased charge as 34 foot soldiers for the Militia instead of 17, but it is not quite clear whether they were expected to find the soldiers or only the payment for them (see art. by William Farrer, Litt.D., in Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc., n.s., xii.—"North Lonsdale after the Restoration"). There may be some connection between this petition and the "overlaying" of p. 9.

- 9 3 Charles Sill (—1685) is described in the Lancashire Burial Registers as "of Ayeside." He was a cooper. He was an active member of the Friends' Meetings, and his signature "Cha: Sill" appears frequently on the minutes of the Monthly Meeting, 1668 onward.

There were Quaker Sills also at Wath, in Westmorland.

PAGE NOTE

- 9 4 Nothing further respecting Francis Crofts has been found, but the Registers reveal the fact that a family of the name Croft resided at Warton within Lancaster Monthly Meeting.
- 10 1 Several persons named Petty are noted in the Account Book, but little if anything is known of them. Edward Petty lived at Ulverston (10) and had, apparently, some veterinary knowledge (135).
There was also a John Petty and a Francis Petty of Urswick (243). John Petty (462, 484) may have been the whilom owner of Pettys (7. 4).
- 10 2 William Fell, probably of Ulverston, was a bailiff (10, etc.) and also constable (469). He may have been one of the constables of Ulverston to whom rates were paid for Pettys (7. 4). He was also town-crier (10, 13, 187) and acted for Sarah in the suit against William Danson (169). "Will Fell" was one of the bailiffs employed by the persecuting "priest Shaw," of Aldingham, against Thomas Curwen (Curwen, Relation, p. 54).
There are many references to bailiffs and constables in Fleming MSS. There was a William Fell, of Urswick, mentioned twice (96, 227). Also William Fell, alias Death (165).
With which of the William Fells, if with any, the prisoner of p. 181 is to be connected cannot at present be determined, but see 181. 1.
- 11 1 Thomas Wilson and his men were much occupied with carpentry. They "sowed a tree into bedsteads and boards" (11), and produced various articles in woodwork—ploughs, yokes, carts, "a great firrdaile chaire" (209), "new yeates" (311) and other things the nature and use of which is difficult to understand to-day.
William Wilson and Thomas were brothers (183) and wrought together. William lived at Ulverston (242).
"A boy called Isaac Wilson" is mentioned in April, 1674, and "a year later (63, 220, 221). The Registers record the birth, in 1665, of Isaac, son of Thomas and Margaret Wilson, of High in Newland. Thomas, of the High, died in 1680.
- 11 2 John Toppin, as also Henry and James, supplied the Hall with manure and worked about the premises.
There was a Quaker family of Toppin in Cumberland, members of which were "presented" for nonconformity in 1670—1677 (Jnl. F. H. S. vi. 34). Toppin was also a place-name—a farm house near How Mill, Cumberland, known as Toppin Castle (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc., n.s. xii. 200).
- 11 3 "Manner" is manure. Farmers were very short of manure in those days and generally saved all for the wheat crop (11, 107). The Account Book shews that this fertiliser was bought from small farmers who did not themselves grow wheat and from cottagers who kept cows on the common lands, and was used in various parts of the Swarthmoor estate—Angsley (173), Petty Croft (211), Round Leva Heads (263), Leva Heads (265), "dodgson wife close" (461), etc. The amounts paid ranged from nine shillings to threepence.
Filling manure (15, 41, 75, 161) is forking it from the heap into a cart, and scaling is distributing it evenly over the ground and breaking up the lumps (75, 79, 161).
- 11 4 This seems to refer to a metal collar which was connected with an issue or running sore, set up often in those days on the neck or elsewhere as a derivative. It had a barbarous appearance. The same smith repaired a collar somewhat later (49).

- 11 5 References to Miles (Myles) Fell, of Mountbarrow, are six in number and describe his principal occupations—salving sheep, grafting trees, selling geese, and stock raising.
- 11 6 Edward Fell (—1680), of Trinkeld, was a brother of John, of Row End (20. 3) and of Andrew (18. 4). He married Janet Addison, of Dragley Beck, in 1663 (Fell Assoc., Registers), and had a son, John (99. 1). He is referred to as “elder” (508) and the Parish Registers of Ulverston have: “1680, Edward ffell of Trinkeld, Elder” (Fell of Dalton Gate, p. 8).
 “Trinkeld is about a mile from Ulverston on the road to Urswick, and near Swarthmoor Hall....There appear to have been several families of Fell, owners of property in the neighbourhood” (Fell of Dalton Gate, p. 8n.).
 Another Edward lived at Dragley Beck (22, 86).
- 11 7 Henry Coward (c. 1648—1698) was a prominent Friend living at Lancaster, a grocer, ironmonger, etc. In 1670 he married Ellen Green (d. 1705/6). He is described by his apprentice, William Stout (1664/5—1752) (Auto., pp. 8, 9, the principal authority for the life of Coward), as “very much respected and trusted” and his wife as “one who took her ease, and took no notice of trade, or any thing, but indulging her children”! There were two sons and four daughters of the marriage. In 1683, Susanna Fell made H. and E. Coward presents of “doeskin gloves,” as “a small acknowledgement of his care about her money” (Abr. MSS. xxv. printed Webb, Fells and Crosfield, Fox). In common with Daniel Abraham, Roger Haydock, Leonard Fell and others, Coward was cast into Lancaster Castle for non-attendance at the parish church or non-payment of tithes, but that it was not close confinement is evident, for Abraham wrote to his wife from the Castle in March, 1684/5: “I perceive they never lay at night in the Castle since their first committment” (Miller MSS. printed Webb, Fells), and Coward wrote, under date of November, 1684, in a postscript: “My deare Love to Leo: ffell whoe wee suppose is Come vp wth Mary Lower & if he be there tell him I will excuse him to y<sup>e</sup> Goaler”! (original in D. addressed to Benjamin Antrobus in London, and endorsed by Fox). Towards the close of his life, according to his sometime apprentice, Coward’s association with “gentlemen and others about horses, in public houses...and in some houses of no good character,” drew him away from his Quaker manner of life and this “forfeiting of former reputation drew him into despair and broke his heart, so that he died for grief and shame” (Stout, Auto., p. 47). The date of his death, however, appears on the Friends’ Registers of Lancaster Monthly Meeting.
 His good judgment in horses was a help to his Swarthmoor friends (120); numerous financial transactions are recorded, and sundry amounts are placed to his “account” (154, 246, 350, 362).
- 11 8 It would be interesting to identify this James Harrison with the noted Quaker of that name (c. 1628—1687) who was born near Kendal, lived at Bolton (or Bolton-le-Moors), South Lancashire, and became a prominent immigrant of Pennsylvania (see “F. P. T.”), but the two references in the Account Book—the purchase from him of Lancashire plush and of fustian (11, 214)—though referring to some one not in the immediate neighbourhood, are too slender to carry the weight of this hypothesis.
- 11 9 “The family of Benson, of Langdale and Loughrigg [in Westmorland] can be traced back to Thomas Benson, Lord of Ryssup, co.

PAGE NOTE

York, 1109" (Satterthwaite, Colthouse, quoting Benson, Pedigree of the Wilson Family, 1912, p. 406). See also Armitt, Rydal.

Fifteen apparently different persons of this name are mentioned in the Account Book.

Henry Benson, of Ulverston (110), sold manure to the Hall and his wife was a frequent wheat buyer. He also did some hedging and other outdoor work.

- 13 I There was a family of Barrow resident at Ayside in Cartmel, but Dorothy does not figure among them in the Registers. She had various business relations with the Hall. "The value of money varied so greatly in different parts of England that it is particularly useful to be able to check what wages represent in food value from this Account Book. On July y<sup>e</sup> 9<sup>o</sup> 1674 Dolly Barrow paid 1/10½ for 1 peck of oats [96], and eight days later she received 5<sup>s</sup> for five days' hay-making [105]. Thus it would take her 22½ days hard work to earn money for one peck of oats, which must still be ground and cooked before she could feed her children with porridge" (note by Alice Clark, author of The Working Life of Women in the Seventeenth Century, in preparation).

- 13 2 Edward Cooper (—1687/8) lived at The Flann in Mansriggs. The births of several children of Edward of the Flann and Alice are registered, but not that of Daniel, who may have been born before Friends' registration (289, 463). Daughter Mary married James Geldart in 1677 and Margaret was united to William Fisher in 1686, both at Swarthmoor Hall. The name of Edward Cooper, as that of Daniel, is associated with journeys to Kendal (14, 22, 117, 229, 297, 327, 471, etc.). Twice only is he entered in the Account Book as "Edw: Cooper of the Flann" (60, 334).

Alice Cooper, widow, of Ulverston, died in 1694. She had financial transactions with Sarah Fell (14, 21, 82, 117, 327, 395, 425, 501).

- 14 I Margaret Woodburn lived at Ulverston. She purchased farm produce from the Hall. On one occasion when Mrs Fox was summoned before the Commissioners respecting the Judge's bequests for the poor and education (479; see Fell, Home Life, p. 7), she repaid Margaret Woodburn for expense incurred.

- 14 2 James Fell lived at the Middle Row in Pennington, one of the three properties in Pennington held by Fells, the others being Row Head and Row End (Fell of Dalton Gate, p. 7). A general term was "the Row" (96).

Another James Fell occupied Row End (284), with others of the same family (20, 104, 122, 227).

- 14 3 The unusual personal name Chanelhouse has not been found elsewhere in Quaker records but it occurs, with variants Challenhouse, Chananhouse, etc., in the parish registers of Pennington and Urswick. It is also that of an estate in Furness in the neighbourhood of Pennington belonging to one of the numerous families of Fell of Pennington (letter from H. F. Wilson, of Hull, 1916). Bardsley in his Introduction to his Chronicles of the Town and Church of Ulverston, 1885, writes: "Chanonhouse, Chandelhouse and Channelhouse were of one family which sprang from the Canonhouse at Pennington and the name is obsolete."

- 15 I There are but three references to fire-briefs in the Account Book—three sisters give one shilling among them for a fire in Cheshire (15), two sisters give threepence each for a fire as far away as Southampton

(207) and three shillings and sixpence are contributed by mother and three sisters for a fire in Northampton (241). "The right to grant Briefs was in the hands of the Sovereign, the Lord Chancellor and the Church. Any sort of calamity might be helped by this very cumbrous method....When a Brief came into a parish, it was read from the pulpit during service, and at the close of the service the clerk stood at the door with a money box, and with a loud voice called out, 'Please remember the Brief.'...Any person who preached in any Quaker meeting must give out the notice....A Brief was issued on behalf of a parish church in 1809, the number of copies sent out was 9986, the amount brought in was £614. 10s. 9d., the expenses incurred were £330, so the net amount received for the restoration of the church was only about £284! The Brief was abolished by Act of Parliament in 1828" (art. by Joel Cadbury in Jnl. F. H. S. iii.; see Walford, King's Briefs, 1882; Brushfield, Devonshire Briefs, 1896).

An account of the fire at Northampton (241) is given in a brief sent out by Friends of that town "the 2<sup>d</sup> day of y<sup>e</sup> 8th month 1675" (contained in a MS. in D.) as follows:

Given forth at a Meeting of friends in Northampton (upon occasion of y<sup>e</sup> late dreadfull fire) the 2<sup>d</sup> day of y<sup>e</sup> 8th month 1675.

- 15 2 This was doubtless Richard Fell, "our man" (65, 191), employed at wages by the Fell family. There are various entries of payments to him as wages, "in pt" (15, 25, 55, 69) until the year ending 22 July, 1674 (113), when he received the balance (the meaning of the expression "in full," often used by Sarah Fell), after which the dribblets begin again (139, 167, 201). He did useful work (23, 65, 161, 187).

PAGE NOTE

It was doubtless another Richard Fell, who sold manuscript books (67, 259, 331), and bound the great Bible (317) and was, perhaps, a law-stationer (431). Perhaps his place of business was at Lancaster, whence came writing paper at various times (349, 361, 433). He may have been the binder of the "old history booke" and almanack (367).

Richard Fell, the bailiff, who supplied manure for the Fell estate (447, 467, 469, 475), was probably the same who acted for Thomas Shaw, rector of Aldingham against Thomas Curwen (59. 1) as related in Curwen, Relation.

- 15 3 Several of the name Thomas Townson appear in the Account Book. Thomas Townson, smith, was paid for making various articles—coalrake, peatspade, pikefork, "hack," "teams"—and also for frequent shoeing of horses.

Thomas, of Pennington (22).

Thomas, of Hollowmire (—1718), second son of Francis Townson, of "Hollowmyre in Osmunderley in Fornice." In 1679/80, at Lawrence Newton's house at Height, he married Rachel Waller (89. 1). Children were born to them at Quarry Flat and Hollowmire.

Hollowmire is two miles N.W. of Ulverston, in the district of Osmotherley.

- 15 4 Edward Geldart was no doubt a member of one of the Geldart families in Furness, resident at Ulverston and Scathwaite. He was employed by Mrs Fox in various outdoor occupations. He received five shillings for "graveinge the high orchard" (55), threepence and fourpence a day for threshing, and sixpence a day for "bakeing."

- 5 5 The Lancaster family of North Scale, Isle of Walney, appears frequently in the Account Book.

James Lancaster (—1699) attached himself early to the cause advocated by Fox and was soon to share in the sufferings of his leader. Fox met with a hostile reception on landing on the Island and was soon knocked senseless. On coming to, he found Mrs Lancaster throwing stones at him, while her husband endeavoured to protect him from these missiles (Camb. Jnl. i. 60, anno 1652). He travelled much in company with Fox, especially in North America in 1671—3. He was among the earliest of the Quaker messengers to Ireland. His wife, Margaret, and he had two daughters, Deborah, who married John Marshall, of Walney, and Dinah (63. 1), who married John Nicholson, of Pardshaw. Numerous Quaker families descended from these marriages.

Lancaster had some share in the shipping ventures (45, 108). He appears to have rented land at Millom from Joseph Nicholson (354, 358, 363, 454).

In the intervals of his travels "abroad," Lancaster was a diligent attender at local Meetings, and his signature was frequently attached to the minutes of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting from 1668 onward.

In 1643, the hamlet of North Scale was burnt, but was rebuilt shortly afterwards. One house, still standing, bears a stone with the initials and may have been the home of James and Margaret Lancaster, but the son-in-law of Mr Richardson (author of Furness), the late Harper Gaythorpe and his grandson, S. B. Gaythorpe, of Barrow, have expressed doubts of this identification.

PAGE NOTE

- 15 6 Richard Preston, presumably the same as Richard Preston, of Settle (251), was connected with the law-suit Todd, Pearson, etc., referred to later. See 59. 4.
- 15 7 The name Dodgson (Dodgshon, Dodshon) appears frequently in the Account Book, with some curious additions, but it has not been found proportionately often in other literature of the period. Both forms—Dodgson and Dodshon—are represented still in Quaker nomenclature.
- James Dodgson supplied manure for a Swarthmoor wheat field, for which he was paid two shillings and threepence halfpenny (15) and for four carts full of peats for the Grange he received four shillings and fourpence (47, 63).
- There are many references to various stages in the preparation of peat for burning purposes. "After digging [graveing 79, 83, 221, 283, 399], the peat went through various stages before being fit for the house—as spreading [83, 85, 79 (spreader)], that is, laying the peat out flat (the pieces are brickshaped), footing, that is, placing several on end leaning against each other, windrowing, that is, piling the peats in heaps—all these processes were to facilitate drying, so that, especially if the weather were damp, a good while might pass between the digging and the carting [93] indoors." (Note by William Satterthwaite, of Hawkshead, 1916.) A "cartfull of peates" cost about thirteen pence (99, 229).
- 15 8 Miles Dodding (—1683) was resident at Conishead, his lands adjoining those of the Fell family. Fell of Swarthmoor and Dodding of Conishead were both for the Parliament in Commonwealth days (Barber, Furness, p. 194), yet the families held divergent views on many subjects. There was frequent intercourse between the two families. Sarah Fell lent Justice Dodding thirty pounds for ten days (111), but two-thirds only was repaid within this time (114, 132); she paid him £1. 8s. for coals (277), and he paid her thirteen shillings for bottles purchased on his behalf (86); he was frequently paid for peat dug from his moss—dayworks, so called then and now (91, 201, 255, 477).
- The servants at Conishead Priory were also obliging (15, 99, 435).
- "Younge Miles Dodinge" is mentioned in Camb. Jnl. i. 360 (see also p. 463 and ii. 390). His mother died in 1679 (Fleming MSS.).
- 15 9 "Tom o' Bedlam was a rank impostor who had never known the inside of Bedlam, although he traded under its name and imitated the behaviour of its patients....These Toms of Bedlam hit upon a very ingenious device for securing credit for their tales and a ready response to their appeals for charity. They put a brass plate round their arms with an inscription, or in some cases even branded their arms with a mark, signifying that they were licensed to beg by the Governors of Bethlehem Hospital. To protect the public from these impostors the Governors gave notice, as late as 1675, that they never sent discharged patients out to beg and that no brass plates, or other marks of any kind, were ever attached to patients during their residence, or on their discharge" (O'Donoghue, The Story of Bethlehem Hospital from its Foundation in 1247. London, 1914, p. 132).
- Gifts to "bedlemers" were also entered into Sir Daniel Fleming's Book of Accounts (Fleming MSS. pp. 365, 398, 404, 406).
- 17 1 "Old Jane Woodell" was a pensioner of Swarthmoor Meeting. She received help from the Women's Meeting Stock—sixpence on one occasion "to mend her shoes with" (179) and Margaret Fox and her daughters gave time and again to collections for her benefit (29, 211,

- 229, 341, 385, 431). Jennet Woodell, of Roose Beck, died in 1678 and was interred at Sunbrick.
- 17 2 There are numerous entries of weaving work done by George Fell, of Trinkeld, which would repay study by the student of this art as practised in Furness in the late seventeenth century. See Index.
- 17 3 The family dyer was Thomas Benson (—1678), of Ulverston (310). In 1666 he married Ellinor Turner of Broughton and had issue. Mrs Benson died in 1671 and two years later he married Agnes, daughter of James Geldart, of Scathwaite (197, 382). The second Mrs Benson afterwards became wife of Matthew Fell (20. 5). Benson bought coals (52) and iron (350). £3 were lent him for ten days (161) and duly returned (160) and shortly before his death he raised £15 upon mortgage (463). There was a Thomas, junior, also a dyer (238, 497, 499).
There was a bailiff of the same name (337).
- 17 4 The collation of entries with the names Richard Sanderson, Jane Sanderson, and Jennet Sanderson (17, 51, 57, 149, 343) points to the probability that the entries refer to Richard Sanderson and Jane his wife, of "Whinfull." The wife supplied "potts" of butter, some of which were passed on to Isabel Yeamans and Henry Coward.
There was a Jane Sanderson, wife of Thomas (334. 2), who died in 1713.
Whinfell (or Whinfield) lies about midway between Ulverston and Dalton.
- 17 5 The name of George Fell, of Greenmore House, occurs four times, three of them relating to supply of salt butter for sheep salve to both the Hall and the Grange (17, 57, 163; see also 227).
- 18 1 This may have been the wife of Bailiff Fell (10. 2).
- 18 2 Further respecting Lawrence Parke, of Dalton, has not been found.
- 18 3 The good relations between employers and employed receive frequent illustration in the Account Book.
In the will of Judge Fell, proved 4th December, 1658, we find the appointment of "Richard Radcliffe, yeoman and Thomas Coulton, yeoman, both my menial servants, to be my Executors" and to each he left five pounds (Webb, Fells, p. 141; Barber, Swarthmoor Hall, p. 19); and in a letter to Margaret Fell, in 1657, Thomas Salthouse wrote from Street, Somerset: "Remember mee also to R. Ratclif & the Rest of the servants at Swarthmore & Marsh Grayng" (Swarth. MSS. iii. 163). Payments for Ratcliff's "table" at Marsh Grange came into the accounts on several occasions, at the rate of about fifty shillings per year (72, 142, 262). With others he received a new hat "sent last q'terly Meeting" (169) and over seventy pounds "owed him upon bond" was paid him in 1678 (493). His name does not appear in the Friends' Registers.
- 18 4 The name Andrew Fell has not been found in the Registers. Most of the entries in the Account Book have no addition of place of residence, but Andrew Fell "of vlvestone" occurs (310, 354, 362, 442, 510).
In Fell of Dalton Gate there is considerable mention of Andrew Fell, of Dalton Gate (c. 1620—1679), a descendant of Fell of Redman (Redmayne) Hall, Urswick, from which family Fell of Swarthmoor also claimed descent. In 1654 he married Jennet Leathome (d. 1685) of an old Ulverston family; in the marriage record he is styled

"mercier" (Fell Assoc., Registers, p. 1, col. 1, in which we do not find any other Andrew).

Sarah Fell borrowed money from Andrew and there are several entries of payment of interest (18, 39, 209, 227, 269, 378, 393). Purchases were made from him of hay (67), mercery (101), jallop (128), peats (229), and articles not specified (93, 284, 331, 369, 485).

Money was received from Andrew of Ulverston for bulling cows (230, 310, 354, 362, 442, 510, and perhaps 110, 120, 148, 160, 434).

- 18 5 The only Knipe whose name appears in the early Lancashire Registers is George (1653—1709). He was born at Hawkshead of parents belonging to the Church of England, but he became a prominent Quaker and travelling preacher. He left a legacy of £160 for poor Friends (Endowed Charities (County of Lancaster)—Quaker Charities, 1905) and a small plain gold ring (now in D.) for "poor Friends to rub sore eyes with" (Satterthwaite, Colthouse, p. 32). Many of his letters, in first draft, are preserved in Cartmel meeting-house; among them is one addressed to Thomas Bell, "priest" at Hawkshead, from London, 23 iv. 1691.

- 18 6 Thomas Colton (Coulton), of Ulverston, yeoman, and his wife Mary are mentioned in a deed of the end of the seventeenth century. The same man, presumably, was one of the executors of the will of Thomas Fell (d. 1658), with Richard Ratcliff (18. 3), who are described as "my menial servants" (Webb, Fells, p. 141). Colton was a witness to the will of George Fell (d. 1670, see 18. 8), son of Thomas (Jnl. F. H. S. viii. 4, 5), and he was associated with Mrs Fell (18. 7) in financial matters (18).

- 18 7 Hannah Fell (c. 1639— ) was the daughter of Edward Cooke, of London, and widow of Potter. At the time of her marriage to George Fell (18. 8) in December, 1660, she is described as "of St. Saviours, Southwark, co. Surrey, widow, about 22" (Jnl. F. H. S. xii. 46). It would appear that she was never on very good terms with her second husband's family, and after G. Fell's death in 1670, she was in open and bitter opposition to Margaret Fox. Legal settlements were necessary between them (445). Mrs Fox's sons-in-law, John Rous and William Meade, wrote of Hannah Fell's "wilfulness and foolishness" (quoted Jnl. F. H. S. viii. 3 n.; see also Manners, Elizabeth Hooton, 1914, pp. 65—68).

Nevertheless the Swarthmoor sisters were on visiting terms with Hannah Fell, styling her "sister fell" (49, 79, see 423). It is not clear where she was living at this time; a letter from Elizabeth Hooton, early Quaker preacher, is endorsed "for George fells widdow at Marsh Grainge in furnace" (Elizabeth Hooton, p. 65), but from an entry in the Account Book, under date 1675, we may infer she was not resident at the Grange (200). She paid rent to her mother-in-law (18, 134, 176, 314, 326). On one occasion she sent Mrs Fox a present of a pig (67). "About this time [1691] Hannah Fell left the neighbourhood, and all trace of further intercourse between her and her husband's family ends" (Crosfield, Fox, p. 145).

- 18 8 George Fell (c. 1639—1670) was the only son of Judge Fell. In his youth he appears to have had leanings towards the religious views adopted by the rest of his family but a residence in Chambers in Town dissipated these, to the great grief of his mother and sisters. In 1660 he married Hannah Potter (18. 7) and had two children, Charles (423. 2) and Isabel. His attitude towards his mother in the ownership of Swarthmoor Hall has been a matter of sharp historical controversy, some writers referring to "the sordid clamour for the estates by her apostate son" (Jnl. F. H. S. x. 287), while others hold the view that the son did the best he could to keep the estates in the family. George Fell left his affairs in a very unsatisfactory condition; at his death his rent was considerably in arrears (18), and it was not till his son came of age in 1691 that some of the bequests made by Judge Fell were finally paid (Crosfield, Fox, p. 145).

- 18 9 Leonard Addison (—1686) lived at Rampside, near Dalton. His wife was Elizabeth (297). She died in 1680. Addison appears to have gone on preaching tours with Leonard Fell (27. 1). Letters from them to Margaret Fell written in 1653 from the county of Durham are extant (Swarth. MSS. i. 113, 135). In one she is called "thou little hill hirmon." These two and others signed a short paper, entitled The Persecution of them People they call Quakers in Lancashire, c. 1656. From the Account Book it appears that he was in the employ of John Kirkby (18. 10) of Coniston Hall (18, 23, 37) and later of Sarah Dodding (141. 1) (141, 203).

"Addison wife" (13, 135, 311, 427) was probably the same as "Geo: Addison wife of Ulverstone" (128).

The minutes of the Monthly Meeting, held in March, 1669/70, refer to the "disorderly drinkinge & walkinge contrary to truth" of Leonard Addison.

- 18 10 John Kirkby (—1680), of Coniston Hall, was of the family of Kirkby of Kirkby, but a less-known member than his nephew, Colonel Richard (c. 1625—1681), and apparently, seeing he lent Sarah Fell various sums of money (18, 23, 37), of broader mind, although we must remember that by this time the hostility of the Kirkbys towards their neighbours at Swarthmoor Hall had considerably lessened (Camb. Jnl. ii. 311). John Kirkby was unmarried and lived for thirty years at the Hall with his sister, Alice Fleming, mother of Sir Daniel. There is a brass plate in Coniston church to Alice Fleming (d. 1680/81) and to her brother John.

Fleming MSS.; Cowper, Kirkbys.

- 18 11 John Cowell lived at Ulverston. There are several entries of money he paid for Middle Close which was placed to the account of Thomas Lower. He married Jane Holme of Ulverston (3. 6) in 1665 and had issue. His name and that of his wife appear in the list of signatories to the Gawith removal certificate (Jnl. F. H. S. viii.).

In 1654 and 1656 children were born to "John and Jane Cowell, of Ulverston." Perhaps John had an earlier wife also named Jane.

In common with many others Cowell suffered heavily by distrains for tithe—"Taken from John Cowell the 6th of y<sup>e</sup> 8mo (82) by George Askew & George Garner who broke open his doore & tooke severall carrfulls or loadings of peates & hay & severall bushells of Mault one hairecloth for drying on one malt shovl a spad a baskett a rattentrap 3 spring wheels one flock bed 2 bouldsters two pillowes two coverlets one happin a paire of sheets blankets gerdle & brandrith tongs frying pan raken crooke a Candlestick bigg & straw in all worth 8<sup>l</sup> = 12 = 11<sup>d</sup>" (Swarth. Suff.).

In 1703 Cowell was accused of "defrauding y<sup>e</sup> government," for which offence he duly signed a "paper of condemnation" (Record, p. 27). Three years later we find him again in trouble over "some engagem<sup>t</sup> of paying his son [in law] Rodger Woodburns Deb<sup>t</sup> to Mary fell," but he "promis'd to give bill wth his son in law to pay her 20s. a year till her debt was payd" (Ibid. pp. 40, 41, 53). Cowell was the intermediary between Hannah Fell (18. 7) and her sister-in-law in the matter of rent (18, 134, 176, 314, 326).

- 18 12 Gawen Kirkham has its modern counterpart in the name of the late, well-beloved Secretary of the London Open-air Mission, Gawin Kirkham (1832—1892). There may have been some family connection as the modern Gawin's parents, Edward and Ann (Herdman) Kirkham, belonged to North Lancashire. Cockrem, Gawin Kirkham, 1893. The name has not been found in Quaker annals. The name Gawen was not uncommon in the district.
- Mrs Kirkham is mentioned frequently, making purchases from the Hall of wheat, etc., and selling wine to Sarah Fell (415). Her husband is mentioned several times in connection with the shipping of grain to Cornwall (387, 391). Apparently he was a ship-owner (407, 409, 411, 421). See 34. 1.
- 20 1 The name John Penington appears at intervals in records of the period in Furness. One of the name signed (by his mark) as witness to a document relating to Hannah Fell, written by Sarah Fell, her sister-in-law, in 1678 (Abr. MSS. xxiii. printed in Jnl. F. H. S. xi. 161, 162).
- The John, of Eliskalls (now Elliskales, just north of Dalton, where are still iron ore mines), was probably another person and related to Isabella Penington of the same place (446).
- The place-name Pennington appears some forty times in the Account Book. It is that of a parish, the smallest in Furness, situate in the centre of the peninsula. "Iron is the principal production. Most of the land is arable. There are no manufactures" (Richardson, Furness, i. 175). Barber states, "Penning-ton is the fortified settlement of the Peinings, descendants of Peini, chieftain or founder of a Norse tribe" (Furness, p. 221).
- It gives its name to one of the oldest families in Furness (see Foster, Pedigree of Sir Josslyn Pennington, Fifth Baron Muncaster and Ninth Baronet, 1878).
- 20 2 There was a Joyce Benson, of Miller Bridge, Ambleside, who married James Braithwaite, c. 1575 (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc., n.s. vi. 28), but of a seventeenth century Joyce nothing more than stated on pages 20 and 144 appears at present.
- 20 3 John Fell, of Row End in Pennington, was a brother of Andrew Fell and survived him (18. 4). "There were three properties in Pennington: Row Head, Mid Row, and Row End, at short distances from each other. They all, however, at one time belonged to Fells, and have been indiscriminately described as 'the Row'" (Fell of Dalton Gate, p. 7).
- John, of Row End, had a son, Thomas, perhaps the Thomas, of Row End, mentioned (227).
- 20 4 Distinguished from other William Bensons by the addition "of dragleybecke."
- Dragley Beck lies rather less than two miles to the east of Swarthmoor. It was the home of the families of Salthouse, Towers, Ellithorne, Townson, Benson and other families mentioned in the Account Book.
- 20 5 The tailor to the Hall family was Matthew Fell (—1712), of Roshead, near Ulverston. In 1683, he married, at Swarthmoor Hall, Agnes, widow of Thomas Benson, of Roshead, and daughter of James Geldart, of Upper Scathwaite (17. 3). Agnes Fell died in 1721.
- Matthew Fell's name appears in the Record—in September, 1701, "Mathew Fell & Thom: Fell give an account that they have satisfied y<sup>e</sup> widdow Baylif for y<sup>e</sup> time past for tabling Nich. collisson, and that they have agreed with her for one quarter next following after y<sup>e</sup> rate of 4*£* : 10*s* : 0." A year later the same two Friends "brought in their accounts whereby it appears that they have 0 : 0 : 7½*d* in stock."

There is frequent reference to payments for work done for the family and their dependants and Sarah Fell and he often accommodated one another with loans of money varying from *£*12 to 1½*d*.

There is a curious story, in an ancient anonymous tract, adverse to Quakerism, A Parallel between...Quakers and Chief Hereticks in all Ages, London, 1700, which probably refers to Matthew Fell, as follows:

"When it was thought fit for G. F. to leave off his Leathern Breeches, in which he first appear'd, a Taylor who liv'd in the Neighbourhood of Margaret Fell, afterwards the wife of G. F., was sent for to take measure of him, and, good fine Cloth, with all other Necessaries, being provided, was ordered to make him a Suit of Cloaths, which he did and, when it was finish'd sent to him by his apprentice to whom, after he had fitted the Cloaths, G. F. gave, as he thought, a piece of Money wrap'd up in a Paper, which the young Man put in his Pocket, without looking on it, and took his Leave; In his return to his Master, he was often times mov'd to return to G. F. again, but with much ado he overcame those Motions, and came home to his Master; and having given him an Account of what he went about, set himself down upon the Shop-board to work; but he had not sate long before he had another Motion to go to G. F. again, crying out, he was a brave Man, and he must go to him; and was ready to leap off his Shop-board, if his Master had not restrain'd him; but tho' that Restraint quell'd the Motion for the present, yet in a short time it return'd again, and so it did several times; till at length, his Master seeing him so uneasy, and so impatient to be gone to G. F. again, began to suspect that there was something more than ordinary in it, and ask'd his Servant, whether G. F. had given him any thing; he answer'd, yes, he gave him something in a Paper, but what it was, he knew not, for he had not look'd upon it; his Master bid him let him see it, which he did, pulling the Paper out of his Pocket; which the Master said, felt like an old Groat, but without opening, he threw it in the Fire; and when the Paper was consum'd, they diligently sifted the Ashes and search'd for this Piece of Money, but none was to be found; however, the young Man after that was at quiet, and never desired to return to G. F. any more. Whether this doth not look like something of Sorcery or Witchcraft, I leave the Reader to Judge."

- 20 6 An aromatic spill called "hiera picra" (i.e. sacred antidote), a favourite drug compounded of aloes and carrella (information from R. H. Fox, M.D., 1916). See also pp. 30, 40, 56, 274, 410.

- 21 I Hearth-money was a tax which existed from the time of the Conquest, but was legalised by 13 & 14 Car. II (1674) and abolished in 1689. It was particularly odious to the people for two reasons—it could only be levied by visits of inspection and it was farmed out to individuals who, in exacting its payment, did so with the greatest harshness, seizing the goods of the owners if the money was not immediately forthcoming.

Twelve to fourteen shillings was payable for the Hall half-yearly in March and September and one shilling for Pettys, the payments being irregularly paid (21, 67, 147, 305, 345, 413, 469). Marsh Grange paid six shillings for a half year (411).

Certain exemptions could be allowed by the Justices (Fleming MSS p. 83). In 1675 the collectors reported to the Justices of Kendal that they had "surveyed most of the market towns...levying the tax at 2s on every fire hearth" (ibid. p. 115). "The practice of walling up hearths in a temporary manner is plainly fraudulent" (ibid. p. 120). "Tell the Hearth-man to be as kind as his conscience will permit" (ibid. p. 223, see esp. p. 198).

See Armitt, Rydal, p. 430.

- 21 2 There is but one reference to John Gatskell. Perhaps he was the same as John Roscoll (65. 1), for Robert Roskell was also named Robert Gaskell (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. xii. 203).
- 21 3 William Hathornthwaite (contracted in the Record to Hawthorne) (—1700) was a Dalton Friend. There are frequent entries of this surname in the Registers. In 1667 William married Jennet or Jane Kirkby (239, 299). The pages of the Record reveal some disagreement between John Hawthorne (probably William's son by a first wife (425)—there was a John born to William and Elizabeth Hathornthwaite in 1653) and his father. John is urged to "shew [himself] more submissive and respectfull to his parents and to answer their reasonable requirings" (1699, p. 2). In Third Month, 1700, the death of the father "hath putt an end to y<sup>e</sup> difference between him and his son john," but Friends are not satisfied with son John's conduct of the funeral. "He is to bee spoken to concerning the irregularities which were committed and observed at his fathers burial contrary to y<sup>e</sup> method and practice of friends, to know whether he appeared in a testimony against them, and he is to bee acquainted with y<sup>e</sup> dislike and disgust which this meeting and friends in general have against his father having left the ordering and disposal of his body to people not belonging to our society." John Hathornthwaite of Newton died in 1731 and was buried at Sunbrick.
- 22 1 James Newby lived at Ulverston. He is only occasionally mentioned in the Account Book—his wife more frequently (190, 198, 254, 362, 402, etc.) and his "girling" or "lasse" still oftener (93, 105, 108, etc.), the last-mentioned being occupied working hay, weeding garden; she was, perhaps, the same as "old Newby wife daughter" (61) and Isabella Newby (407, 417).
- 22 2 See II. 6.
- 22 3 Thomas Nicholson lived at Pennington, which was also the home of John Nicholson (274, etc.).
The relationship with Joseph Nicholson is not known, but Joseph and Jane were husband and wife (114, 115). Their home was Bootle-in-Millom, Cumberland (Camb. Jnl. i. 416, etc.), but they spent years in America on religious service. In 1669 Nicholson wrote from Boston of his expected early return (Swarth. MSS. i. 111) and in 1672 his wife and he were both back in England (Swarth. MSS. i. 365). The references in the Account Book cover the period August, 1674, to May, 1675 (116, 215), "when hee went againe fo<sup>r</sup> New England," having received money presents from the family at Swarthmoor. Apparently Jane was with her husband. In January, 1675/6, they were in Rhode Island (Box Meeting MSS. 28). Later references deal with his money-matters under care during his absence (254, 354, 358, 363, 365, 454, 461). Settle in the county of York was their home at the close of life, where they were living in 1704. Jane died, a widow, in 1712.
- 23 1 Ellen Pollard lived at Marsh Grange and was in receipt of a yearly wage of two pounds (73, 221, 283). Her wages for the year ending in May, 1673, were not paid until the following January and then eight shillings were deducted, because that amount was "p<sup>d</sup> to Marg<sup>t</sup> Kirkby for y<sup>e</sup> time Elin was sicke" (29)! another instance (see 59, 333, 367) of the tightness of Sarah Fell's pursestrings. Her position at the Grange is not clear; she seems to have acted as an agent for the sale of farm produce, considerable sums being paid her for disposing of butter and cheese, "of ours at Marshgr: shee sold" (26, 48, 72, 96, 142, 174, 262, 270). Visitors gave her money (189, 273).

- 23 2 The name of Annas Caton appears only in the earliest part of the Account Book. At the last entry we are told that "shee went away," after receiving the amount of wages then due from Mrs Fox and money gifts from her daughters (39).

- 23 3 William Benson was in receipt of wages from Mrs Fox (37, 99). His mother is mentioned (44, 45); he, or another of the same name, left for Ireland (105, 144, 147).

William Benson, rent-agent and bailiff, appears in the Account Book.

Also William Benson, harden-buyer. He borrowed various small sums from Sarah Fell, there being about a score of entries of money borrowed and repaid.

- 23 4 James Penington, of Hawkshead, husband of Nurse Penington (3, 12). His "maide" was in receipt of wages from Marsh Grange, fifteen shillings being paid on April 2, 1674, and three shillings on June 8, to which Sarah Fell added two shillings, as promised (55, 83). Upon one occasion Penington received on loan thirty shillings "upon 2: great panns" (37).

James Penington "of the Sandhaw" appears (274, 280).

- 23 5 Robert Wailes (—1678) was one of the numerous Quaker retainers of the Fell-Fox family. He sold country produce to the Hall, and purchased oats and peas from Marsh Grange. His wife is mentioned (378). His home was Roshead and his place of sepulture Sunbrick. His wife and he had the care of a poor woman member named Janet Woodall and received fourteen shillings a quarter for her "tableing" (M. M. Minute, 12 vi. 1673).

He signs the M. M. Minute Book occasionally.

Agnes Wailes was also in receipt of wages and was very strictly dealt with after the manner of Sarah Fell. Late in the year 1676 her father, James Wailes of Kirkby, and her mother died, and Agnes was absent from her work three weeks and three days attending to family matters. During this time another was paid the sum of one shilling and ninepence to do her work, which Agnes "must eithe<sup>r</sup> pay or serve so longe over her yea<sup>r</sup>" (367)! We don't know which alternative was accepted, but apparently money was scarce, for only after the lapse of several months did she pay Sarah Fell one shilling for a cheese "y<sup>t</sup> shee bought when her mothe<sup>r</sup> died" (406). In 1679 she married Edward Braithwaite (237. 1), after the Quaker manner.

- 25 1 Presumably the same as Mary Fell of Baycliff (82. 3), wife of Leonard. The name alone occurs (25, 167, 176, 227); Mary of Baycliff is mentioned (82, 169, 451).

- 25 2 There are two references to "dodgson wife wth lame hand" (25, 41), who, despite her physical infirmity, was able to earn a living by spinning, and two to another member of the family—"halt Jn<sup>o</sup> Dodgson" (105, 111)—who had some weakness in his legs.

"Dodgson wife close" was the local name of a portion of the Swarthmoor estate (461, 467, 475, 489); in 1746 its measurement was two acres two roods ("An Estimate of Swarthm<sup>e</sup> y<sup>t</sup> I would Dispose off, June 13th, 1746," MS. in D.).

- 25 3 Jane Colton, widow, of Swarthmoor Meeting, is a sample of the numerous persons largely dependant upon the Swarthmoor family and the Friends of the district. She is described as poor (25) and received help from the women's Stock (3. 2) in money and kind (67, 155, 176, 179, 237, 267, 353). On one occasion her house-rent was paid (47). Various sums of money were lent her (161, 218, 226, 277, 313, 413) and she made various purchases from the Hall (190, 198, 224, 274, 306, 398). She eked out a scanty living by knitting stockings, etc. (325, 343, 429, 495) and baking bread (399, 455). (See 169. 1.) Jane's daughter, Isabel, also received assistance from the Stock (353, 387).

Jennet Colton died in 1689 and was buried at Sunbrick.

Jenny Colton was apparently in a somewhat better position, though she, on one occasion, benefited from the Stock (115, 117).

- 25 4 The kiln on the Pettys property was in regular work for drying purposes. It was fired with peats (53, 209), and used for "making" malt (72, 78, 378, 484, 488), also for drying malt (53), oats (78) and beans (81). With other portions of the property (7. 4) the kiln was let to James Penington and rent partly paid in kind (78, 81). Repairs to the kiln are paid (25, 91, 167, 191, 201, 251, 253) and hair-matting provided as a drying ground (193, 233, 435). The kiln passed with the house and land to George Fox (Camb. Jnl. ii. 362).

- 25 5 William Kirkby (c. 1635—post 1687) lived at Ashlack Hall and was a nephew of John Kirkby, of Coniston (18. 10). He was twice married (see genealogical chart in Cowper, Kirkbys). His kindly gifts to his Swarthmoor neighbours of venison and hare brighten the picture of the relations between Kirkby and Fell. (See also 61, 85, 137, 189, 235.) Fleming MSS.; Camb. Jnl.

- 26 1 On 28 June, 1673, George Fox, arriving from America, was soon joined at Bristol by his wife, her daughters Sarah and Rachel, and Thomas Lower, references to which may have appeared in the early, lost portions of the Account Book. Later, his wife and Rachel met him at Kingston and Thomas Lower at Rickmansworth (where he was visiting William Penn) and together they journeyed north till, on the 17th of December, Fox and Lower were arrested and taken to Worcester Gaol. Mrs Fox and Rachel passed on northwards and reached home again (31, 33), the latter having to hand to Sarah Fell a balance of £1. 6s. 9d. over from the journey (26).

While G. Fox remained a prisoner various communications passed between Swarthmoor and Worcester (132, 151, 191, 195). He was released in February, 1674/5, and after recovery from the hardships undergone, he travelled north with his wife and Susanna, reaching his northern home on the 25th of June, 1675. There may have been some references to this in the missing pages (226), the only remaining reference to this is to a "portmantle," which Mrs Fox had had with her in Worcester (253).

See, with further reference to the movements of the family consequent on the Worcester imprisonment of George Fox, 27. 5, 6; 31. 1; 33. 2; 43. 2; 117. 1; and consult Brayshaw, The Personality of George Fox, 1918.

- 26 2 Thomas Fell, of Greaves, is the first mentioned of the dozen or so of the name appearing in the Account Book, though it is probable with greater knowledge the number might be lessened. This Thomas was a great stock-raiser, each of the eleven entries represents payment for the service of the Hall bulls.

Greaves, or Upper Greaves, was in the Pennington district.

PAGE NOTE

- 26 3 There was a John Colton, of "holebigraw" (157), and a John of Pennington (382), and there are two entries of a John Colton without addition (26, 292).
Holebiggerah is a hamlet lying about two miles west of Swarthmoor.
- 26 4 Betty Fell, of the Cross, was probably akin to John Fell, of the Cross in Ulverston (470).
- 26 5 Leonard Cooper is mentioned in the earlier portion of the Account Book. In common with others of his family he occupied some position at either the Hall or the Grange.
- 27 1 Leonard Fell (1624—1701), son of Thomas, was a resident of Baycliff, but when in the district he must have spent much time at Swarthmoor. He was not a near relative, as has been supposed, of the Hall family, but a much valued and beloved helper and friend. He travelled extensively as a preacher. His first wife whom he married in 1653 was Agnes Chambers of Gleaston (d. 1662) and his second was Mary (25. 1). His death and burial took place at Darlington, Co. Durham (Camb. Jnl. corrected in Jnl. F. H. S. xv. 152). Mary Fell died in 1708.
The references in Quakeriana to Leonard Fell are numerous. He seems to have been a many-sided man—a judge of horseflesh (120, 170, 343, 351), and a man of financial ability (27, 155, 366, 467, 471). Clothes were provided him (68, 167, etc.). James Fell, of the Wellhouse (68. 2), was his brother (166, 250, etc.), and a "cousin" was James Bisbrowne (505. 1).
There was a long line of Leonard Fells, including Sir (i.e. Rev.) Leonard Fell, vicar of Ulverston, who died 1561.
- 27 2 Walter Miers (Myers) (c. 1633—1723/4) was a son of Richard and Margaret Miers (53. 2), of Baycliff. He was settled in London by 1665. To him probably his niece (or nieces) went (405, 475). He became a prominent London Quaker, was a cheesemonger by trade (161) and by Company a Citizen and Shipwright. He was in considerable employ as financial agent for the Friends of his native county. At her own expense, Sarah Fell sent Miers a dozen of "neats tongues" (437). In 1669 he married Ann, daughter of Nathaniel and Anne Gauntlett, of Southwark (27. 3) and had issue.
- 27 3 The uncertainty of the wording in this entry—whether "Nathaniel Gantcliffe" was father-in-law to Leonard Fell or to Walter Miers—is cleared by the following entry in the Registers for London and Middlesex, save that the surname is slightly different: Nathaniel Gauntlett died 13 v. 1673, of Bridge House, Southwark, father-in-law to Walter Miers, aged 85, died of age and dropsy. (See MS. account of Walter Miers, by Joseph J. Green, 1902, in D.)
- 27 4 Andrew Cooper was in the employ of Margaret Fox, perhaps one of the brotherhood mentioned (29. 4).
The "Jannes drinke" referred to on this page is further described (61). Treacle possets of different kinds were generally used at this period; this one seems to have contained turmeric root, saffron, and ale. (See also 75, 93, 383, 395, 493.)
- 27 5 See 26. 1. Money being sent to Worcester to Lower as well as Fox implies that the former was still with his "father." See next note.
- 27 6 See 26. 1. Thomas Lower may have been expected, but he certainly did not travel north so soon as this. Instead of doing so, he acted as deputy to the Under Sheriff to convey Fox to London and they reached London on the 2nd of February, 1673/4 (Journal, bi-cent. ii. 213).

PAGE NOTE

- 29 1 The only Thomasin Sawrey whose death appears on the Registers departed this life 4 iii. 1672, at Waterhead in Coniston, widow of William. This date is earlier by nearly two years than that of the entry of three shillings paid for attention to her during sickness (29), but probably Hawkshead Friends were not repaid till some time later.
- 29 2 There are numerous entries of money paid for spinning to "Milly Atkinson wife." Sometimes the first name appears as "Mylly" (92); it may have been used colloquially for Miles.
- 29 3 A "hank" is 3000 yards made up in 10 "leas" of 300 yards each, but the amount of material, linen or hemp, implied by these terms may have varied from time to time (25, 41, 253, 373, 477).
- 29 4 The Walter Cooper, who, according to the Registers, died in 1669, resident at Swarthmoor, was, perhaps, the father of this Walter and of his brothers, but our knowledge at present is insufficient to link up the various members of the family mentioned in the Account Book.
- 30 1 The Goad family of Furness was very numerous and one of the oldest in the district. The first local reference to the name is found at Aldingham in 1390 (paper on the Goads of Furness by Harper Gaythorpe, reviewed in The Friend (London), 1908, p. 221). Eight Quakers of the name were buried at Sunbrick, between 1699 and 1764, and twenty at Swarthmoor, between 1734 and 1814 (Gaythorpe, Swarthmoor Meeting House, 1910).
There was a John Goad, of Gleaston (246), who died in 1709 and whose wife (310) Jane died in 1701. Also a John Goad, Quaker, who was a drover and attended fairs (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. xii. 203).
Joseph Goad (1675—1760) became the first Quaker schoolmaster at Swarthmoor, 1697, and was afterwards "a man of wealth and importance in Low Furness" (Gaythorpe, Goads of Furness). He is mentioned in the will of Margaret Fox, 1698 (Jnl. F. H. S. ii.).
- 30 2 There was a Margaret Dawson, née Simpson, of Cartmel, who married in 1660 George Dawson, of Witherslack in Cumberland (d. 1666), but the Peggy of this long and involved entry may have been another person. It must be placed to the credit of our account-keeper that she returned ten shillings of this longstanding debt as Peggy complained of "a hard bargain" (39).
- 30 3 James Parke, of Urswick, is mentioned twice. The James Parke of this page may be another of the name. There was a James of the Height-in-Newland who according to the Registers was "drowned upon the Sands" in 1709.
The following appears in the Record, under date of Tenth Month (Dec.), 1703: "James Park being gon away out of y<sup>e</sup> reach of his creditors this meeting concludeth to advise with y<sup>e</sup> next monthly meeting about y<sup>e</sup> method which may be most servicable for the clearing of the Truth" (p. 28). The Monthly Meeting issued a paper against him and warned Friends in other parts of his misbehaviour.
- 30 4 There has not been found any outside reference to Francis Washington and his wife, of Dalton, and the inside notices refer to purchases of malt and wheat only. The patronymic does not appear in the early Registers for Lancashire. Besse records the sufferings in 1690 of Thomas W. of Beckhouses, in the Westmorland portion of his Sufferings (ii. 36). There was a family of Washington seated at Warton, Lancs, a member of which "was a direct ancestor of George Washington, first President of the United States of America" (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc., n.s. x.).

- 30 5 Robert Salthouse (—1712/13) was brother of William Salthouse (3. 8). Robert was an active member of Swarthmoor Meeting. In Tenth Month, 1699, with John Fell, he was appointed "to streighten the accounts of this meeting book, and to settle them into a more regular and easy method again the next meeting," and again two months later, "Robb: Salthous, John Fell, Mathew Fell and Thom: Fisher are desired to see Nicolas Collissons hously goods hous and moss sold...and bring an account thereof to y<sup>e</sup> meeting." In 1701, he is "desired publicly to warne y<sup>e</sup> meeting to labour again y<sup>e</sup> temptation of sleeping and drowsiness...and likewise to give friends an invitation more generally to appear in our preparative meetings, namely such members as may bee admitted in meetings about business" (Record, pp. 1, 3, 11).

In 1670, Robert Salthouse, of Dragley Beck, shoemaker, son of William of the same, married Alice, widow of Thomas Goad, of Baycliff. Alice Salthouse died at Mount Barrow in 1704. She is mentioned (419, 497).

Robert lent various sums of money to Sarah Fell—eight pounds (30), ten pounds (174).

- 31 I See 26. 1.

- 33 I Dr Henry Barber, in his Furness and Cartmel Notes, p. 223, states that Penney is an "old Furness name," and in Bardsley's Ulverston we read: "Penny of Pennybridge flourished in the valley of the Crake for some six or even seven centuries."

The name Allan or Alan has not been found in Friends' Registers but it is frequent in the parish Register of Ulverston—between 1567 and 1782 there are thirty-six entries of the name (Bardsley and Ayre, Ulverston). An Alan Penny, son of William, "was living in 1676 and is said to have settled at Lancaster" (Bardsley, Ulverston).

Penny of Pennybridge (169. 2) appears in Stout, Auto.—Stout travelled to London for the Yearly Meeting of 1698 in the company of James Penny and his sister, who were going to London "to collect the effects of their brother lately died there" (pp. 48, 49).

There was a Quaker family of Penny living within Kendal Monthly Meeting.

- 33 2 See 26. 1. Margaret Fox had, apparently, been from home since May or June. She went to Bristol to greet her husband on his return from America.

- 33 3 James Briggs, of Urswick, was a horse-doctor. His connection with others of the surname has not been found.

- 33 4 For Adam Chancelhouse see 14. 3.

- 34 I At frequent intervals between January, 1673/4 and January, 1674/5 there are entries regarding "our voyage with corne to Bristoll." This was one of several business ventures of the Swarthmoor family. It was carried out largely on borrowed money—there are records of borrowings for the "corne voyage to Bristoll," which totalled an amount of seventy-five pounds (34, 40, 44, see 40. 3; 40. 4).

In addition to corn (41, 47, 49), the freight included bigg (41, 43, 45, 61, 63, 79, 95, 105, 123), groats (49, 71), wheat (51, 65), and oats (95, 105, 123). There are notes of petty expenses (41, 47, 49, 51, 53, 59, 65, 93, 131). Advantage was taken of this means of conveyance to send to sister Yeamans, who lived in Bristol, meal (55) and butter (163).

A vessel was ready to sail early in April, but was delayed at the custom house (63). Richard Hodgson was master (63).

Portions of the cereals not put on board were sold (79, 86, 114, 122, 132, 138, 142, 148, 170).

On the return voyage the vessel may have brought goods from Bristol—bottles (86, 375), iron plates (234).

Products of the Swarthmoor fields were also sent to Liverpool (34, 60, 108); and to far-distant Cornwall were sent from Whitehaven (431) corn (387, 389, 391, 431, 442) and other articles (399, 415, 417, 425, 427, 442, 458, 481), and in return were received brandy (458) and various articles (407, 421).

Gawen Kirkham was in charge of the Cornish expedition (387, 391, 407, 409, 411, 421) and Henry Coward accompanied (442).

- 34 2 Under Thomas Fell, of Hindpool, there is only one transaction—a payment of two pounds which Sarah Fell advanced for Joseph Sharpe (34), and the repayment by the latter (37).

Hindpool is also mentioned (409). It is situated near Barrow.

- 34 3 The Richard Cleayton mentioned in the Account Book is probably the same as Richard Clayton, the travelling Minister. The latter had a small estate at Gleaston in Furness (Camb. Jnl. ii. 395, following Biog. Memoirs, ii. 525), and the R. C. of the Account Book is also connected with Gleaston (34, 265). Clayton travelled with Leonard Fell and James Lancaster, fellow-countrymen (Camb. Jnl. ii. 331, 333; Jnl. F.H.S. vi. 51, 85). His first wife appears to have been Mary (Margaret); she died in 1664 and in the following year he married, at Lancaster, Ellen Cumings. He is described as "Richard Clayton (deceased) of Gleaston," in 1679, at the marriage of his son, Abraham (1657/8— ), with Ellen Sanderson (d. 1685) at Marsh Grange (334. 2). Richard Clayton, "of Lancaster," died in 1677, being predeceased, less than a month, by his wife, Ellen, "of Lancaster."

- 37 1 The name Bryan Fell has not been found in the Registers for Lancashire. There are several Bryans in the church Registers of the district (Fell Assoc., Registers). Sarah Fell dealt with Bryan, of Manchester, for "fillitin" and "fustian" (37, 315).

- 37 2 The Furness family of Fell of Redman Hall, Urswick, was in possession of this ancient freehold estate for nineteen generations. Fell of Swarthmoor Hall and Fell of Dalton Gate claimed descent from Fell of Redman Hall (Fell of Dalton Gate).

Dr Barber writes: "At Little Urswick is an old residence called Redmayne, or Redeman Hall. It is an old-fashioned place, spoiled by various attempts at modernising" (Furness, p. 332).

The entries under Thomas Fell, of Redman Hall, are of a financial character (37, 183, 357, 413).

- 40 1 The only reference to Margaret Petty, widow, of Urswick, is a record of her loan of twenty-five pounds on account of the voyage to Bristol (40) and the payment of interest before due (177). There is no record of any repayment of principal. Mrs Petty must have been a woman of means.

- 40 2 The name Postlethwaite (or Poslett, cp. Hathornthwaite (21. 3)) does not appear in the Registers. William's home was Urswick; he was related to the Gardner family (1. 2) of the same place (183, 243, 357, 423).

John Postlethwaite, alias Welwood, and James, alias Cockler, are mentioned and others of the name appear in legal documents of the period.

- 40 3 George Hunter lived at Little Urswick. He was one of the neighbours who lent money to Sarah Fell for the Bristol venture, on which seven shillings, a year's interest, was paid (183). There is no record of the repayment of the principal.
- 40 4 Robert Allatson ( —1676), of Sunbrick, was one of several from whom Sarah Fell borrowed money wherewith to finance the trading voyage to Bristol (34. 1). Interest on the twelve pounds borrowed was paid a twelve month later, in the entry of which Allatson is styled "Serv<sup>t</sup>," but it is not clear in whose service he was (183). The next year's payment of interest was probably entered on one of the missing pages (242). By the next date for payment Allatson had departed this life (357) and in the following year principal and interest were paid to Samuel Kilner (154. 2), executor (463).
William Allatson and his wife are frequently mentioned, on both sides of the account. He did dayworks of digging peat and other outside work (213, 217, 269).
Allatson also appears as Elletson.
- 43 1 At one time there were many of the Barrow name resident in Furness and Cartmel, and there has been a Quaker family of Barrow here or elsewhere from the earliest days of Quakerism.
John was a ropemaker. The low prices paid him seem extraordinary (43). He also supplied hair-matting for use at Pettys kiln (233).
There was a John Barrow who signed a certificate re Lawrence Newton (481. 1).
- 43 2 See 26. 1.
Leaving George Fox in London under the care of Friends, Lower returned to the north to his wife and family. We find references to him in the Account Book from this time for several months, implying his presence in Lancashire (47, 49, 51, 53, 57, 75, 91, 105, 117).
- 44 1 Sarah Fell frequently advanced sums of money to women wherewith to trade. In this case she paid Robert Buskell eighteen shillings for a barrel of herrings for which Jane Fell and Jane Cowell repaid her, having sold the contents "at markt" (47).
- 45 1, 2 Thomas Fell, of Urswick, may be the same as Thomas, of Great Urswick (274), and Thomas, of the Cross in Urswick (508). There was also Thomas Fell the elder, of Urswick (504).
Others of the name include Thomas, of Beckside in Pennington, Thomas, of Rossett, another, of Row End, and again of Welhead, parish of Urswick.
Of Rossett also was Christopher Fell.
- 45 2 For Bryan Fell, of the Gill, see 68. 1.
- 45 3 Curwen Rawlinson ( —1689) lived at Cark Hall, in Cartmel. He was an active public man. His father was the Justice Robert Rawlinson, of Cark Hall, lawyer (c. 1610—1665), who was among the Justices, met at Holker in 1663, who sent George Fox to Lancaster Castle (Camb. fnl.). Curwen obtained his name from his great-uncle, Robert Curwen (will dated 1649), cup-bearer to Queen Elizabeth. He married Elizabeth Monck, niece of Monck, Duke of Albemarle (1608—1670). He was M.P. for Lancaster. (See Barber, Furness, p. 126, where there is a full description of Cark Hall.) Extracts from the wills of Curwen Rawlinson (1689) and his wife, Elizabeth (1691), are given in Fell, Home Life. Their son, Christopher, died in London, unmarried. The will of Curwen Rawlinson contained a bequest of five pounds "to Mr. Lodge my sonnes schoolmaster" (ibid. p. 9).

PAGE NOTE

- 45 4 Thomas Clegg was employed "dustinge meldars" (45) and "dryinge oates" (71). He was also a considerable purchaser of oats from Joseph Sharpe (98, 115) and from Mrs Fox (104, 114, 120, 138, 154), the price per bushel varying from seven shillings and sixpence to nine shillings. Apparently Clegg had also some knowledge of farriery (431). The names of Thomas Clegg and Alice his wife and of William Clegg appear in a local deed of the end of the seventeenth century.
- 45 5 There is little indication of personality in the entries connected with the name Robert Buskell. Herrings were bought from him (45), oats (56, 73), and iron-ore (471).
- 48 I This was probably the same as the person mentioned—"Rich: Petty wife of y<sup>e</sup> Nooke" (71, 160, 371). At the opening of 1677 she received belated payment for a sheep which had been worried by a mastiff belonging to the Hall, part of the amount being charged to Susanna Fell's account "because shee was some cause of p<sup>r</sup>venting y<sup>e</sup> dogg from hanging befo<sup>r</sup>e" (371)!
- The Nook was in the neighbourhood of Swarthmoor.
- 49 I Mary Caton held some appointment in the household of Hannah, widow of George Fell (18. 7). She received small amounts from Hannah Fell's visitors (49, 79). G. Fell left her twenty pounds, and the will was signed in her presence (Jnl. F. H. S. viii. 5).
- George Caton was also in the same employ, acting as a messenger between the daughter-in-law and her husband's mother (67).
- 49 2 William Strickland was a hatter of Dalton. The Birth Registers contain an entry under date of 1656 of "William, son of William of Dalton," but there is not found any record of the death of a William in the Registers. This may be accounted for by reference to the entry (365), dated 8 March, 1676, which, though not clear, implies some moral delinquency which might sever him from the Quaker community.
- Isabel and Jane Strickland were poor in this world's goods and received help from the women's Stock of Cartmel Meeting (335, 439). Isabel Strickland ( —1679) was the wife of Nicholas, of Cartmel, who died in 1685.
- 51 I Elisha Lancaster (1664— ) was the son of James and Margaret, of North Scale (15. 5).
- 52 I There are numerous entries of Danson in the Lancashire Registers (and there were many later Quakers of this name), but apparently none of the names in the Account Book—Ann, Dorothy, George, William. Ann assisted in the spinning which took up a large amount of time at this period and for which payments occur frequently (253, 257, 311). Dorothy lived at Little Urswick (52).
- John Danson, of Pennington, was a preacher among Friends and travelled in the ministry—one of the few Furness Quakers to do so. See Lampe, Auto. p. 77; Record, pp. 6, 35; etc.
- The case of William Danson is interesting. Towards the close of 1674 he purchased five fat sheep and deposited sixpence "in earnest." Less than a month a suit was entered against him for non-payment of remainder. Three months later he paid up, including legal expenses. Sarah Fell seems to have appealed to the law very hurriedly, but perhaps Danson had resold the sheep and received the money, but refused to pay the Fells (160, 169, 198).

PAGE NOTE

- 53 1 John Towers, of Dragley Beck, did hedging and other out of doors work for the Hall. In May, 1674, a collection was made "towards Losse of 4: horses hee lost," to which Mrs Fox and her three daughters contributed one shilling (73).
- 53 2 The Miers (Mires, Myers) family of Baycliff is well known in Quaker annals. It was probably of German origin. Richard, a yeoman, was one of the lay members of the ninth classis, under the Presbyterian scheme in 1646 (Barber, Furness, p. 194). This is probably he who died as a Quaker in 1675, whose wife was Margaret (d. 1688). Richard Miers, junior, is mentioned in The Journal of George Fox; he "had been long lame of one of his arms." Fox calling him ordered him to stand up; this he did and stretched out his arm, which was healed, to the amazement of his parents. But falling into disobedience, "the Lord struck him again so that he died about three-quarters of a year afterwards" (bi-cent. i. 159). The Burial Registers record the burial, at Sunbrick, of Richard Miers, Junr, in 1654.
- Thomas Miers, of Baycliff, was another son of Richard and Margaret. He married Elizabeth Miers, his cousin, in 1652 (53). Their daughter, Mary (1658—1720), went to London in July, 1677 (405, see also 475), and married, circa 1691, John Wilmer, of that city (MS. account of Miers family, by J. J. Green, in D.).
- There was a John Miers, of The Hill, near Millom (120, 218, etc.), and others mentioned in the Account Book (see Index).
- 55 1 The wife of William Spenceley, of Dalton, was a wine-merchant. She sold seven gallons of wine to the Hall on the occasion of a funeral (417) and had other financial dealings with the Hall.
- 55 2 The name William Dodgson occurs four times. He was a waller by trade receiving threepence per day for his work at the Hall (55, 57). His widow, of Ulverston, is mentioned (108) and his "little girl" (117). The Birth and Burial Registers of Lancashire contain records of children of William Dodgson, of Newbarnes. William, who was dead in August, 1674, "came to meettings formerly" (117). "In 1660, at Swarthmoor, forty three Persons were taken, some out of their Houses, others from the Market and some from their Labour and Employments, by a Party of Horsemen, and without any Warrant, Mitimus, or Examination before a Magistrate, committed to Lancaster Castle, namely...Thomas Curwen,...Nicholas Birkett, William Dodgson, Paul Pennington, Thomas Barwick..." (Besse, Suff. i. 308).
- 55 3 John Hodgson was a shopkeeper, of Lancaster. Pills were bought from him (120) and camphire (302), also other articles not specified. There was a Quaker family of Hodgson at Lancaster, but John has not been found except in the text.
- 55 4 John Foster here may be the same as John Foster of Lancaster (338). A John, son of Nicholas, of Lancaster, was born in 1656.
- 55 5 Ann Birkett (—1686/7), of Cartmel, was a pensioner of her Meeting, she receiving frequent help per various Friends, from the women's Stock (3. 2).
- 57 1 Had the word not been clearly written Mosen, we might have thought it intended for Moser, which name occurs in local annals, especially the Quaker Peter Moser, of Grayrigg, Westmorland, died 1679.

PAGE NOTE

Dorothy Mosen was one of the many employées at Swarthmoor. In April, 1674, Sarah Fell lent her five shillings (63). In October "Rich: Mosen wife" (perhaps Dolly's mother) repaid three shillings and sixpence and Dolly herself worked out another one shilling and fivepence (142). What became of the balance does not appear!

- 57 2 There was a John Ellithorne, of Dragley Beck, with whom John Towers associated in hedging on the Swarthmoor estate (57, 61, 201, 203, see also a conjunction of these names (147)), and another John, senior and junior, of Plumpton. Perhaps it was the former of whom Bridget Fell wrote to her mother in 1660: "John Elithorn desired me to acquaint thee that his lease is out, which he and Sissons had together, and he hath a desire to have it all to himself" (Spence MSS. iii. 77).

James Ellithorne was one of the devisees of the will of George Fell, of Swarthmoor Hall (Jnl. F. H. S. viii. 4). The names of Katherine, Christopher and Alice (widow) occur in local documents of the late seventeenth century.

- 57 3 Jane, wife of Richard Sanderson (17. 4).

- 57 4 The only other reference to a Mary Rigby which has been found occurs in a letter from Henry Woods to Margaret Fell, dated from Lancaster Castle in 1668: "Love...to all friends in generall but to Mary Rigby in pticular" (Swarth. MSS. i. 130).

There was a Quaker family of Rigby living at Blackrod, farther down the county, of which Daniel Rigby (c. 1667—1720/1), a Quaker preacher, was a member.

- 59 I Thomas Curwen, the younger, was a London Friend, a glover by trade (343, 367, 378), living in Olaves, Southwark, but he had also considerable interests in Furness (458, 461, 473). There is no intimation of the nature of the "businessse" of which we have frequent mention (207, 229, 233, 345, 403) unless it be the action referred to (215). Frequent letters passed between Sarah Fell and him. He married, in 1670, Ruth Sawrey, of Kingston-upon-Thames, when he is described "of Beikliffe" (Lancashire Registers), but he removed to London soon after.

Thomas Curwen (Curren, d. 1680), of Baycliff (141), was the father of Thomas, the glover, of London (above noted). In the rare tract, printed in 1680, entitled A Relation of the Labour...of...Alice Curwen (1620—1679), wife of Thomas, there is a detailed account of "The Sufferings of Thomas Curwen," at the hands of "Thomas Shaw, Priest of Aldingham," with names of priests, tythemongers and bailiffs, concerned therein. Thomas and Alice left England in 1675 and spent some time preaching in the American colonies and the West Indies, returning in 1677. Both died in London. Several children appear on the Marriage Registers for the London district.

Thomas Shaw, M.A. (d. 1667), was rector of Aldingham, 1625—1667. He had some controversy with Margaret Fell in 1654 (MSS. in D.). In the record of the Assises at Lancaster, 24 March, 1654/5, preserved in the Public Record Office, London, we read: "Anne Clayton, late of Swarthmore, spinster, indicted for interrupting the parson of Aldingham—'Come down thou greedy dogg, woe unto thee.' Jane, wife of Richard Ashburner, of Gleaston, said: 'I am comen to bid thee come downe thou painted beast.' Mary Howgill, of Overkellett, spinster, 'Come down thou wel favored harlott, thou deceavest this people.'" Curwen states that Shaw "ended his days in great Wo and Misery... for the Lord laid his Judgments upon him who was struck into a

Palsie" (Curwen, Relation). The monumental tablet in the church gives Shaw quite a different character.

His successor, Theophilus Amyas (rector 1668—1672), continued the persecution—"another with his Horns began to push, and make War with the Lamb....He was both blind and mad before he dyed.... The next Priest was Michael Stanford who is driving on Pharaoh's Chariots as fast as he can" (op. cit.).

John Curwen was another son of Thomas, the elder. In 1673, at the house of Leonard Fell, he married Beatrix, daughter of the late William Corker, of Ulverston, and removed to Dragley Beck. At his death in 1688 he was "of Lightburn, Ulverston." He may be identified with the man of this name mentioned in the Account Book (169, 174, 176).

- 59 2 The name James Moore appears here and there in the annals of early Quakerism, but we are not yet in touch with information sufficient to connect these isolated data. There was a James Moore, of Kendal, who married Dorothy Story, of Hutton, in 1661, and a James who travelled in Scotland and Ireland (Camb. Jnl.).

- 59 3 The family of Fallowfield appears frequently in the early Quaker records of Cumberland and Westmorland. John was a Cumberland man.

- 59 4 We would gladly know more of this "suite against Todd and Pearson," but no hint of its nature is given in the entries respecting it (15, 31, 59, 231, 234, 235, 251, 255, 481). The services of Richard Preston, of Settle, were engaged (15, 31, 251, 255) and also those of George Wilson, attorney, of Kendal (231, 235, 481). The expenses amounted to rather more than £26.

There seems not to have been any hesitancy in invoking the law for the righting of the wrong or the punishing of the wrong-doer with a view to his amendment.

- 59 5 Christopher Millerson is not to be mistaken for Christopher Miller or Milner (155. 2). There was probably some relationship between Christopher, George (6. 6) and John Millerson.

- 61 1 Hugh Tickell (c. 1610—1680) lived about Portinscale, a village at the foot of Derwentwater, where, presumably, Margaret Fox and her daughter, Sarah, attended a women's meeting in 1674 (101), "Hee was a serviceable Man. Thatt wor[l]dly Riches, which itt pleased the Lord to bestow on him, hee made many pertakers thereof" ("F. P. T."). The Account Book confirms this piece of simple characterization, at least to the extent of loans to his friends (61, 181, 215, 265, 355, 403, 419, 477). He appears to have lost his first wife, c. 1663, by drowning (Swarth. MSS. iv. 263) and, shortly after, he re-married. In 1665, while in Carlisle Gaol, Tickell wrote to his wife, Dorothy, "Let me know how thou gits on With thy Worke and when thou be going to mow" (original in D.). "Hee setled some parcells of land to the use of the poor of the parish" ("F. P. T.").

The present day has also its "Hugh Tickell of Portingscale."

- 63 1 Dinah Lancaster (1656—1718), elder daughter of James Lancaster, was in the employ of the Hall and there are various entries of wages paid to her or of articles provided in lieu of payments (63, 123) in cash. Nine shillings and sixpence in settlement of her wages to 10 Feb. 1673/4 was paid to her on 11 Oct. 1674 (139). In 1678 at Marsh Grange she married John Nicholson, of Cartgate within Pardshaw M. M., Cumberland. Several children predeceased her. From others there was a numerous progeny.

PAGE NOTE

- 63 2 Peter Richardson may have been akin to Mathew (65. 2). He lived at Dalton (132) and undertook legal or public duties (63), such as his daughter was also able to transact (411).
- 64 1 William Walker, of Hawkshead, is mentioned three times, each in connection with the purchase of oats.
The man, so named (250, 258), was probably another.
- 64 2 No further data are available respecting Nicholas Robinson.
- 65 1 John Roscoll had a hand in the mercantile ventures recorded in the Account Book, in which his name is associated with those of Thomas Lower (65) and Joseph Fletcher (108, 138). See 21. 2.
In an article by William Farrar, Litt.D., "North Lonsdale after the Restoration" (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. xii.), there is reference to a Robert Roskell (Gaskell), of Cartmel, yeoman, and in a manuscript in D. (Swarth. MSS. iv. 215), headed "Sufferings 1683 of Swarthmoore," it is recorded that there "came to Swarthmore Hall John Roscall high Constable & John Benson & Thomas Walker Pettie Constables, & Thomas Colton, Richard Fell & Thomas Fell Churchwardens and took...nine beasts in all worth above 30<sup>lb</sup>...y<sup>e</sup> high Constable sold them y<sup>e</sup> same day."
- 65 2 The "Uncle Richardson" frequently mentioned was Mathew Richardson, J.P., attorney, of Dalton. He is mentioned in the will of George Fell, 1670: "I give unto my uncle Mathew Richardson four pounds to buy a ring, hoping for assistance to my Wife & children" (Jnl. F. H. S. viii. 4). His name appears in a list of Justices in Fleming MSS., p. 91. Writing to Lord Ancrum in 1685, Mrs Fox thus refers to her father's family: "My father...had children only me and another daughter" (MS. in D., see Braithwaite, Beginnings, p. 99), so we may presume that her sister became the wife of Mathew Richardson and was the "Aunt Richardson" of the Account Book. There are allusions to Richardson in letters among Thirnebeck Swarth. MSS. John Rous wrote to Mrs Fox in 1669—"I do not think my uncle is any way disaffected towards thee in thy marrying," and about the same time Fox wrote to his wife—"Thou canst speak to thy brother Richardson about these affairs," i.e. the trouble with George Fell.
He sold ore for the forge (65, 79). One year's interest—twelve pounds—was entered in July, 1674, paid by him on £200 borrowed of his niece (108), of which interest she returned five shillings (115). He was feed (395, 398) in connection with the new meeting house at Lancaster (485. 1). Some of his goods were disposed of by public sale at Marsh Grange and Dalton (187, 242, 258). He evidently had property at Roanhead on the west edge of Furness (209, 417, 418, cp. 317, 407) and at Elliscales, near Dalton (437, 439, 446, 455).
Richardson's death took place in August, 1677. No will was forthcoming; administration of the estate was granted to Thomas Ion (349. 1) on behalf of the widow. There are numerous entries in the Account Book of funeral and testamentary expenses (415—419, 431, 503). Wine for the funeral cost £1. 16s. 6d.—over nine gallons—cheese five shillings for 30½ lbs, beer one shilling, and "bisketts." The total of funeral expenses given in the "Declaration of the Account of Thomas Ion Administra<sup>tor</sup> of Goods etc. of Mathew Richardson of the pish of Dalton, Archdeaconry Richmond, Diocese Chester, 22 Sept., 1677," was £5. 10s. 0d. and of legal expenses £1. 10s. 0d.
His effects were sold (417—419, 426, 430, 431, 446, 492), and Richard Simpson, attorney, who advised Sarah Fell on various points, brother of William Simpson, of Flookburgh (433), bought a portion of his law library for 15s. 10d. (446), the total of his books as given in the Inventory being £2. 13s. 4d.

Only after the decease of her uncle does Sarah Fell refer to "Aunt Richardson," who was presumably own sister to Margaret Fox. The "business" (419, 423, 425, 433) had evidently to do with the "Comission of Lunicy" (449), upon which S. F. required the advice of Sir John Otway, Vice-Chancellor of the Duchy (423. 1). The mental condition of Mrs Richardson may be the reason of "the silence that surrounds her name" (Crosfield, Fox, p. 5). S. F. states in documents relative to her uncle's administration that her aunt was "not in a Capacity to intermeddle therewith...nor hath been for many years."

"Cousin Jane Richardson" (213) may have been a daughter of the above couple, but "cousin" usually signifies "niece."

- 65 3 Kirkby Hall, once the home of the Kirkby family, is now a farmhouse. "It is situated a mile from the church at Beckside, on an eminence gently sloping towards the south and it is approached through an avenue of ash and sycamore trees of modern growth." (Barber, Furness, where there is a full account of the Tudor building.) George Fox visited the Hall in 1663 in the days of Colonel Richard, his opponent (Camb. Jnl.).

There is a view of the Hall in D.

- 67 1 For George Caton, see under Mary Caton (49. 1).

- 67 2 There was a family of Pearson living at Bardsea (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n. s. xii), but the prenomem Leonard does not appear.

Another Pearson family lived at Poolbank (Powbank) near Wither-slack, Westmorland, including John (d. 1701) who may be the John of 319, 419 and the Friend who signed the Minutes of the M. M. 9 xii. 1668/9.

- 67 3 Isabel Birkett, of Urswick, is to be distinguished from Isabel, of Peasholme (69. 5), form. Wilson, aft. Brittain. Her mother is mentioned (98). Sarah Fell bought pots of salt butter from her (157, 187, 198). In 1675, shortly after the date of the last entry of "Issabel Birkett" (198), the Registers record the marriage of an Isabel Birkett, of Little Urswick, to Christopher son of William Simpson, of Sunbrick, the noted Quaker preacher (c. 1627—1670/71, see Camb. Jnl.; Jnl. F. H. S. xiii.), perhaps the man mentioned (132, 135). He died in 1681 and his widow married William Holme in 1683. Isabel Holme, widow, died at Lancaster in 1695.

John Birkett, of Urswick, is mentioned several times, in connection with the loan and repayment of money.

- 68 1 Bryan Fell, of the Gill in Pennington, is mentioned several times in connection with payments for the use of a Swarthmoor bull. His son, William, appears once (160), perhaps the same as William the tanner, in Pennington (104. 1).

- 68 2 James Fell, of the Welhouse, was a son of Thomas Fell, of Baycliff, and brother of Leonard (27. 1). His first wife, Sarah, died 1671/2 and in 1676/7 he married Sarah Greenwood, of Brigflatts, Yorks, who died within a few months of her marriage. There were children by the first wife. Fell was a tanner and had frequent business relations with Sarah Fell (68, 71, 330) and with his brother Leonard (250, 446, 450). The sale referred to (467) may have been consequent upon some readjustment of his private arrangements after the death of Sarah the second.

PAGE NOTE

The original marriage-certificate of James Fell, of the Welhouse, and Elizabeth Chamber, of Sedgwick in Westmorland, dated 1682, is in D. There are numerous signatures of persons referred to in the Account Book or the notes thereto—Leonard Fell, Brian Lancaster, John Audland, Junr., Joseph Goad, Paul Penington, etc.

Another brother, Thomas, Junr., of Baycliff, married Mary Goad, eldest daughter of Thomas Goad, of Baycliff, at the house of James, of the Welhouse, in 1676. Mrs Webb states that the Fells of Warrington descend from Thomas, Senr., of Baycliff (Webb, Fells, p. 353).

- 69 1 The name Sarah Benson occurs here and on page 85. The purchase of cloth from two women illustrates the way in which women at this time engaged in business occupations. It would be interesting to know more of the presents sent by Mrs Woodburn and S. B. The connection with other Bensons named in the Account Book does not appear.

- 69 2 Bridgett Cowell was the daughter of John Cowell of Ulverston (18. 11) and of Jane his wife, and was born in 1656. In the Minute Book of Women Friends, there is, in a record written by Sarah Fell, of a meeting held at Thomas Barrow's at Cartmel, 7 v. 1674, a reference to the marriage of James Hathornthwaite and Bridgett Cowell who "would not bringe their Marriage before us according to Gosp[el] order], But in a hasty, wicked ungodly spiritt, went unto A Preist of B[aal] to] bee Married after the manne<sup>r</sup> of the wicked world," which strongly worded Minute brought an apology from James and Bridgett, in which they state: "The Preist said to us, that wee could not heire any of my fathers Estate if wee was not Married by him...And soe Tempted us beinge y<sup>e</sup> wee were yonge and easy to be drawn." This Testimony of Denial they were to "read at Markett & to the Preist that Tempted" them, and "tell him your selves that you owne it to bee true," before the Meeting would receive them again. A copy of this Testimony is in D.

Bridgett Hathornthwaite is mentioned (273).

- 69 3 Nicholas Collinson (Collison) of Ulverston (d. 1708) was a tinker (433). He sold loads of peats to the Grange (229). His name appears frequently in the Record—in 1699 some Friends were appointed "to see Nicolas Collissons hously goods, hous and moss sold...and bring an account to y<sup>e</sup> meeting" (p. 3) "in consideration of his present want" (p. 4). There are various entries of money paid for his "table" to Dorothy Bayliff (pp. 11, 15, etc.).

Dorothy was a Quaker, living at Ulverston, who, as a widow, married Miles Sands, of the same, in 1701, and who died in 1724, once more a widow.

- 69 4 Nicholas Birkett, of Peasholme, married, in 1662, Isabel, daughter of John Wilson, of the same. He died in 1672, some time prior to the date of this entry (69), but our accountant implies the holding of the legacy for some time before its mention here. Isabel Birkett, widow, appears (113) and she re-appears later, as Isabel Brittain (157, etc.), after her marriage with Edward Brittain (508. 1).

The Minutes of the Monthly Meeting record "A Certaine difrance betweene Nicolas Birkett and Will<sup>m</sup> Hawthornthwaite."

- 69 5 More than here given concerning Thomas Wilson of Peasholme (d. c. 1674) has not yet emerged from the past. He was a brother of Isabel Wilson (69. 4). He left a legacy to the Men's Meeting (361). Tobias Wilson, of Peasholme, died in 1662.

PAGE NOTE

- 69 6 Nothing more is known to us of Thomas Barwick, of Cartmel, than these financial transactions. Numerous Barwicks of Shapp were "presented" as "resorters to Quaker Conventicles" in 1670 (Jnl. F. H. S. vi), and a Quaker family of Barwick or Borwick lived at Baycliff (Lancashire Registers). To one of these, Thomas Barwick, of Baycliff, was written a letter by George Knipe, of Rogerground, 3 ix. 1703, upbraiding him for drunkenness. (Author's draft preserved at Cartmel Meeting House.) The loan was contracted by Thomas Lower shortly before the opening of the Account Book (as now existent) and interest of rather over 5 p.c. was paid yearly (69, 211, 395); a refund of principal was made late in 1677 (463).
- 69 7 Thomas Green (c. 1628—1703) lived in Lancaster and acted as forwarding agent for the Swarthmoor family. He is described as "grocer" and "mercier" (Stout, Auto. p. 65). In 1664, he married Elizabeth Drinkall (d. 1713) "who was born in London, but came here to visit her father's country, whereby they came to be acquainted" (ibid. where her character is freely depicted). His sister, Ellen, married Henry Coward (11. 7). According to Stout, Green's family gave him little satisfaction. His daughter, Margaret (1664—1703), visited her maternal grandmother in London in early life (505), married Benjamin Burrow (Borrow), ironmonger, of Lancaster, in 1688 and died, a widow, in 1703, of doubtful character, according to Stout (loc. cit.).
- 72 I Several of the name Stainton appear on the pages of the Account Book. William was of Lindale. There are two Lindales, one midway between Dalton and Ulverston and the other near Cartmel. There was a John, of Pennington (234), a James and a Mabel.
The village of Stainton lies S.E. of Dalton. Valuable finds of tools and instruments of stone and bronze have been lately made in this district and described in Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. xii.
- 75 I "Bardsey, delightfully situated upon an eminence overlooking the Bay of Morecombe, is an ancient looking and quaint little village. The old Hall, on the west of the road leading from Ulverston, built somewhat in the style of a Swiss chateau, was formerly the residence of the Bardsey family. Soon after 1642 William and Christopher Anderton...came to reside at Bardsey" (Richardson, Furness, ii. 39). "Mr Anderton of Bardsea" is mentioned in Fleming MSS. in 1687 and we have found in a legal document of about the same date the name "Christopher Anderton of Bardsey Hall esq." The sixpence of the Account Book was probably given to the servants when Thomas Lower visited the Hall.
- 77 I Presumably different from John Dodgson alias Morehouse (86. 1), though the work done was of a similar nature—digging peat (77, 79, 83), "getting wood in y<sup>e</sup> Mosse" (89), thatching and basketmaking (313).
- 78 I Margaret, wife of James Lancaster (15. 5), though at first violently opposed to the doctrine and doings of the early Quakers, must have later espoused the cause of her husband. She died, a Friend, in 1697.
- 78 2 As noted elsewhere this was William Yeates, of South End in the island of Walney. Money transactions passed through the hands of Mrs James Lancaster (78. 1), who lived in the north part of the same island (78, 86, 105). Yeates bought iron and also shared in shipping ventures.

There were numerous Friends of the name Yeates or Yates in the N.W. of England, but William of Walney has not been found among them.

The island of Walney is separated from Lower Furness by a narrow strait. It is eight miles long and one mile wide. There is a full description of it in Richardson, Furness (ii. 221). Fox's visit to the island was an exciting incident. The local pronunciation ignores the letter l and gives the a a long sound, making the name much as written in the Camb. Jnl. (i. 49, 59, 61)—“Wana.”

78 3 Leonard Gibson, of Dalton, is mentioned here only. No further information respecting him is at hand.

79 1 By his will, George Fell (d. 1670) left to his “uncle Mathew Richardson and to Mr George Hillton four pounds a pise, to buy each of them a ring; hoping for their assistance to my Wife & children” (Jnl. F. H. S. viii. 5). Richardson and Hilton are mentioned together in Fleming MSS. (p. 91). George Hilton of Murton, Westmorland, is mentioned in Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n. s. ix. 193, xii. 104. But we have not found anything to connect him with the seller of the “Ireish beefe” (79), or with the late owner of goods bought at a sale (397).

Bridgett Hilton is mentioned (60).

81 1 “Jn<sup>o</sup> Gardne<sup>r</sup> wife las” and another received between them, for nine days’ work, the sum of one shilling and threepence (81). The former worked in the hay three days for threepence (105). John’s son led peats one day for three halfpence (91).

81 2 Lawrence Lancaster lived at North Scale, Isle of Walney; his relationship to James (15. 5) of the same surname and place does not appear. Ann, a daughter of his, married William Marshall at Swarthmoor in 1697. There are references to “Laurens Lancaster” in the Record, under dates in 1700 (pp. 4, 5, 7).

82 1 Richard Mosen and his wife appear a dozen times in the Account Book. They may have been parents of Dorothy (57.1). Mrs Mosen supplied “carrfulls” of ling (75, 79, 95), and Dick and she bought oats, peas and beans from the Grange. The wife of William Mosen also purchased from Marsh Grange (104, 148).

82 2 This Agnes (Annas) Walker, “of hawxheade” (160), oats-buyer, may be the same as Agnes, daughter of Giles Walker (d. 1671/2) of Walker-ground, near Hawkshead (Camb. Jnl. ii. 67), who married Mungo Nicholson, of Caldbeck, Co. Cumb., in 1677.

82 3 Mary Fell, of Baycliff (—1708) (82, 169, 451), was perhaps the same as the wife of Leonard Fell (27. 1) (363, 371, 458). She appears to have had considerable difficulty with money matters after the death of her husband, Leonard Fell (Record, pp. 21, 23, 31, 38, 40, etc.). In the Record, under date 1707, we read: “Daniel Abraham giveth account that Mary Fell calling to mind that it was her husbands mind to leave 10 pounds to this meeting [Swarthmoor] for a foundation towards a schoolmasters wages shee hath paid that money into his hands for y<sup>e</sup> foresaid service” (p. 46). Earlier, in 1700, Friends were appointed to find some way of securing her debts “in case of mortality” (p. 4).

83 1 The Registers record the birth, in 1654, of Ann, daughter of Robert (d. 1682) and Jennet Dixon, of Old House Beck in Cartmel. “Ann Dixon” left the employ of Mrs Fox in 1674, when she received

- a shilling from Mary Lower, which was borrowed of Sarah Fell (83). There have been Dixons among the Quakers throughout their history. (See Longstaff, Langstaffs of Teesdale and Weardale, London, 1906.) "This is a widely spread name. There are at least three 'Dixon-grounds' in Furness, one at Coniston, one at Dalton and one near Hawkshead" (Satterthwaite, Colthouse, p. 30, quoting Cowper, Hawkshead).
- 83 2 Peggy Corker was probably a sister of John Corker (467. 1). Another sister of John, named Hester, was living in London (481, 504).
- 85 1 This would be Christopher Monck, second Duke (1653—1688), son of George Monck (1608—1670), who came into frequent contact with Friends. These half-yearly payments are recorded several times, though only on this occasion the Duke is mentioned by name (21—"Dukes Rent," 85—"duke of arbamarles Rents," 151, 223, 231—"Kings Rent," 271, 397, 437, 493). The rent paid by Hannah Fell is mentioned (18) and that paid for Joseph Nicholson.
- As to rents generally see Fell, Home Life, p. 3: "I have not found in the family accounts I have examined, any record of rent for labourers' dwellings, and looking to the low rates of wages and the general dependency of the poor, it is possibly a correct inference that no charge in the form of a rent in money was made for the occupation of such dwellings as were provided for them, some return being made in labour." Our Account Book confirms this inference though the book was not available for the compiler of this interesting pamphlet.
- 85 2 In the last decade of the seventeenth century and first of the next, children were born to Roger Woodburn, of Trinkeld, and Sarah his wife, but the Lancashire Registers give naught further respecting them.
- In the Record considerable space is occupied with minutes dealing with a dispute as to money between Roger Woodburn and Mary Fell (82. 3), annis 1703—1708 (pp. 23, 25, 34), into which his father-in-law John Cowell (18. 11) is introduced (ibid. pp. 40, 41, 53).
- There was an earlier Roger who married, in Ulverston church in June, 1672, Susannah Fell (Fell Assoc., Registers). This may have been the couple referred to (85).
- Roger Woodburn, as stated in Thomas Curwen's account of his sufferings for non-payment of tithe (Curwen, Relation, p. 55), was "the Steward of the Court and also Judge; there was a Jury appointed, but he did not put the Action to the Jury, but passed Judgment on it himself; but the Lord shortned his dayes, that he never tried more Actions, but dyed shortly."
- 86 1 Richard Dodgson, alias Morehouse, purchased oats of the Hall (86, 92) and beans from the Grange (114).
- There was also a John Dodgson, alias Morehouse, who was a handy man about the house—graving peats (221, 265, 387, 497), getting briars and drawing straw (243), making baskets and a bet (bed) mat (255, 239).
- Other Johns appear and another Richard.
- 86 2 Several members of the Ashburner family resided at Urswick. Thomas, of Urswick, is repeatedly mentioned (86, 91, 224, etc.), also Thomas, a smith (378, 467), and Thomas "sonn" (52).
- There was an Edward, of Urswick (508).

PAGE NOTE

John Ashburner was a smith (40, 68) of Dragley Beck (300, 418), and Leonard lived at the same place (310).

Richard Ashburner (142) may have been a son of the Richard Ashburner, of Gleaston, who, "because he could not, with a good conscience, pay Tythe to Tho: Shaw of Aldingham Priest, was sent Prisoner to Lancaster where he laid down his life in his Testimony and was buried at Lancaster (suppose 1655)" (MS. in D.).

Richard, of Baycliff, whose sufferings for conscience sake are recorded by Besse and also in Camb. Jnl. ii. 67, died in 1693, a few months subsequent to his wife Agnes.

William Ashburner was to receive thirty shillings for a year's wages, plus a pair of shoes (261, etc.). There are records of his arrest by bailiffs (395, 397).

Lowick, mentioned in connection with William Ashburner, "our man," is situate about six miles north of Swarthmoor. The Hall was then in possession of John Ambrose, "the last of his name in Furness" (d. 1684) (see Richardson, Furness, i. 250; Armitt, Rydal). The history of the Hall is given in Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n. s. x. 500.

- 89 1,2 Rachel Waller (1654—1691) was a daughter of Richard and Elizabeth Waller, of Quarry Flat. In 1679 she married Thomas Townson (15. 3), at Height. Her father died in 1657/8. For her sister, Elizabeth, who married Joseph Sharpe, see 3. 9.

Francis Waller owed Sarah Fell twopence for "a good while," and then his mother had to pay it for him (480)!

Quarry Flat is near Cark in Cartmel. Miles Hubbersty died at the house of Joseph Sharpe, at Quarry Flat in 1675 ("F. P. T." p. 264).

- 92 1 The name of John Fell, of West End, occurs several times. In 1666 John Fell married Ellen Barrett at Ulverston church (Fell Assoc., Registers).

There was a John Fell, of Tarne Close, a weaver of ore bags, etc. (465, 487), a rentee of Pettys barn (462, 484), to whom Sarah Fell lent thirteen shillings and fourpence "fo' 2 : weeks, & longer if I cann spare it" (319), which was repaid in small amounts spread over more than a year (330, 390, 446).

Other Johns are described as of the Bridge End (191), of Marton (334), of "Rademoss in penington" (179).

There was also John Fell, a tailor of Ulverston (217, etc.), and a shopkeeper of the same (447, 458, etc.).

- 95 1,3 Thomas Lawson (1630—1691) was minister of Rampside during the Interregnum until converted to Quakerism in 1652. Fox writes of him in his Journal: "This preist came to be convict & stands in truth & grew in ye wisdom of God mightily...& threw off his preaching for hire & his Chapell & came to preach ye Lord Jesus & his Kingdome freely" (Camb. Jnl. i. 49). His people almost to a man followed him into the arms of Quakerism. To provide a means of livelihood he taught school at Great Strickland. He was one of the most noted herbalists of his day. There are descendants among present-day Quakers.

- 95 2 Richard Fell, of Trinkeld, lent Mrs Fox and her son-in-law "a cart & wheeles to leade peates." She purchased "a new carr" from him for elevenpence (95). He also did some weaving (443, 449, 481, 487). Richard Fell, of Trinkeld, married Dorothy Fell at Ulverston church in 1666 (Fell Assoc., Registers).

PAGE NOTE

- There was a bailiff of the same name who supplied the Hall with manure (447, etc.), single "coopefulls" costing twopence and double twopence halfpenny (469).
- Another Richard Fell lived at Loppergarth in Pennington (176) and yet another was of The Gill in the same district (398).
- 96 1 The entries respecting Robert Barban, of Loppergarth in Pennington, do not reveal much personality and the name has not been found elsewhere. Thomas Lower bought for thirty shillings an acre of meadow from Barban (115) and had it cut (105). Barban returned Lower sixpence (120).
- 96 2 John Holme, of Arrad, here mentioned, is probably the same as appears 61 and 68. Agnes (Annas) Holme, of Arrad, appears 193 and 499, on each occasion receiving a gift of money.
Agnes (Annas) Holme, of Hawkshead, was also assisted from the Stock (157, 307, 410, 414) by loan or gift, "beinge a poore woman."
There was also a John Holme of Dragley Beck (117, 145).
- 96 3 Robert Sanderson lived at Crossamoor, where also resided William Sanderson (218, etc.).
- 96 4 George Fell—another of the family residing on the properties of the Fells, at times called the Row (96) and at others called Row End (104, etc.). (See Fell of Dalton Gate, p. 7.) He applied the sheep-salve received from another of the name (17. 5).
- 96 5 See 10. 2.
- 98 1 Fell of Channelhouse (14. 3) was a branch of the great Furness family.
James is here mentioned and there was a George also (284).
- 99 1 "Jn<sup>o</sup> fell Edwards sonn" is mentioned (99), but, unless he began work at a tender age, he could not be the same as John, son of Edward, of Trinkeld (11. 6). On the same page "Jn<sup>o</sup> fell of Trinkelt" appears and on 132. John, son of Edward and Janet, died 1696 (Fell of Dalton Gate).
- 99 2 This may be an impersonal reference, or it may refer to Andrew Cooper (27. 4), the former is the more probable.
- 101 1 Ellen Collison was a poor Friend, belonging to Swarthmoor Meeting, who received help from the women's Stock (227, 329). Further particulars are not at present to hand. Akin perhaps to Nicholas who was also in receipt of Meeting funds (69. 3).
- 101 2 George Jackson was "Bro: Lowe<sup>s</sup> boy." His mother is mentioned (193) and his brother John (died 1675) who was a cook at Justice Dodding's at Connishead (197, 211, 217, 223, 258). Most of the references to Thomas Lower's boy describe clothing supplied him charged to Marsh Grange account—cloth for shirts, gloves, "dublet and briches," buttons, "Kendall stuffe," stockings, hat, shoes.
- 104 1 William Fell, of Pennington, made frequent use of the Hall bulls. He was a tanner.
There was a William, also of Pennington, a son of Bryan (160).
- 104 2 James Kendall lived at Gleaston, a village some three miles S.E. from Dalton, in the parish of Aldingham. He occupied a house near the ruins of Gleaston Castle (265, 391), the forerunner, perhaps, of the "substantial, well-built modern farmhouse" (Barber, Furness, p. 115), to be seen in an illustration of Gleaston Castle in Richardson, Furness

- (ii. 11). Margaret Fox rented some land called Milldam Meadow from Kendall—some three acres—for which she paid four pounds annually (145, 327, 427—the payment due October, 1675, was doubtless entered on the missing pages of the Account Book). She also hired a barn for an annual rental of five shillings (265, 391, 481). Kendall's wife provided "table" for haymakers at eightpence a day each (105, 295) and Kendall's children gave help for small sums (297, 505).
- 104 3 John Lindow is mentioned once only, with the addition "of arrad foott." The Burial Registers record the decease of John Lindow of Pennington in 1700—Arrad Foot is situated at the opposite side of Ulverston to Pennington. Of the latter John, if different from the former, we read in the Record (6 iii. 1700), "John a Lindow having payd y<sup>e</sup> rectory rent he is to take a further consideration of what he hath don and to conferre with some friends about it again y<sup>e</sup> next meeting." Two months later, Lindow promised "to keep clear from paying y<sup>e</sup> rectory rent," in order to remain among Friends, but in less than two more months death had removed him from them. On the 4th of August occurs this minute: "john Lindow being deceased puts an end to y<sup>e</sup> former minute, but before his death he expressed himself that he payd y<sup>e</sup> said rent out of a slavish fear of going to prison, he being in some intanglement in y<sup>e</sup> world about outward affairs" (pp. 4—7). John Lindow signed the marriage-certificate of Daniel Abraham and Rachel Fell in 1683 (Abr. MSS. xxiv. printed in Jnl. F. H. S. xi).
- In 1653, John Lindow married Jane Fell, of Scathwaite, in the Ulverston church (Fell Assoc., Registers).
- 104 4 William Petty, of Holme Bank, is to be distinguished from William, of the Nook. There is a Holmbank near Urswick.
- 108 1 See 3. 4.
- 108 2 There was a Christopher Atkinson, of Scotforth, near Lancaster, who married, at Height in 1679, Margaret, daughter of Christopher Fell, of Newton in Cartmel, and had issue, but the place of residence makes it doubtful if this is the same as the man mentioned here only.
- 111 1 The term or name "old blue" is not now clear as to meaning.
- 111 2 The Burial Registers record the death of Susanna, wife of Anthony Sawrey, of Sawreyground in 1701. Perhaps Anthony and Susanna are the couple mentioned here. Sawrey is near Hawkshead.
- 113 1 Luke Benson ( —1697) lived at "Oxenholme, near Ulverston." His wife was Dorothy ( —1695). He was one of the inhabitants present, c. 1658, at a meeting at Ulverston, held in connection with Judge Fell's bequest for education (479). (See Fell, Home Life, p. 9.) Some "diffrance" between Luke Benson and Robert Briggs (1. 4) is recorded on the minutes of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting, 1 i. 1691/2.
- The wife of John Benson, of The Steps, appears thrice (194, 259, 369)—probably the same couple thus referred to in the minutes of the Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting, 11 xii. 1672, in the handwriting of Thomas Lower: "fforasmuch as John Benson hath this day bene examined by the ffrriends att this meetinge concerning his Cleerness as touchinge a sheepe w<sup>ch</sup> was suspected to be stolne by his wiffe & some parte beinge founde in his house by y<sup>e</sup> Constable & officers & there beinge a chest locked y<sup>e</sup> keys whereof his wiffe had stolen as hee says out off his pockett; w<sup>ch</sup> gave some suspicion: & fforasmuch as y<sup>t</sup> y<sup>e</sup> saide John Benson did not readily & willingly breake open y<sup>e</sup> said Chest soe y<sup>t</sup> y<sup>e</sup> Constable and ffreinds might be fully satisfied of his innocency," he was ordered to "give forth a paper in publicke condemning his evill in not breakeinge open y<sup>e</sup> Chest to y<sup>e</sup> cleareinge truth from all suspicion." This he did and the paper is given in full in the minute book.

- 113 2 Nothing is known respecting William Hobson, save the place of his residence—Cartmel—and his occupation of weaving. Huckaback is a stout linen fabric with a rough surface.
- 115 1 The sister of Margaret Kirkby (3. 5) was Barbara Ormandy (— 1702) who married John Kirkby (—1680) of Mearebeck in Kirkby Ireleth in 1670/71, when she is described as of "Smithy Green in Newland." In the Record we read: "y<sup>e</sup> 1 of y<sup>e</sup> 1 m. 1701. This meeting appoints Joseph Sharp and John Gawith to go to Barbary Kirby and discourse her and her landlady about her attendance and give an account thereof next meeting"—"y<sup>e</sup> 29 1 m. 1702. y<sup>e</sup> friends appointed have done to barbary Kirby according to order, who is now dead and buryed this day" (pp. 1, 2, 5, 12, 13, 18).
There was a Margaret Ormandy of Lancaster, who married William Woodburn, of the same, in 1671, at the house of Richard Clayton, at "Quarrell Flatt."
This liquid-sounding name, Ormandy, appears somewhat frequently in the Registers and other MSS. of the period in Lancashire, and frequently since in Furness. White's Directory, 1829, gives fifteen persons of the name—clergy, yeomen, farmers, and shopkeepers (letter from H. F. Wilson, of Hull, 1916). The home of the Ormandy family was Newland, a hamlet about one mile N.E. of Ulverston, and the burial-place was Sunbrick.
Agnes was paid fivepence for weeding (289); John, Richard, and Thomas were wallers (311, 481).
- 115 2 Mrs Lower's purchase from Ellen Lee of twelve pounds of flax for thirteen shillings (131), and the cost of its carriage from Lancaster (115), is all that appears respecting this person.
- 117 1 See 26. 1.
It appears that Thomas Lower accompanied Mrs Fox to Worcester in August, 1674 (Journal, bi-cent. ii. 225), and returned some time before Fox's final liberation in February, 1674/5, the news of which reached him at Swarthmoor (Camb. Jnl. ii. 301).
- 122 1 Bryan Osliffe (Oslife) lived at Trinkeld (406). He lent Sarah Fell ten pounds in January, 1674 (174), which was repaid some years later (455). Save his kinsman, William Osliffe (147), others of the name have not been noticed in Furness, but there was a Quaker family of Oslife in Kendal.
- 122 2 Jane Jackson was a widow, of Soutergate, on the western verge of the Furness peninsula. Others of the name Jackson lived at Ulverston, Dalton, Trinkeld, and elsewhere. (See Index.) On one occasion Sarah Fell gave fourpence to the wife of Edward Jackson, of Ulverston, "towards sendinge some children to London" (299)!
- 123 1 Daniel Cooper, of Ulverston, was the son of Edward Cooper, of The Flann in Mansriggs. In 1676 he married, at Swarthmoor Hall, Sarah, daughter of the late George Geldart, of Ulverston, and they had several children. There are frequent references to him in the Account Book—by his agency various articles were carried to and from

Kendal and on one occasion for haste he carried a letter to Lancaster to the post, for which he received half-a-crown (347). He received sixpence for accompanying Sarah Fell to meetings at Dalton and Height (481). A letter from Sarah Meade to her sister, Rachel Abraham, 1683, records the request for Willie Yeamans's old clothes to be sent to James Geldart and Daniel Cooper (Abr. MSS. xxv. printed in Webb, Fells, p. 332), perhaps for Daniel's boy Edward, born 1677. Cooper was appointed by his Meeting in 1700 "to inspect into friends walking according to their professions," and a few months later, with others, to inspect "into y<sup>e</sup> management of y<sup>e</sup> schoole and watch over y<sup>e</sup> children as with respect to their behaviour & carriage out of schoole"—an onerous and responsible position. His signature is appended to minutes of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting. In 1702/3 we have this interesting record: "Daniel cooper haveing acquainted this meeting with his intention of removeing into Ireland with his family, Steven crossfield & John Fell are desired to inquire of sarah his wife how shée is inclined on that account and to report her mind thereupon to y<sup>e</sup> month meeting in case shée be not present." As nothing further appears we may presume that Sarah was in agreement with her husband's proposal! Daniel's son, Edward (1677—1711), had previously removed to Dublin and later he resided in London where he died. Daniel is described as "of Dublin," at the marriage of his daughter, Sarah, with Henry Lucas, of Co. Tipperary (Irish Friends' Marriage Registers).

129 I This was William Yeamans (1669—1697), the third of the name, son of William and Isabel (Fell) Yeamans. His elder brother was William, who died in 1666. On the death of William Yeamans (1639—1674), his widow made her home for some time with her mother and sisters at Swarthmoor. The entries respecting her little son are very interesting. If we may judge by the references to medicine, etc., for him, he was not a strong lad (135, 157, 189, 395); items of clothing occur frequently—garters, hat, sleeves and drawers, gloves, vest, silver buttons, comb, stockings, shoes, etc. (129, 147, 149, 171, 181, 210, 211, 215, 249, 492). His aunt Sarah supplied a primer for his use (139); in June, 1675, he was at Pennington School (223) at the age of six years. He was "a dainty, fine, good-natured child, learns finely; fine and orderly" (Thomas Lower to Mrs Fox, Feb. 1674/5, see Crossfield, Fox, p. 159). He died at the home of his aunt Meade, in Essex, in 1697, aged twenty-eight years.

131 I This may have been John Banks (1637—1710), a Cumberland man, who, in the intervals of his itinerant ministry, "with all Diligence, Laboured with his hands, with honest Endeavours in Lawful Employments, for the Maintenance of his Family" (see his Journal, 1712, p. 34; Camb. Jnl. ii. 466). He was a glover and fellmonger by trade. It appears from his Journal that Banks was at home about this time (p. 184). He removed later into Somerset.

Cumberland cloth is mentioned frequently. It was bought also from Margaret Fawcett (Phasett, ffacett) (61, 125, 303).

131 2 Roger Haydock (1643—1696) was born at Coppull in the shire of Lancaster and became, according to Sewel, "a learned and intelligent man...a man of great parts, well read, and full of matter" (History). He travelled as a preacher some 32,727 miles, according to a computation by his brother, John (see Camb. Jnl. ii. 494).

He assisted Sarah Fell in her cash transactions, the last one (461, 484; see 461. 1) being of great interest.

- 135 I Roger Sawrey ( —1699) resided at Broughton Tower (221. 1), which he purchased in 1657. "His nonconformity was very pronounced and Broughton Tower had many a preaching service there in his day and in that of his descendants" (art. in The Preston Guardian, March 10, 1906). "Brother Sawrey of Broughton Tower" is mentioned in Lewis's History of the Congregational Church, Cockermouth, 1870, pp. 67, etc. In his early soldier-days he was known as "praying Sawrey." He had twelve children, seven of whom died in infancy. See Nightingale, The Ejected of 1662 in Cumberland and Westmorland, 1911.
- 135 2 Holker Hall, near Cartmel, became the home of the Prestons at the dissolution of the monasteries. From the Prestons it passed by marriage to the Lowthers and is now the property of the Cavendish family. Little, if any, of the old Hall remains—the scene of the gathering of local notables when George Fox refused to take the oath, in 1663, depicted by John Pettie, R.A., in his fine painting (see Quaker Pictures, 1st series, 1897; Camb. Jnl. ii. 391).
For reference to the Hall, see Jnl. F. H. S. vi. 55, art. by William R. Nash, of Cark in Cartmel; Richardson, Furness, i. 37; Cartmel Almanac, 1909.
- 137 I There is but scant information available, so far as we know, respecting the Hudleston family of Millom. There was a Joseph of this period who had been captain of horse in the Royalist army and there was a Joseph Hudleston, of the Millom family, who, in 1674, resided at Scogarth Barn. He may have been a son of Sir William Hudleston, of Millom Castle, whose daughter, Isabel, married Col. Richard Kirkby (c. 1625—1681), c. 1655 (Camb. Jnl. and authorities there cited).
The gift to Thomas Lower here mentioned reveals, among other such (see 25. 5), a bright spot in the dark days of persecution.
Scoggerbar is near Whitbeck in south Cumberland.
Information from W. G. Collingwood, M.A., F.S.A., 1916.
- 138 I There are three entries for Henry Woodburn. He is described here as "of Croglam." His messenger, with presents for the Grange from Mary Woodburn, was rewarded for her trouble (189), as were the maids of Roger Woodburn under similar conditions (85). See 25. 5.
A few years subsequent to this time there are references in Swarth. MSS. to Mary Woodburn and her depredations. Besse styles her "tithe-farmer" (Suff. i. 325). George Fox, writing to his wife from London, 26 viii. 1684, on various rumours of persecution at Swarthmoor, adds: "I hear that Mary Woodburn sent a comp<sup>a</sup> to break in y<sup>e</sup> house & broke into the barns, & seized a Mong<sup>r</sup> of Corn, and has droven away all y<sup>e</sup> rest of y<sup>e</sup> beasts & not left so much as a Cow to give thee Milk" (MS. in D., printed, with errors of transcription, in Webb, Fells). In a letter from Mrs Fox to Daniel and Rachel Abraham, from London, 7 xii. 1684/5, we read: "We Can give noe account what will [become] of Mary Woodburns busyness till our Motion C[omes] on" (printed in Jnl. F. H. S. vi.). And in a letter from Rachel Abraham to Mary Lower, c. 1701, occurs this passage with reference to a dispute between the family and Woods and Woodburns, which ended in favour of the former: "If the tryall had gone otherwise it would have bene hard for us to have Continued hear for the Woodburns & a Deall of wicked peopple to would have had this Estatt sqandered amongst them" (Thirnbeck Collection, xxiv. printed in Jnl. F. H. S. ix.).

In 1683 "Marg<sup>t</sup> ffox was at 30<sup>lb</sup> Costs in her defence Agst Mary Woodburn Concerning small Tithes 40<sup>s</sup> demanded" (Swarth. MSS. iv. 215).

- 141 I Sarah Dodding (—1679) was the widow of Col. George Dodding, a friend and fellow-worker of Judge Fell, and mother of Miles Dodding (15. 8). Her death is noted in Fleming MSS. Sarah Fell borrowed forty pounds from her (141, 203). (See Bardsley and Ayre, Ulverston.)

- 147 I Christopher Readman, hatter, of Kendal, is mentioned here only. The family went north as well as south for head-wear (see 166. 1).

- 149 I Much has been written on the family of Askew (Ascough) of Furness, notably on the question of the connection between that family and Askew of Lincolnshire, a quo Anne Askew (or Kyme) the martyr (1521—1546). Mrs Webb, in her Fells of Swarthmoor Hall, causes Margaret Askew (afterwards Fell and Fox) to descend from the martyred Anne and she has been followed by other writers on Furness including the editor of the North Lonsdale Magazine (see vol. i. no. 11, February, 1896). The supposed connection is not now generally held. (See The Askews of Marsh Grange, by Brownbill and Gaythorpe, in Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. x.; Braithwaite, Beginnings, p. 99.)

The Askew family was seated at Marsh Grange, Kirkby Ireleth, for many generations. At the time of the Account Book the house was occupied by the Lower family, but "the many branches of the Askew family both in Furness and Cumberland make it an extremely difficult task to state precisely the connection of one with the other" (Harper Gaythorpe, op. cit.).

On the case of Thomas Askew we may remark that although the Friends were (and are) prepared to ignore any law of which their conscience disapproved, they were not backward in placing themselves under the protection of the law for the punishment of evildoers.

- 154 I One transaction only introduces the name of William Bickerstaff to our notice, but this informs us that he belonged to the Fylde district of Lancashire and that he purchased iron from the Fell forge.

There is not any record in the Lancashire Registers of a William Bickerstaff, but the death appears in 1708 of John Bickerstaff, of Thornton, near Poulton-le-Fylde.

In Fishwick's History of Poulton-le-Fylde there is a record that, in 1702, the bridge between Thornton and Poulton—Skipool Bridge over the river Wyre—is "ffound to be very ruinous and in greate decay for want of repairs," and amongst the "supervisors of the saide bridge" was John Bickerstaff, of Thornton. We may infer from this that iron from the Fell forge might well have been ordered for the repair from time to time of Skipool Bridge and that John's brother, William, was engaged in this sort of work.

Among extracts from the Parish Registers of Bispham, given in Fishlake's History of Bispham (near Poulton), occurs the baptism of "William, son of William Bicarstaffe of Great Bispham, 1662, Feb. 8."

The Fylde district of Lancashire (pronounced Filed) is the stretch of flat, low-lying agricultural country situated between Preston and Fleetwood—the ancient towns of Kirkham and Poulton are within its compass.

Note by Dilworth Abbatt, of Preston, 1916.

PAGE NOTE

- 154 2 Samuel Kilner's name is principally associated with payments of money as principal or interest. The interest given was at the rate of about 6 p.c. He supplied forty-seven bushels of oats for one of the trading voyages to Cornwall (427). His home was Sunbrick. He was executor of the will of Robert Allatson (40. 4).
- 155 1 Christopher Woodburn was a smith by trade (411). He provided an iron pot weighing over a score of pounds paid for from the women's Stock and lent around among Friends, to each "as long as firends sees fitt" (155).
William Woodburn was a butcher (246) and John and Thomas were in the employ of Mrs Fox (213, 271).
- 155 2 Christopher Miller (Milner) ( —1695) lived at Baycliff. The Registers contain entries of the births and deaths of children of Christopher and Elizabeth, the last slightly prior to the death of the father. His widow lived till 1729. There is an entry in 1701 of the birth of Jane, daughter of Elizabeth, of Baycliff, spinster, servant to James Satterthwaite, of Greenend.
Christopher and Elizabeth Milner signed the wedding certificate of Daniel and Rachel Abraham, in 1682. Christopher's signature was occasionally appended to minutes of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting, 1672, 1673.
- 157 1 William Rigge (c. 1636—1712), of Colthouse near Hawkshead, was "convinced" in the year 1672, and shortly afterwards became a preacher and "travelled much in the work of the ministry both in this nation and in Scotland, although he was a very tender-bodied man and troubled with a sore cough for many years" (Piety Promoted). His wife Elizabeth died in 1682, and in 1686 he married Ann Tomlinson, who died in 1714/15. The signature, William Rigge, appears on minutes of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting, 1692, etc.
If the above-mentioned was the same Friend as appears in the Account Book, it is interesting to note facts in the private life of a public Minister. He is described as "a poore friende of Hawxhead Meeting" (169) and his children were in receipt of money from the women's Stock (157). He was engaged at the Hall on gardening (197, 253, 379, 413).
"The Riggess were very numerous in the district and few farms were not at one time or another inhabited by a Rigge." Satterthwaite, Colthouse, p. 36.
- 161 1 "The Braithwaites appear to have been the most numerous clan in the Hawkshead valley between 1568 and 1704; during that period their name is mentioned 2,513 times in the Parish Register" (Satterthwaite, Colthouse, p. 29; see also Armitt, Rydal). Members of this family were among early converts to Quakerism and others to-day are prominent Friends.
William Braithwaite, of Pennington, was in the frequent employ of the Hall for threshing and other outdoor work, for which he received payment at the rate of about three half-pence a day (167, 173, 187, 255, etc.).
See also 237. 1.
- 163 1 Most of the references in the Account Book to Edward Hird make mention of supplies to him of clothing, some part of the expense of which he repaid (40). Four yards of "course cloth" were bought for him "for A frocke" for two shillings and sevenpence (163); Matthew Fell (20. 5) made it up for twopence (167); "hempe thred" for it cost one penny (187). Sarah Fell acted as his banker (315).

PAGE NOTE

Hird, of Gascow (the home of Robert and William Harrison, 15, 288), is mentioned (15), and there was John Hird also, who was hired for a year for twelve shillings and a shirt (215).

In the Registers is an entry of the death of Edward Herd, of Ulverston, in 1701.

- 163 2 This was Richard Lower, M.A., M.D., F.R.S., F.R.C.P. (1631—1690/91), the most noted medical man of his time in London, and physician to Charles II. He was of great assistance to Friends, though never one himself (Camb. Jnl.; see also Webb, Fells, pp. 245, 247, 261, 287, 289, 412; D. N. B.). He was brother to Thomas Lower, of Marsh Grange.

- 163 3 There are some sixty references by Sarah Fell to her personal servant and helper, the boy Tom Harrison. The majority of entries refer to clothing which his mistress supplied him in great variety—clogs (167), breeches, doublet, stockings (173), “a sheepe skinn for pocketts” (197), a leather apron (351), a red waistcoat (423).

He was sent on various errands—to Kendal (231), into Cumberland and to York with Mrs Yeamans (249, 311), to Bootle (295). His money was carefully guarded from slipping away, for at frequent intervals he seems to have emptied his pockets and handed the odd coin to Sarah Fell “to lie by for him” (234, 246, 274, 296, 330, 350, 426, etc.). We do not find any entry of money returned to him; the only reference found to his money on the right-hand page of the Account Book refers to a transaction with his father (335). His education was not neglected (163). He was presented with a knife, which cost 3½*d.* (433) and with 6*d.* to buy himself beer on a specially trying occasion (401). One shilling “Poll money” was paid for him (497).

John Harrison, Tom’s father, is mentioned as such on two occasions (190, 335). Whether he is one with John Harrison (257, etc.) does not appear. The latter was “our man,” receiving wages at irregular intervals.

Robert Harrison was also an employé of the Fells (79, etc.).

- 166 1 James Bancroft was a hatter, apparently of Lancaster (88). He purchased lambs’ wool from Sarah Fell (88, 125), returning it in the form of hats (166, 204). Quarterly Meeting was the time to have Friends re-hatted (169).

- 169 1 There is some connection, not at present evident, between the Elletsons (Robert and John), of Stennerley, and Jane Colton frequently found in the Account Book (25. 3). Field produce was purchased from Robert for Jane (169, 170, 180, 184, 186, 194) and from John (174, 190).

George Elletson, of Swarthmoor (died 1657), is mentioned occasionally in Swarth. MSS.

Elletson also appears as Allatson.

Stennerley is situate about 4½ miles north of Ulverston.

- 169 2 Penny Bridge is a village on the river Crake, four miles N.E. of Ulverston. Its geographical position at the head of the Ulverston Sands would make it a suitable transfer station for goods to and from Low Furness north or south (169, 187, 399). Some members of the Penny (Penney) family resided there (Stout, Auto. pp. 48, 49; see 33. 1). “About 1587 Richard Penny of Lowick moved to the old ford of Crake. Either Richard himself, or his son James, built a bridge. It was styled Crake Bridge and Penny Bridge, the latter name prevailing” (Bardsley, Ulverston, p. 114).

PAGE NOTE

- 171 I William Askew, of Arrad Foot, was a horse doctor.
Another Askew, John, lived at Angerton, and Christopher is also mentioned.
Arrad Foot is N.E. of Ulverston, and Angerton lies S. of Broughton.
- 174 I In addition to John Lindow (104. 3), there is a Thomas Lindow, of Scathwaite, who purchased "an odd steere" from the Grange in 1674 (174—177), and a Henry Lindow, of Rossett (? Rosthwaite), whose name appears on the debit side of the Account Book only in connection with the raising of stock. Henry Lindow's name occurs in legal documents of the late seventeenth century, also William Lindow, of Smithy Green.
- 179 I Edward Harrison must have been a man of means, or rather his wife Susannah, née Fletcher, to lend Sarah Fell one hundred pounds. The previous payment of interest may be found (39). Susannah's brother, Joseph Fletcher, is mentioned several times.
The names of Joseph Fletcher and Edward Harrison are among other signatures of parishioners of Cartmel and elsewhere, "conformable to the Church of England," who testified that Lawrence Newton (481. 1) was a Quaker and not "inclined to popery."
- 181 I Was the "Wiff fell" who was sent to prison at local expense the same as the man referred to in the following "Account of the Sufferings of ffreinds of Swarthmore Meeting the 8th 9th & 10th months Annoq 1683"; "ffirst vpon the 9th day of 7th month Come George Garner & William ffell two Informers one of them had been in Lancast<sup>r</sup> Goale for stealing of sheep, and y<sup>e</sup> other a woman Confessed she had stooлен seven years for him & was hanged at Lancast<sup>r</sup>" (Swarth. MSS. iv. 215)?
Was this Informer the same as William Fell the Bailiff (10. 2)?
- 183 I Nicholas Browne was a miller, from whom Sarah Fell bought "dust to feed swine with" (183, 197).
Ann Browne sold manure to the Hall (13, 209, 387, 429).
John Browne led ore (411, 413, 475, 479, 493, 501). Part of his time, when his usual work ceased, he was employed at Marsh Grange (447).
- 183 2 The occupations of the two men named Singleton were curiously diverse.
John carried on the milling business at Orgra (Orgrave) Mill, in the parish of Dalton. "The inhabitants of the parish of Dalton (which included Barrow and Walney until the year 1867) were constrained at one time to have all their corn and grain ground at one of the four prerogative mills known as Orgrave, Little, Roose, and New Mills" (Furness Fiscal Formalities 150 Years Ago, in Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. ix. 287; see also Armitt, Rydal, pt. iv. ch. v.).
Robert Singleton was a chimney sweeper (251, 375, 473, etc.) and was paid at the rate of twopence per chimney. Mrs Fox and her three daughters clubbed together to assist Robert to replace a lost cow (437).
- 184 I Considerable search and research has failed to discover the identity of Mary Lancashire.
- 187 I David Poole lived at Preston, a sugar merchant (230, 255). Our present knowledge of this man is from internal evidence only.
- 187 2 Richard Rawlinson was probably one of the family which, according to Mr Richardson, "may lay claim to be considered as one of the very few representative families of High Furness, whose names have remained through centuries upon the roll of the landed gentry of the district" (Furness, i. 124). Lawyers' fees were small in those days—he charged sixpence "for making A Lett<sup>r</sup> of Attorney" (481). With John Nicholson (431) he "apprized" the "inventory of the Goods and Chattells of Mathew Richardson, Esq<sup>r</sup> Decd," 2 August, 1677.

- 190 I The precision of our accountant is here manifested—she occupies two lines with the record of the payment of a debt of one halfpenny for part of a cabbage sold! The money was received from Agnes Lange (190), but on the other side of the account An Lange's name appears in connection with this transaction (171).

James Lange (243, 485) and Lawrence (483) also occur.

Stank is a small place lying south of Dalton.

- 190 2 See 169. 1.

- 191 I Thomas Berry is only known to us from this entry. "The Grainge" is not the Lower home which is called "Marshgr:".

- 193 I See 207. 3.

- 195 I Several children of John and Mabel Gunson are entered on the Friends' Registers; parents living at "Tarneshouses," within Hawkshead Meeting. It was a family of small means, as Mabel received help from the Stock (195, 223, 235, 297, 307) at irregular times and in irregular amounts. In August, 1676, part of the family left the district for Ireland (303), and next spring the mother and three children followed (375). Collections for them were made on both occasions; on the latter, part of the money granted was returned to the Stock (398).

- 195 2 In a letter from Sarah Fell from Swarthmoor to her mother in town, dated 18th of 12th Month, 1674, we read: "ffather & Bro: Lower ordered thy white horse, to be brought from Worster to Will<sup>m</sup> Gandies, where hee stayes till thou give order whether hee shall come home, or stay there till thou thinke to come downe." It was decided to send him back home (195).

- 201 I Mary Walker was a Friend, of Hawkshead, and assisted in the distribution of the women's Stock (201, 375). She also span yarn for Mrs Lower (211, 217). There was a Mary Walker, spinster, of Walker-ground, near Hawkshead, who died in 1698, and is entered in the Friends' Registers.

- 207 I The family of Gawith (Goath, Gowith, Gouth, etc.) of North Lonsdale and Westmorland is mentioned about forty times in the Account Book.

Richard Gawith was a schoolmaster and tutor to Willie Yeamans. The payments were small, but we do not know the number of hours of instruction given (171, 207). Money was advanced him towards his expenses when in prison (434, 435) and Mrs Fox sent him five shillings (463). No further reference to this imprisonment in Lancaster has been found.

There was a John Gawith (—1709) who married Elizabeth Fell (—1717), of Row End, in Ulverston church in 1657 (Fell Assoc., Registers). They lived at Next Neas in Plumpton, near Ulverston. Stephen, their son, who died in 1698, was, probably, the apprentice of John Shaw (249. 1). Mrs Gawith had frequent dealings with the Hall in wheat, fowls, bread, etc.

"Little John" was one of Sarah Fell's protégés. She bought him shoes and clogs (283, 362, 449) and a knife (469) and took charge of his pocket money (326, 330, 351). He would have to spend sparingly seeing he received one shilling only for a month's harrowing and other work (263).

Will Gawith was presented by Susanna and Rachel Fell with a hat (425) and the three sisters paid part cost of shoes for Peggy Gawith (249, see 258). If Peggy was the same person as Margaret (453), she belonged to the Grange. A Margaret Gawith from Furness removed to Cork in Ireland in 1688 (Jnl. F. H. S. viii. 87).

Stephen Gawith was a saddler (463, 485).

The wife of Miles bought wheat at the Hall (238, 278, 358, etc.).

At a later period Joseph Gawith (—1746), also of Next Neas, was a schoolmaster at Swarthmoor. In 1705 he was appointed "to teach school y<sup>e</sup> next year for y<sup>e</sup> summe of 9 pounds which friends are to make up to him by collection; and he is to have y<sup>e</sup> benefit of other scholars coming either from friends of other meetings, or such as are not of our society" (Record, p. 37).

The name Gawith is still well known in Westmorland and district.

- 207 2 The following, from The Second Period of Quakerism (1660 to 1725), by William C. Braithwaite, 1919, p. 90, may serve to illustrate the importance of the King's speech at this period:

"In these last days of life Parliament developed a powerful opposition, under the dangerous leadership of Shaftesbury, who had turned against the King and was bent on forcing a dissolution. As early as the spring of 1675 this was in the air; and the Morning Meeting advised as follows:

That Friends in the several counties seriously consider together and be unanimous about giving their voice in election of Parliament-men to appear or not appear therein as in the wisdom of God they see convenient and safe.

That such moderate and indifferent [i.e. impartial] men, as they are free to give their voice for, first be advised to sign to Friends this or the like engagement, viz.:

1. To be for a general Liberty of Conscience for all to worship God according to their persuasions.

2. To endeavour, to the utmost of his power, to remove all oppressive and Popish laws that are for coercion or persecution about religion."

- 207 3 This appears to be the only notice of John Parke, of Scales. John, of Urswick, is mentioned (288). John Parke (231) was doubtless a member of the firm of carpenters, "Willm Parke & his Sonns" (445, 505). The signature, John Parke, foots minutes of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting, 1693, et seq.

Thomas Parke was a wheelwright (455).

Margaret Parke was employed at the Grange (139, 193).

- 209 1 Of John Spooner nothing more appears. The horse brought by him out of the county of Durham may have come from Headlam, the home of Bridget Draper, née Fell (493).

- 213 1 "Cousin Jane Richardson" may have been of the family of Mathew (65. 2). "Cousin" usually implies nephew or niece. The circumstances of her departure for Ireland and the gifts made her are not known.

- 214 1 William Beck, of Lanthwaite (Lonethwaite) and Hawkshead (1641—1734), was brought to Quakerism, with his parents, about 1652, and early became a preacher. His outward occupation was that of skinner (367) and glover. In 1666 he married Dorothy Mackreth (307. 1) and had issue. According to a Testimony written by his friends, he suffered from blindness in his later days. His signature occurs frequently to minutes of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting.

- 218 I Millom is situate at the south extremity of Cumberland, west of the Duddon. Near here was the home of a member of the Miers family (120, 218, 496). There are curious anonymous references to "a woman of millam" (288, 386, 398) and to "a man of millam" (204, 218, 220, 450, 466, 476).

Millom Castle, dating from 1335, was at this time the residence of Sir William Hudleston (137. 1; Camb. Jnl.). It is now in ruins.

- 220 I Thomas Penington, of Hawkshead (—1706), was arrested at a meeting at that place in 1665 and sent to prison for refusing the Oath (Besse, Suff. i. 316). He (or another of the same name) signed with his mark a document relating to Hannah Fell, dated 1678 (Abr. MSS. xxiii. printed in Jnl. F.H.S. xi. 161, 162).

- 221 I Broughton Tower, Broughton-in-Furness, is situate at the head of the estuary of the Duddon and commands a superb view. It was the home of the Sawrey family, one member of which, John, Colonel and Justice, was noted in early Quaker history as the opponent of George Fox (see many reff. in Camb. Jnl.). At this time it was the residence of Roger Sawrey (135. 1).

It would be interesting to know more of the sisters' visit to the Tower. The Hall and the Tower had both been sheltering places for wandering preachers.

- 224 I "The name of Satterthwaite occurs many times in the Hawkshead Parish Register which commences its record in 1568. Only two families (Braithwaite and Rigge) appear to have exceeded it in numbers. The name is supposed to be derived from the two Norse words sacter = a mountain farm, and thveit = cleared land. Hence we infer that the original Satterthwaites came from Scandinavia. Tradition paints them and their Quaker descendants of the 17th century as strong bony men with aquiline features, sandy hair, and grey or blue eyes. From the rarity of the name in Britain we suppose that few of the men left their native valleys. One however went to America in 1734 and his descendants are very numerous. Although the clan was well settled in 1568 in various villages and hamlets mostly as yeomen and tanners the genealogical records of the present representatives do not go farther back than Clement, of Coulthouse, born about 1600, who died in 1654 (H.P.R.), and two of whose sons, William and Edward [398. 1], joined the Society of Friends" (Elizabeth J. Satterthwaite, of Hawkshead, 1916).

There was a Clement, contemporary with the above, one at least before him, and some after him. One of these was Clement, son of George, of Skinner How, who married in 1678 Margaret Braithwaite, daughter of Robert, of Oxenfell, and died apparently in 1703. He had several children. He was probably the man who paid £1. 7s. 6d. for "bigg" (224).

- 227 I It may be presumed that "his" refers to Thomas Lower.

In a country so unsuited to vehicular traction the use of equine labour was universal. There are many references to horses in general or by name in the Account Book.

Mrs Fox's white horse was frequently shod (53, 77, 85, 213, 223, 237, 245, 297), the cost varying from one penny to one shilling, and he came under the care of the doctor (95). (See 195. 2. For other horses of hers see 65, 129.)

PAGE NOTE

Sarah's mare is mentioned (77, 85, 95, 111, 139, 223) ; "my old Gray mare" (99) ; "litle gray horse" (153, 275) ; "Susans galloway" (95, 171) ; Marsh Grange "bay mare" (147, 189).

There was Robin (41, 235, 259, 273, 295), and Dick (233), and Bonny (29, 135, 171, 187, 263), and Sumpter (49, 135, 179), and Page (177).

Various mention is made of the illness of and medicine for various horses (41, 49, 51, 59, 135, 179, 187, 263).

See 343. 1.

- 227 2 "Cousin Rachell yeamans" was Rachel, daughter of William and Isabel (Fell) Yeamans, the "cousin" denoting niece. A copy-book belonging to this little maiden is still extant (in D.) and in it has been written the following : "R: y: deceased about y<sup>e</sup> 5th houre in y<sup>e</sup> morneing vpon y<sup>e</sup> 21: day of y<sup>e</sup> 4: month being y<sup>e</sup> 4th day of y<sup>e</sup> weeke: 1676." Her death is recorded (285).
- 229 1 Christopher Harris seems to have been a carrier between Preston and Furness.
There was frequent communication with the towns in Lancashire proper. At the Preston fair of November, 1675, a pair of oxen was bought for the Hall and another pair for the Grange—total cost £19. 1s. 6d. (227, see also 149). Considerable purchases of sugar were made at Preston (145, 229, 255).
- 231 1 George Wilson was an Attorney, of Kendal, engaged in connection with the law-suit Todd, Pearson, and Kirkbride (481 ; see also 231, 235).
John Wilson may also have been a lawyer (174, 343, 351).
- 231 2 Bernard Kirkbride, of Cumberland, was concerned in the law-suit Todd and Pearson (59. 4).
There was at this period and later a considerable Quaker family of Kirkbride, living at Kirkbride, Co. Cumberland, and there are Quaker Kirkbrides now resident in the United States (consult Mahlon S. Kirkbride, Domestic Portraiture of our Ancestors Kirkbride, 1650—1824). The name Bernard has not been found elsewhere.
- 233 1 Towards the close of 1675, Ann Standish appears on the scene from the south of the county. Her clothes cost fourpence to bring (233), which amount she repaid some months later (270), and one shilling and elevenpence was paid to "fetch over" herself (237). Clothing was supplied (331). Ann's service at the Hall was, however, unfortunate, for before the year-close she had lost a silver spoon and broken a pot. Hence, when paytime came, instead of receiving wages in full—£1. 17s. 6d.—she received but £1. 9s. 0d. (333). Small wonder that "shee went away" a few days later, on which occasion Rachel Fell, perhaps out of sympathy with the treatment she received, presented her with a shilling (337).
- 234 1 Nothing further is known respecting Thomas Everick, of Kendal. It was a long, overland journey for iron-plates from Bristol viâ Kendal to Grange. There is no record found of the money being handed on.
- 235 1 Pennyman was a well-known surname in the annals of early Quakerism, borne by John Pennyman (1628—1706), younger brother of Sir James Pennyman, of Co. York, and a stout opponent of orthodox Quakerism, but it is to us a discovery to find the name in Furness.
- 237 1 Edward Braithwaite, "our Man," is often mentioned from the autumn of 1675 onward. He was in receipt of wages at the rate of fifty-five shillings a year (281), paid in various instalments (257, 269, 327). With scrupulous accuracy various halfpence owing him, or owed by him, are entered (267, 274, 278, 281, 284) as also larger amounts (438, etc.). He was careful of the money of his employers (259, 387). Mrs Fox sent his mother a small money gift when Edward "went home" (493).

This was, perhaps, the Edward Braithwaite, son of Thomas, of Sawrey, Hawkshead, who married Agnes Wailles (23. 5), daughter of James, of Kirkby, in 1679. The death of Edward Braithwaite, of Rosthwaite, occurred in 1719.

John Braithwaite, "cousin" to Edward, is also mentioned (323, 330), and a brother, John (434).

Ellen Braithwaite (—1691), of Cartmel, widow, is mentioned thrice in connection with the purchase of a cow for her from the women's Stock (281), which money was returned as she had received a bequest from an uncle (306, 311).

The wife of George Braithwaite, of Field Head (363), was Agnes Braithwaite, who died in 1679. George, of Field Head, waller (or mason), died in 1694.

- 237 2 This may have been Thomas Langhorne (—1687), of Helton-dale, near Shap, Westmorland (Crook is in this county). In 1671 he married Grace Whitehead, of Shap. The Westmorland Registers contain the entry of the births, in August, 1766, of Harmless Sufferer and Innocent Prisoner, children of Thomas Langhorne, of Helton, one born on the eighth day of the month, and the other on the ninth, perhaps at the time of one of the many imprisonments of their father. In 1684 Langhorne emigrated to Pennsylvania with his wife Grace and two children. His son, Jeremiah (1672—1742), became Chief Justice of the Province. His wife survived him. See "F. P. T."; Whiting, Memoirs, 1715, p. 175—"he went to Pennsylvania (which bereav'd England of a great many good Friends,)" where "he died (more's the pity)."

The Registers note the death of a Thomas Langhorne, of Helton, in 1685, so there must have been two of the same name in the same place.

- 238 1 See 207. 1.

- 239 1 Stephen Smith (1623—1678) was of Pirbright and Worplesdon in Surrey. He became a Friend in 1665 and was a writer and preacher and a man of substance. His wife was Susanna Purse (c. 1623—1693). See Camb. Jnl. and his published works—The True Light—1679.

- 239 2 Bray D'Oyley (—1696) came of a proud and ancient family, but renounced worldly advantages on acceptance of Quaker principles (Camb. Jnl.). His residence, The Manor House, Adderbury West, Oxon, is still standing. (See Biographical...Account of the House of D'Oyley, by Bayley, 1845.)

Payment for the care of travelling preachers' horses was a considerable item in early Quaker finances. (See an article on the subject in Friends' Quarterly Examiner, 1912, p. 482.)

- 241 1 Margery, second daughter of Thomas and Mary (Fell) Lower, was born at Marsh Grange on the 31st of December, 1675. In 1700/01, she married, in London, Benjamin Robinson, of that city, and died in 1706. There are interesting references to this marriage in Webb, Fells, p. 402.

For money-gifts at child-birth, see 3. 12.

Margery Lower's nurse is mentioned (259, 271, 275, 307, 323, 359). Medicine was bought for Margery (253), a penny rattle (321), and "3: little potts" (363).

PAGE NOTE

243 1 Edward Nightingale was a merchant living in Ousegate, York (Swarth. MSS. iv. 147). He is especially remembered as one of three Friends of York (the others being John Cox and John Hall) who headed a split among the Quakers in that city, c. 1681. John Taylor (c. 1637—1708), Quaker preacher, writes: "About this time Edward Nightingale, John Cox, and Jo. Hall proved great Troublers to the Church, and set up a separate Meeting...which broke Unity, and divided our Meeting" (Journal, 1710, p. 39). Contemporary literature on this Separation is extant in D. and under the care of Friends in York. (See Braithwaite, Second Period of Quakerism, 1919, p. 476.)

243 2 See note on page 242. Had we the pages missing from the beginning and end, and from other portions of the Account Book, more valuable information would probably have been ours.

243 3 This entry and another (321) make a valuable distinction between Sir Thomas Preston of The Manor and Thomas Preston of Holker Hall.

Sir Thomas Preston (1643— ) was the last of the "Manor of Dalton" line. By his first wife he had no issue and when his elder brother, Sir John, died, s.p., in 1661, Sir Thomas married again, but on the death of his second wife, 6 June, 1673 (Fleming MSS.), without male issue, he retired, in 1674, into a Jesuit House (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. xii.). His estates were confiscated by the Crown.

A list of "Jesuit priests accused of being of the council at the White Horse Tavern in the Strand, for the murder of the King" is given in Fleming MSS. under date of November, 1678, and includes Sir Thomas Preston.

For the Manor, see 6. 1.

Thomas Preston (1601— ) of Holker Hall (135. 2) was a distant relative of Sir Thomas of The Manor. He is mentioned in Camb. Jnl. as "olde Preston of Hooker" (i. 360) and sometimes as "Justice Preston," "Thomas Preston of Holkar," or "olde Preston" (ii. 38, 39, 62, 105). Thomas Preston's wife was Katherine, daughter of Gilbert Houghton. When George Fox was in Lancaster Castle in 1660, "there came ye olde Preston of Hookers wiffe & a great company with her : & shee used many abusive words to mee & tolde mee my tongue shoulde bee cutt out & I should bee hanged : but ye Lord God cutt her of & shee dyed in a miserable condition" (Camb. Jnl. i. 360). When writing later of events in 1666, Fox says: "Olde Preston was then high sheriffe... Prestons wiffe & son & daughter since dead" (ibid. ii. 105). Sir Daniel Fleming has an entry in his accounts (Fleming MSS. p. 375), under date of 1665/6, Feb. 14: "Given in the house at Holker when my wife and I went to my cosin Preston's Lady's funeral oo. 08. 10." This was doubtless the lady whose encounter with Miles Halhead, Quaker preacher, is recorded by Sewel (Hist. sub anno 1653). See also Hodgkin, Book of Quaker Saints, 1917, chap. xiv.

Thomas Preston the younger (1648— ) was heir to Sir Thomas of The Manor and on the death of the latter he succeeded to the title. His first wife was Mary, daughter of George Dodding, and his second a daughter of Sir Roger Bradshaigh. There was no issue by the first wife and no male issue by the second. He was brother-in-law to Miles Dodding (15. 8), see Atkinson, Testimony against Tythes, 1678, where father and son are described as persecutors of the Quakers. "Thomas Preston Justice & parliam<sup>t</sup> Man" is styled by Fox, in a letter to Friends in 1690, "a Shallow Airy Man" (original in D.).

- 246 I Probably the same as Margaret Howgill of Kendal, against whom, with others, a suit was brought in 1671 for nonpayment of tithes by the Vicar of Kendal, William Brownsword, author of The Quaker-Jesuite, or, Popery in Quakerisme, 1660 (Fleming MSS. p. 88).
- 247 I Two of the name Thomas Gardner appear in the Account Book: Thomas, of Dalton, a smith (390, 393), and Thomas, of Grayrigg (247). The latter is probably the same as Thomas Gardner, of the Abbey in Lambrigg, who died in 1690, that place being near to Grayrigg, some miles north-east of Kendal. His wife was Anne —. He is mentioned in Besse's Sufferings, under Westmorland (ii. 35).
Grayrigg has always been a centre of country Quakerism.
- 249 I The Westmorland Registers record the death of Anthony Shaw, of Kendal, cordwainer, in 1677.
John Shaw, of Kendal (—1699), also traded in shoes (459). In 1668 he married Agnes Groasdale. In 1682, apparently, he married Phoebe Wharton (d. 1684) and in 1685 he married Rebecca Barrow (d. 1725). By all wives he had issue. His apprentice, Stephen Gowth (akin, doubtless, to Stephen (463, 485) and perhaps the son of John and Elizabeth, who died 1698), is mentioned in minutes of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting, i vi. 1693. Forty shillings premium was promised his master and paid in instalments.
- 249 2 "cousin Ra." was probably the same as "Cousin Rachell yeamans" (227. 2), niece of Sarah Fell and Mary Lower.
- 251 I In Dr Henry Barber's Swarthmoor Hall and its Associations, 187—, we read: "Adjoining the chief chamber on the second floor is a small room or closet with a door opening directly in the wall outside, over the door on the ground floor. This opening is a puzzle, but it may have communicated with a balcony...and we are told that the celebrated reformer was accustomed to address those who assembled to hear him from this place, when the limited size of the dining hall obliged the crowd of persons to repair to the garden for want of space." The references here and on 303 ("high belcony"), 327 and 331, to a balcony and the repairing of the same, seem to confirm the above suggestions and the entries in the Account Book come within the period of Fox's sojourn at the Hall (1675—1677).
The present occupant of the Hall, Miss Emma C. Abraham, descendant of Rachel Fell of the Account Book, has had a new balcony constructed in place of the old one long since disappeared.
- 257 I William Taylor (—1698), the same presumably who lived in the "Crooked Quarter," Aberdeen, where he was a useful Friend (Jnl. F. H. S. viii. 66, 72, 75). He was a man of some means, contributing substantial sums to his Meeting (ibid. p. 113). It is recorded that he was an Englishman by birth, but lived more or less in Scotland for thirty-four years. His wife was Margaret (letter from William F. Miller, formerly of Edinburgh, 1916). He visited Swarthmoor at times (Webb, Fells, p. 316).
- 259 I William Penn (1644—1718), the far-famed founder of the Province of Pennsylvania, was very closely associated with George and Margaret Fox and the Fell family. He went on a preaching tour in Holland in 1677 with Fox and he was the first to communicate to the widow the sad tidings of Fox's death in 1690/1—"surely in great mercy to him, but an evidence to us of sorrows coming" (Webb, Fells, p. 362). For his visit to Swarthmoor in 1676 "a fatt sheepe" was prepared (263).

- 259 2 John Blaykling (1625—1705), a prominent early Quaker, lived at Draw-well, a farmhouse still standing near Sedbergh, N.W. Yorks. At his house was held the great meeting in 1676, referred to in the next note.
- 259 3 The early Quaker community was at this time divided into two opposing parties—the general body led by Fox and others was for law and order in the Church and the party, led by John Wilkinson and John Story, both Westmorland men, of those who claimed the supremacy of private judgement in religious matters (see Rowntree, Micah's Mother 1893; Jnl. F. H. S. i.). This conference at Draw-well filled an important place in the Controversy; numerous Friends were present, including William Penn, Robert Barclay, the three from Furness (259), and John Steel (whose remarkable account of the part he took may be read in The Irish Friend, ii. (1839), 27). See Braithwaite, Second Period of Quakerism, 1919.
- 261 1 Ralph Fretwell (—1686) was “one of the chief Judges of the Court of Common-pleas” in Barbados (Besse, Suff. ii. 291) until his adoption of Quaker principles compelled his retirement. He suffered much in body and estate. Letters from him to George Fox and others are extant (in D.). Mrs Fox had relations with the Island of Barbados through her son-in-law, John Rous (389. 1).
- 265 1 Elizabeth Briggs may have been the daughter of Robert and Elizabeth who was born in 1656. Several entries of wages paid her are found in the Account Book. In 1678 her services were transferred from the Hall to the Grange (493), on which occasion Sarah Fell gave her fourpence, and Margaret Fox a “Wastcoate” (495, 497). Among the witnesses to the marriage of Daniel Abraham and Rachel Fell in 1682 was Elizabeth Briggs (Abr. MSS. xxiv. printed Jnl. F. H. S. xi. 164).
- Ann Bayley was in the employ of the residents at Marsh Grange, save for four months spent at the Hall, for which she received ten shillings from Mrs Fox and one shilling from Sarah Fell (377). Her salary at the Grange was eighteen shillings and ninepence for one year and sixteen weeks (379). Various articles were brought for her, including cloth and serge, sky coloured yarn, shoes, and a black handkerchief (265, 371, 374, 378).
- 267 1 Jane Salthouse (—c. 1676), mother of William (3. 8) and Robert (30. 5), is mentioned, without name (65, 209). Interest was paid regularly through one or other of her sons on ten pounds lent to Sarah Fell and the principal repaid.
- 70 1 Paul Penington (d. 1719) was of Sunbrick. The Registers give dates of birth of children of Paul and Ann, of Sunbrick, 1656, 1657, and later, and of the marriage of William, son of Paul, with Margaret Hall, in 1688, at the house of Joseph Goad at Baycliff. Paul signed the wedding certificate of Daniel and Rachel Abraham in 1682 (Abr. MSS. xxiv. printed in Jnl. F. H. S. xi. 164) and that of James Fell, of The Welhouse, in the same year (original in D.). In 1660, with others, he was arrested and lodged in Lancaster Castle, “without any Warrant, Mittimus or Examination before a Magistrate” (Besse, Suff. i. 308). The name frequently occurs in the Swarth. Suff.—in 1683 “they tooke from Paule Penington of Sunbrick, shomaker for 6<sup>s</sup> fine for him & his wife absente 3 weeks 5 paire of Shoos & a peece of Leather worth 09 00,” and in 1691, “Willm Tompson of Bardsay tyth farmer vnder the Priest Tompson took out of his meadow hay worth two shillings.”

- There was another Paul Penington, son of Robert and Agnes, of Satterthwaite, born 1652.
- 275 I The first wife of William Penn (259. 1) was Gulielma Maria Springett (1644—1693/4), posthumous daughter of Sir William Springett, and his wife, Mary Proud, afterwards wife of Isaac Penington (1616—1679), of London and Co. Buckingham. She married Penn in 1672.
- 285 I Of Ann Daniell, whose kind attentions at the death of little Rachel Yeamans (227. 2) received acknowledgement (285), nothing more is known to us.
- Edward Daniell, of Leeds (488), was probably the Leeds Quaker of that name, living in Meadow Lane. In 1666 he married Elizabeth Mather, of Wellingborough, and had issue. Elizabeth Daniell died about 1672 and her husband in 1695.
- 288 I There have been members of the Leatham family at Ulverston for several centuries. Jennet, daughter of William, of Ulverston, married Andrew Fell (18. 4) in 1654. She had a brother, William (Fell of Dalton Gate). There was a Quaker family of Leatham in Yorkshire at a later date.
- 288 2 Nothing further respecting Bridgett Linder is at hand.
- 291 I Was this Abigail Howgill, to whom Margaret Fox gave a shilling as a leaving-present, the same as Abigail, daughter of Francis (355. 1) to whom in 1666 he addressed an affectionate letter of advice, often printed?
- 292 I The name Lampitt is reminiscent of the Commonwealth minister of Ulverston, William Lampitt or Lamvet (d. 1677), who came into violent opposition to George Fox on the latter's first visit to Swarthmoor, in 1652, as narrated at large in his Journal (esp. Camb. Jnl.). The dates, however, prevent the assumption that this was his widow. Palmer, following Calamy, writes of him—"a warm and lively preacher. After his ejection he lived obscurely beyond the Sands, and died in 1677" (Nonconformist's Memorial, 1802, ii. 378).
- 293 I John Fell (—1687) lived at Highgate, Kendal. In 1673 married Alice Cook and had issue.
- The Fell sisters seemed fond of bright colours—stockings were dyed for them "Sea greene" and "sky coule" (293). A heavy bill for dyeing was paid John Fell in May, 1678 (493).
- 296 I James Taylor (d. 1687), of Newton in Cartmel, was an early Quaker travelling preacher (Camb. Jnl.), and also an interested local member. His signature "James Taylior" to the minutes is of frequent occurrence in records of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting, 1688, and onward. The relationship, if any, with Mary Taylor, of Cartmel, does not appear. Mary Taylor, of local residence, is mentioned several times in Swarth. MSS.
- 296 2 Perhaps the same as William Pull, of Moorehow in Cartmel, who died in 1698 and was buried at Height. The signatures "Willm Poule" and "Will Pull" occur in the minutes of Swarthmoor Monthly Meeting, 1672.
- 299 I Three persons named Wylde are mentioned in the Account Book. Anthony was the medium for the payment of brandy, etc., for several members of the family (299, 300).
- James was in the employ of the Hall, several entries referring to payment for wages (59, 81, 91). In the summer of 1674 he had the misfortune to lose "a couple of Rabitts" while taking them to Edward

PAGE NOTE

Cooper's, for which he was charged ninepence. We are not told whether the rabbits were dead or alive (96). Perhaps for this mis-doing he was not only fined but discharged, for under the same date there is an entry of his wages "in full" amounting to 15s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. (99), and his name disappears. Sarah Fell's rule was strict.

William Wylde is mentioned once (258).

- 300 I Perhaps the early Quaker preacher, Samuel Thornton, who suffered imprisonment in York Castle and other places (Besse, Suff. ii. 108, 155, etc.). He is mentioned in The History of the Life of Thomas Ellwood, 1714, and may have been the "Thornton" described as "Satans seedsman" in A Brief Relation of the Irreligion of the Northern Quakers, by Francis Higginson, 1653.

- 307 I Dorothy Beck was the eldest daughter of John Mackreth, of Sawrey Infra, and married William Beck (214. 1) in 1666, at the house of James Rigg, of High Wray. She found part of her service for her friends in the distribution of funds belonging to the Women's Meeting. She departed this life in 1716. Her signature occurs in the minutes of the Swarthmoor Women's Monthly Meeting, 1700 and later.

The wife of James Beck is mentioned (30).

- 307 2 The Birth Registers for Lancashire reveal the existence of a William Weever at Hawkshead, to whom children were born in 1672, etc., but there is no further trace of him among marriages or deaths.

There was a Quaker family of Weaver seated at Poulton, near Preston, of which one member was William (d. 1697/8; buried at Brewers Yard Burial Ground, Little Eccleston, for which place see Jnl. F. H. S. iv. 37).

- 309 I No person of the name of Leonard Potter has been found outside the Account Book and no further reference to the name within it.

- 311 I See 115. 1.

- 315 I Robert Linton (c. 1633—1716) lived at South Shields, County of Durham. His wife was Joan Perrot (c. 1631—1715). His family married into the local families of Lisle, Hunter, Jackson, Tyzack, etc. In the first year of William and Mary his house was registered as a meeting place for Quakers (Steel, Friends in Newcastle, etc. 1899, p. 12, see pp. 8, 20, 39).

Of George Linton, probably a brother, it is recorded in the original Register: "1661. George Linton of North Shields, dyed in North Shields, and, by the furry of the tymes, was by relations and souldiers caryed away from friends, and lyeth buried in the down end of Tinemouth Kirk, the month and day not certain, but it was as 15 thought, in the xi or xii month" (Sykes, Local Records, 1833, i. 112).

- 317 I There are two Bibles still extant, connected with the Swarthmoor family. It is not now possible to say which is here referred to.

One is preserved in a glass case at Swarthmoor Meeting House. It is a copy of the "Treacle Bible" printed by Richard Grafton in December, 1541. On the front of the wooden brass-bound cover is the inscription "The gift of George Fox to this Meeting." There is a lock and chain attached (Barber, Swarthmoor Hall. Cp. Historical Catalogue of the British and Foreign Bible Society, 1903, vol. i. p. 31).

There is another Bible connected with George Fox, preserved in the Friends' Reference Library at Devonshire House, London, E.C. It is a genuine Cranmer of November, 1541. It was presented to the Society by Paul Bevan in 1835, having passed through several hands. Inside is an illuminated inscription, "George Fox's Book." It is

- mentioned in The History and Antiquities of Furness, written in 1777, by William Fell, S(chool) B(oy), aged eleven years, printed in 1887: "There is a curious Bible belonging to Swarthmoor Meeting. It is written in German Text. Lord Abraham sold this Bible to a Stroller, the Stroller sold it to one Collinson of Lancaster and the Bible was bought by my father who keepeth it still in possession." This reference to its different owners does not quite agree with the inscription in the book.
- 318 I The Lancashire Registers note the death of Lettice, wife of William Towers, of Ulverston, in 1689, and of William Towers, of the same, in 169-.
- William Towers, of Bleansley, has not been found.
- 322 I There was a William Penny, a yeoman, of Sunbrick, about two miles S. of Swarthmoor, circa 1614 (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n. s. xii. 244), and another of the name, at Broughton in 1650 (ibid. n. s. ix. 291).
- The father of Alan Penny (33. 1) was William and also his brother. See 33. 1; 169. 2.
- 326 I Further respecting James Robinson, of Underbarrow, is not forthcoming. Underbarrow was a notable centre of early Quakerism. It is situate three miles west of Kendal.
- 334 I Nanny Holme, of Hawkshead (334, 390), may be the same as Annas Holme, of the same place (96. 2).
- 334 2 Thomas Sanderson ( —1690) lived at Marton (Martin), a village two miles north of Dalton. In 1679, at Marsh Grange, his daughter, Ellen (d. 1685), married Abraham Clayton (Cleayton) (1658— ), son of Richard, of Gleaston (34. 3) and had issue. Jane, widow of Thomas, died in 1713.
- 335 I Frances Laite was midwife to Mary (Fell) Lower, when she gave birth to her son, Humphrey, on the 30th of November, 1676 (335) and also at the birth of Loveday (439. 2), which took place on the 9th of October, 1677 (439), both at the Grange. As was usual on such occasions (241. 1) money gifts were presented. A loan to Frances Laite was also arranged later (451).
- Little Humphrey was provided with cradle-strings (345), and his nurse was Barbara Ion (450. 1). He died in 1679.
- 338 I Helen Dundas was the wife (or perhaps, by this time, the widow) of William Dundas, a man of some importance living near Edinburgh, of whose conviction to Quakerism there is a full account in Sewel's History, and of whose conviction he himself writes that he "was whipped to it by the Merciful Rod of the Lord; for no less could do it" (A Few Words of Truth, 1673).
- In January, 1683/4, Helen Dundas was living in the north of Scotland; she describes herself as "Helen Dundas, widow of William Dundas of Maidlands." See A Dictionary of Names of Persons, etc. by W. F. Miller (MS. in D.).
- 338 2 Edward Mann was a prominent London Friend, a hosier at the "Sign of the Golden Lyon," near Bishopsgate. George Fox visited him several times towards the close of his life at his country house in North Middlesex. (See Camb. Jnl.)
- The difficulties of the transfer of money from one part of the country to another, frequently illustrated in this Book (e.g. 59, 203, 207, 467, 471), are further seen in a letter from William Satterthwaite, of Hawkshead, to George Knipe, dated 20 iii. 1705: "I have been speakeing to severall for a bill on some in the City to pay five pounds to thee upon sight & I offred to pay it downe here but I could not find any that would charg a bill payable upon sight but would have had 2 or 3 weeks time after sight & I was talkeing to Robt Gurnell about it & hee tell mee that Isreall Nuby is att London & he believes will ly downe the money soe I desire thee speak to him & desire him to lett thee have 5<sup>li</sup> if hee can & I will pay it here to his order upon sight...of Any that will charge a bill upon mee here I will pay it downe for it Lyes by me..." (original in possession of Society of Friends, Cartmel, copy in D.).

- 338 3 John Elson (c. 1624—1701) lived at the sign of The Peel, in Clerkenwell, London. He was a carpenter by trade and a prominent Quaker. See Camb. Jnl. The Peel Meeting House is still in use.

- 338 4 There is a considerable hiatus in the list of Vicars of Pennington given in Richardson's Furness (i. 177). The name of James Mount will add one to this list. In 1650 "Mr John Crooke" was Vicar (Barber, Furness, p. 200).

There was a James Mount, of Bardsea, who was a carter (7, 40).

James Mount, of The Foes, is mentioned (251).

In 1663, James Mount married Agnes Fell, of Ulverston, in the parish church there.

- 342 I There was a Quaker family of Stott living at Skipton, within Knaresborough Monthly Meeting, one member of which was John, a weaver, who married Abigail — circa 1658 and died in 1681.

- 343 I The extensive and continual travels of George Fox were generally taken on horseback and there are numerous references to his horses and to his care for them. On one occasion whilst travelling in Wales in 1657, he records: "I turned butt my backe from ye man y<sup>t</sup> was giveinge oates to my horse: & I looked back againe & hee was fillinge his pocketts with ye provender y<sup>t</sup> was given to my horse: a wicked theiveish people to robbe ye poore dumbe creature of his foode which I had rather they had robbed me" (Camb. Jnl. i. 280, see also 279, 367).

Thomas Lower's horse cost £7. 10s. 0d. (211).

- 349 I The name Ion (I'on) has not been found in the Lancashire Friends Registers, but it was (and is) to be met with outside Quakerism in that county. In Westmorland, however, there was a Quaker family of Ion resident in Ravenstonedale in the eighteenth century (Nicholls, Ravenstonedale, vol. ii. 1915), one member of which, Mary, married Anthony Thistlethwaite, of Dent, in 1779 (Thistlethwaite Family, 1910, p. 18). Elizabeth, daughter of Rev. Peter Ionn, of Wolsingham, Co. Durham, married into the Quaker family of Dixon, c. 1820 (Langstaffs of Teesdale and Weardale, 1906, ped. 14). "Mr John Ion of Kendal," anno 1720, appears in Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. ix. (see also n.s. i. ii. iv.).

Thomas Ion, father of Barbara (450. 1), was in charge of the administration of the estate of Mathew Richardson (65. 2). He is described in the documents relating to this administration as "of Marchgrange, par. Dalton." Sarah Fell's acceptance of Ion's position is as follows: "These are to signifie That I doe allow, and am willing, that the Administration, of my late vncle Mathew Richardsons Estate bee granted & Comitted, to Thomas Ion: ffor my Ant is not in a Capacity to intermeddle therewith, nor with any other concerne, nor hath been for many yeares.

"Sarah Fell.

A bond was issued to Thomas Ion, William Simpson (see 417, 423, 433), of Flookburgh in Cartmel and John Blaykling (259. 2) in the parish of Sedbergh, "conditioning that Thomas Ion Administrator... make a perfect Inventory of Goods, etc...& exhibit...unless any will or Testament do afterwards appear."

- 351 I Miles Strickland was a cooper, of Dalton, doubtless related to William of the same (49. 2). He owed Sarah Fell twopence from 30 January, 1676/7, to 9 November, 1677—about nine months.

- 354 I Arthur Cooke was a prominent London Friend living in New Gravel Lane, Ratcliff Highway, especially connected with the finance side of early Quakerism (MSS. in D.). He was also a sufferer for his religious convictions (Besse, Suff.), and was liberated from Newgate Gaol with nigh five hundred others by the "pardon" or patent of Charles II in 1672 (see list in The Christian Progress of George Whitehead, 1725).

- 355 I A collection of the writings of Francis Howgill (1618—1668/9) was printed in 1676, under the title The Dawning of the Gospel Day, and its Light and Glory Discovered, and reached Swarthmoor towards the close of that year (355). It was a bulky folio tome of over 750 pages. We can fancy the pleasure of Fox in receiving this record of his late friend and comrade-in-arms in a spiritual warfare. For Howgill see Camb. Jnl.

- 362 I Ellis Hookes (c. 1630—1681) was the salaried Secretary of the early Friends—the first of a long line of "Recording Clerks," fifteen in number, from 1653 to the present time. His principal work, the value of which increases as time goes on, was the collection and recording of accounts of sufferings such as here alluded to. On two occasions "clapp bread" was sent him from Swarthmoor (447, 499).
Camb. Jnl. ; Jnl. F. H. S. i. ii. v. ; Braithwaite, Second Period of Quakerism, 1919.

- 363 I We are not told whether the emigration of Richard Robinson and children was to East or West Jersey. Towards both provinces there was a large body of Quaker emigrants, as the new country was under the protection of Quaker owners, and the advantages of residence therein had been freely circulated in print and by word of mouth, as, e.g. in An Account of New Jersey in an Abstract of Letters, printed in 1676 (copy in D.) and in an Abstract or Abbreviation of some few... Testimonies from the Inhabitants... London, 1681, described in The Friend (Phila.), lxxvii (1903), 52. Also the ballad literature of the day took notice of this emigration :

To New Jersey with speed
Come all Friends that need
Wealth, or large Possessions ;
The Indians we'll make
To serve us and Quake,
And be slaves to our Professions.

(Firth, American Garland, 1915 ; Bate, Declaration of Indulgence, 1908, p. 141.)

The Cumberland Registers record the birth of children to Richard and Jane Robinson, of Blencogo, near Wigton—Richard in 1654 and Joseph in 1658—and the death of Jane in 1674. But Blencogo is considerably north of Bootle.

- 371 I In The Journal of George Fox, we read that its author left Swarthmoor for further labours on the 26th of First Month (March), 1677, and on that date his daughter entered in her accounts that £5 had been handed to him for his journey (371). His boxes were forwarded to London (379, 381).

- 377 I No record has been found among Quakeriana of the name Twisaday or its many variants. A request for information (see Notes and Queries, March and April, 1916) has produced the statement that the name was not uncommon in Furness in the seventeenth and previous centuries. It was also frequent in marriage licences and parish registers between Blackburn and Carlisle (letter from W. Clement Kendall, of Lancaster, 1916). In Rusland church (N. Lancs) there is a modern stained glass window to the memory of Edward Twisaday (letter from H. F. Wilson, of Hull, 1916). The name seems to have settled down to Twisaday (Twiss'aday) since about 1763 (letter from Charles E. J. Twisaday, of London, 1916, who wrote that he knew no other of the name save his immediate family).

- 379 I There were two Friends living in Bristol at this time named Charles Jones, father and son. Their trade was soapmaking (Besse, Suff. i. 69 ff.). Bristol soap is mentioned (359).

There are several references in the Account Book to the newly-coined piece of money—the guinea. It appears to have been freely bought and sold. This coin was minted in 1662 from gold from Guinea by "the Company of Royal Adventurers of England trading into Africa," and the pieces were marked with an elephant, the trade-mark of this Company. Pieces of the value of five guineas, two guineas, and a half guinea were also coined. The first value was twenty shillings (254), but the price soon went up to twenty-one shillings and sixpence (18, 378, 379, 484), and in 1694 to thirty shillings owing to the deterioration of the silver coinage. In 1698 the value came down to twenty-one shillings and sixpence and in 1717 to twenty-one shillings. The guinea was last coined in 1813 and the sovereign took its place in 1816 (Ency. Brit. s.v. Guinea; Story of the British Coinage). Sarah Fell received guineas from such distances as Bristol (379, 382) and Scotland (455). (See Webb, Fells, p. 332.)

"2: p<sup>ces</sup> of gold" are mentioned (174) and half-crowns (406, 459), some coins being "bad" (155, 378).

The following is copied from Abr. MSS. It is endorsed by John Abraham (1687—1771), grandson of Margaret Fell: "An Acc<sup>t</sup> of some Gould of my Dear Mothers. 5 peices left her by my own Dear Grand ffather Judge fell," and by Sarah Fell: "Gold of Rachell Fells &c. 1676."

- 382 I Thomas Dockray (Dockrey, Dockra, etc.) (c. 1632—1711) was of Cumbrian birth but in middle life settled at Cove in Silverdale, N.W. of Carnforth, and spent some time at Swarthmoor where he was engaged collecting and copying letters and papers (Camb. Jnl.; Webb, Fells, p. 329). In 1683 he married Agnes, daughter of William Waithman, of Lindeth, in Warton parish, who died two months later than her husband. Daughters of theirs married into the Fell and Brockbank families. There was a Thomas de Docwra in Cumberland in the fourteenth century—there are Docwras among Friends to-day.
- For the meeting at the house of William Gandy (461. 1) Dockray was fined twenty pounds; in 1682, at a meeting in the barn of Richard Atkinson, of Farleton, Westmorland, several present were fined on account of a preacher who, according to the warrant, had “fled” and “his habitation unknown.” But the fact was that Dockray, the preacher concerned, had gone to the magistrate’s house and left his name and address, saying that he was of ability to pay his own fine, for which reason he desired it might not be imposed upon others (Besse, Suff. ii. 28, 29).
- 387 I Further respecting Jane Gregg is not at hand. She was obviously a Quakeress, assisting in the distribution of the women’s Stock. Miss Armitt mentions several Greggs (Grigg, Greig, etc.) in her book on Rydal.
- 387 2 No mention beyond this has been found respecting Ellen Walker. The services of James Walker for the community were the milling and dressing of material (173, 321, 357, 455 and also 261) for household use. He is described as a “Walkster” (359, 362, 365), one who works a fulling mill, or walk-mill, from which occupation doubtless his patronymic was derived.
- “Both the smelting of iron and the fulling of cloth were, in former times, extensively carried on in those valleys of Lakeland that drain their water into the great Bay of Morecambe. But the two industries did not apparently intermingle. Lancashire threw itself into the iron trade...Westmorland devoted itself to the trade in woollen cloths... The stretching and drying of the cloth upon tenters could be done on barren, rocky ground, worthless for agriculture. Enterprising fullers would find in our mountain valleys not only an abundant water power for their mills, but cheap land to be had for their drying grounds” (Armitt, Fullers and Freeholders of Grasmere, in Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. viii.).
- Others of the surname were Hugh (151), John of Burtree-steel (149), and Miles of Dalton (270).
- 389 I Bethiah Rous, the fifth child and eldest surviving daughter of John Rous (367) and his wife Margaret, eldest daughter of Thomas and Margaret Fell, was born in 1666, at Swarthmoor, and in 1692 she married David English (d. 1703), of Pontefract, Yorkshire, at Devonshire House, in London.
- John Rous (d. 1694/5) was a native of Barbados. He was a merchant in London with a country house at Kingston-upon-Thames (see Camb. Jnl.; D.N.B.; etc.).
- 393 I The Manx family of Callow appears only in the later pages of the Account Book, but the Swarthmoor family had close acquaintance with Friends in the Isle of Man. William Callow (c. 1629—1676) wrote from Peel Castle, during imprisonment for conscience sake, in 1664, and, after being banished the Island, he penned a letter from London to Margaret Fell in 1668 and to Sarah Fell in 1671, after his return home to Ballafayle (Swarth. MSS. printed in Jnl. F. H. S. vi.). In the last letter he orders from the forge "a gredle, not over broad but ordnary...and a 100 or halfe a 100 of Iron...I shall Returne thy mony ether in goods or monys ; for allthough I have been an old houskeeper, yett a new beginer almost as ever, all things being decayed & out of order at my coming home." By his wife, Anne (c. 1633—1708), he had three children—Robert, who married Eleanor Stockdale (doubtless the "sonn" who appears (393)), Ann and Margaret. Ann was the daughter mentioned in the Account Book, the entries under her name referring to the provision of wearing apparel for her—a tailor-made "wastcoate" (427), a blue apron (473), a shift (477), a "pare of shoes" (479).

Records of Manx Quakerism are to be found in Besse's Sufferings; Callow's Concise History, 1899; art. by Thomas Hodgkin, D.C.L. in Friends' Quarterly Examiner, vol. 42 (1908).

- 395 1 We have no further particulars of this law-suit Gibson v. Ashburner. There are various references to William Ashburner, "ou' serv<sup>t</sup>" (397), "ou' man" (497), including two of an involved financial character (459, 461).
He is to be distinguished from William Ashburner, of Urswick (122, 155, 504), and from William Ashburner, alias Raliway (110, 148, 180).
- 395 2 Henry Kelly's home was at Dalton (271). Each of the four references to him relates to his portorage of goods—letters, gloves, oranges, "stinking Arach" and "litle Canes"—from London and in each entry the sender was Thomas Curwen (271, 367, 395, 489). For carriers, see Armitt, Rydal.
- 398 1 Edward Satterthwaite ( —1707), son of Clement, of Colthouse, was a tanner and farmer of Town End in Colthouse, having married in 1665 Dorothy, daughter and heiress of George Braithwaite ( —1681/2) of Town End. He had issue. His sufferings are recorded by Besse (Suff. i. 311, 329, ii. 26). His wife died in 1678, and in 1680 he married Agnes Nicholson, "widow and relict of Mongo Nicholson, late of Wood Hall." She was a daughter of Giles Walker, of Walker-ground, Hawkshead. In the entry of his second marriage, Edward is described as "Tanner and Widdower."
The Dorothy of page 363 would almost certainly be the above named, although there was another Dorothy Satterthwaite (wife of George of Skinner How) at the time.
- 399 1 The town of Barrow is situate at the extremity of the Furness peninsular, opposite the Isle of Walney. The place has grown to its present proportions owing to the wealth of iron ore in the district. In the Account Book Barrow is mentioned but once—in connection with the carrying of iron to the place for shipment (399).
"The smelting of iron...was in former times extensively carried on in those valleys of Lakeland that drain their water into the great Bay of Morecambe...The centres of Ulverston and Dalton threw themselves into the iron trade, and the ore found so abundantly in their neighbourhood was carried considerable distances by packhorses, for smelting in the forest" (Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. viii. 137; see also Trans. first series, v.—"Bloomeries of High Furness," by Rev. T. Ellwood and Messrs H. S. Cowper and W. G. Collingwood).
There are many entries of money connected with the purchase of iron-ore and its smelting in the Swarthmoor forge or "bloomary" (see Index, s.v. forge, iron, ore). George Fox had money in the business.

PAGE NOTE

In 1671, William Callow (393. 1) asked to have made "a gredle in y<sup>e</sup> forges, not over broad but ordinary, and send it me and a 100 or halfe a 100 of Iron" (Swarth. MSS. see Jnl. F. H. S. vi. 11).

William Wilson (6. 4) was "fforge clarke," and Reginald Walker (6. 5) was also connected with the forge.

- 403 I The Women's Meeting at Coppull in S. Lancashire to which Mrs Fox and her daughters went, and the expenses of their attendance at which are here set out, was doubtless the same as mentioned in Jnl. F. H. S. i. 31, from which an epistle was sent, dated "y<sup>e</sup> 20th of y<sup>e</sup> 4 month, 1677," and signed by Margaret Fox, and by Sarah, Susanna and Rachel Fell. It was probably also the same as the "quarterly meeting at Copley," mentioned in a letter to Margaret Fox dated 5 viii. 1677 (see Webb, Fells, p. 298), which issued some pronouncement regarding tithes.
- 407 I William Meade (1628—1713) was the future husband of our account-keeper, whom he married, as his second wife, at Devonshire House, London, in 1681. They had one son, a lawyer in London, who became Sir Nathaniel Meade, Knight (1684—1760). Meade's first wife, Mary Lawrence, died in 1679. He had considerable property and much local influence in the county of Essex (Camb. Jnl.; D.N.B.; Braithwaite, Second Period of Quakerism, 1919; William Mead, Quaker, and his Relations, by Henry J. Mead, 1918; etc.).
- 413 I George Fox departed on a religious visit to Holland and Germany in July, 1677, accompanied by his step-daughter-in-law, Isabel Yeamans, and others, and returned in October. It is evident, however, and interesting to notice, that other matters, of minor importance, also engaged the attention of the party. In August "some Ireon oare" was sent to Fox (413), later a box arrived from Holland containing maps and cheeses (443, 459) and Rachel Fell bought a Dutch spinning wheel from Isabel Yeamans for ten shillings (477).
- 419 I Thomas Waite ( —1695) was a prominent Quaker, of York, a bookseller and publisher, and local agent for the publications of Friends (Jnl. F. H. S. ii. v.).
- 423 I Sir John Otway ( —1693) lived at Ingmire Hall, near Sedbergh. He was educated at the famous school at that place and was knighted in 1673. He was Vice-Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. (See note in Camb. Jnl. i. 450 and Index to Jnl.)
The odd sevenpence was probably the present to Sir John's man for the purpose mentioned in the entry. The journeys to Sedbergh (417, 431) were probably connected with Sir John.
- 423 2 Charles Fell (c. 1670— ) was the only son of George and Hannah Fell (18. 7, 8). He married Mary Brown (d. 1741), daughter of John Brown, of Spelmonden, Kent, and had one surviving son, Charles (c. 1693—1748), who married into the family of William Penn, the first Proprietor of Pennsylvania. "He appears to have lived so fast a life that but little remained for his young widow on his death, which took place in the West Indies" (Camb. Jnl. ii. 492). His widow married Wilkes, the comedian (Barber, Furness). As a little seven-year-old he was in favour with his Aunt Sarah (423).
- 439 I Prior to his accession to Quakerism Francis Benson ( —1672) was a prominent local man and was proposed for an elder in the attempted Presbyterian classis for the Barony of Kendal (Nightingale, The Ejected of 1662 1911, i. 110). George Fox visited him in 1663 (Camb.

Jnl.). "He was repeatedly and heavily fined for attendance at Friends' meetings, non-attendance at church and non-payment of tithes. He was a man of wealth and position" (Satterthwaite, Colthouse, p. 29). His wife, Dorothy, died in 1669.

"The Fould, a customary holding of the Bensons in Loughrigg from the earliest record of it by name, remained a stronghold of their family till the end of the eighteenth century" (Miss M. L. Armitt, in Trans. C. and W. A. and A. Soc. n.s. viii.). The Fould was a little cluster of Benson homesteads not far from the border of Lancashire.

Bernard (Barnard, Barnet) Benson was the son of Francis Benson, of Fould in Loughrigg. In 1667, he married Elizabeth, daughter of William Braithwaite, of High Wray, and had issue. His wife died in 1671 and according to the Lancashire Registers he died in 1694, in Appleby prison for non-payment of tithe. Francis Benson's second daughter, Agnes, married George Braithwaite of High Wray.

There were numerous earlier and later Barnards in the family of Benson of the Fould (see Armitt, Rydal, p. 205). One Barnard, perhaps the above, came under discipline by his Monthly Meeting of Swarthmoor, 11 xii. 1672, with William Benson, John Gunson, and William Harrison for "disorderly walkeinge." They confessed, and promised amendment, but, later, Benson was ordered to "give satisfaction...for his maring Contrery to the truth," which he tardily did.

- 439 2 Loveday, third daughter of Thomas and Mary Lower, was born on 9 Oct. 1677. Her nurse was Barbara Ion (450. 1). In 1699, Loveday married William Swan, of Halstead, Essex.
- 450 1 Barbara Ion, daughter of Thomas (349. 1), appears to have been nurse to both Humphrey and Loveday Lower (439. 2). Most references to her give her occupation only, not her name, but see 450, 479. Gifts of money were freely bestowed upon her by members of the Fell-Lower households (see 3. 12). Sister Susan presented her with a "say apron," costing two shillings (393). For "say," see also (323, 473).
- 455 1 John Swinton (1621?—1679) was the eldest son of Sir Alexander Swinton, of Swinton, in Scotland. He was the means of the conversion to Quakerism of David Barclay (455. 2) while they were imprisoned together in Edinburgh Castle in 1666. For further particulars see Camb. Jnl., according to which Swinton's connection with the Friends was broken by some moral delinquency. See also Braithwaite, Second Period of Quakerism, 1919.
- 455 2 Colonel David Barclay (1610—1686) lived at Ury, near Aberdeen, which estate he bought at the time, 1648, of his marriage to Catherine Gordon. John Swinton (455. 1) was the means of his conversion to Quakerism when, in 1666, they were imprisoned together in Edinburgh Castle. His eldest son, Robert (1648—1690), was the author of the famous Apology for the People called Quakers, 1676, and his descendants have been noted in the annals of Quakerism.
- 459 1 Bryan Lancaster ( —1719) was a tanner, living in Stramongate, Kendal, a prominent Quaker, and a sufferer for the Truth (Besse, Suff. s.v. Westmorland; Swarth. MSS. iv. 51).
- 461 1 The home of William Gandy ( —1683) was Frandley, in Cheshire. The event, recorded here on its financial side, is recorded by Besse as follows: "Anno 1677. On Midsummer-day this Year, Sir Peter Leicester, a Justice of the Peace, who also acted the Part of an Informer, came personally to a Meeting at the House of William Gandy, shut up the Doors, and placed a Guard of Soldiers at them,

- while he took a List of about two Hundred Names, and fined Margaret Fox and Thomas Docwra [382. 1] 20l. each, for Preaching; he also ordered 20l. to be levied on several of the Assembly for the House they met at, beside their own particular Fines, for which he issued Warrants of Distress" (Suff. i. 106). Proceedings were taken under the Conventicle Act, 22 Car. II, cap. 1 (1670), which enacts that "a person preaching or teaching in any such conventicle was to be fined £20 for the first offence, to be distrained for on his goods, or if a stranger or poor on the goods up to £10 of any person convicted of being present." Distraint to the amount of £20 was levied upon Cheshire Friends, which amount Margaret Fox sent to Roger Haydock for their relief (461). Shortly afterwards, however, the money was returned as "they would not take it" (484).
- 467 I John Corker is described in legal documents of the time as "of the Lund in Ulverstone gent." In 1677, he was paid four pence "for making A bond" (467) and in 1700 he was employed to make a will for Margaret Kirkby (3. 5) for which he received half-a-crown (Record, pp. 6, 7). He was one of the inhabitants of Ulverston present at the first meeting held in connection with the bequest for education made by Judge Fell (479) (Fell, Home Life, p. 9). His mother, Hester Corker (481, 504) "of Lun," died in 1701. A sister, Hester, resided in London (481, 504). For Peggy Corker, see 83. 2.
- "Thomas Corker was 'register' of the parish of Ulverston; the records suffered terribly at his hands" (Bardsley, Ulverston).
- 470 I There was a George Holme, of Colthouse, a tanner, whose father was also George, and who married, in 1666, Dorothy, daughter of Clement Satterthwaite, Senr. (224. 1) and had issue. He died in 1702. This may have been the couple mentioned here. The signature George Holme foots some of the minutes of Swarthmore Monthly Meeting, 1668 and onward.
- 477 I See 413. 1.
- 477 2 Dunnerdale hamlet is situated in the valley of the Duddon near Ulpha. A little plot of land here, about 49 feet square, is known as the "Dunnerdale Sepulchre" and was doubtless an early Quaker graveyard. "A low doorway with stone lintel leads into a small enclosure...There are rough stone seats round the inside of the wall" (H. A. Simpson in Friends' Quarterly Examiner, 1915, p. 461. See also The Mystery of a Sepulchre by William Richardson Nash, Ulverston, 1915; Ayre, Guide to Ulverston, etc., Ulverston, 1894).
- 477 3 This entry, among others, shews the widespread generosity of Margaret Fox.
- Thomas Taylor (c. 1617—1681/2), Quaker preacher and sufferer, "was praemunired at Stafford assizes in 1662 and lay in jail till the general release of Friends by Charles II in 1672. His death took place at Stafford after he had again been imprisoned at that place" (Camb. Jnl. i. 410).
- 477 4 Ralph Ridgway (—1698) was a hosier, of Manchester. In 1660, he married, in Manchester, Mary Schofield, widow (—1701/2), at which time he was located at "Aspinshaw in the Middle Reale in psh of Glossop, Derbyshire." He had children, Mary, b. 1661, and James (1665—1685). In writing to John Abraham, in Third Month (May), 1681, Margaret Fox sends "deare love to Ralfe Ridgway and his wife," adding, "I account my selfe very much oblidged to them for sparing there Daughter so longe to accompany my Daughter Sus:" (Spence MSS. iii. 180) especially as Mary was very shortly to be married to Thomas Blaykling. Daughter Mary was a visitor at the Hall (484, 501).

See Robert Muschamp, Historical Notes on...Friends...in Manchester, 1914.

477 5 This Anthony Pearson must be distinguished from the well-known Quaker of that name (c. 1628—1665) for whom see Camb. Jnl. i. 470.

480 I Presumably, Lancelot Forth, Justice, and Mayor of Kendal, under the new Charter, in 1684 and also in 1708 (Westmorland Quaker Records, p. 11). At the proclamation of the accession of James II, during his first year of mayoralty, Forth entertained at his house a party of gentlemen which included Sir Daniel Fleming (Fleming MSS.). Forth was a pewterer hence his purchase of tin from Thomas Lower (418, 422, 438, 480). He was associated with a fellow Justice, John Archer (see Camb. Jnl.), in the prosecution of Quakers. (Information from W. G. Collingwood, M.A., F.S.A., 1916; see Armitt, Rydal, p. 509.)

481 I "Height Meeting House is appropriately named, for, perched high on its aerial seat, it suggests a dwelling amongst the clouds...When the clouds are hanging low and looming along the crest of Whitbarrow Crag, which rears its mighty ruffled head on the opposite side of the valley, the view from the Meeting House into the valley below is truly sublime" (Westmorland Quaker Records). The meeting-house had been recently erected at the time of the sisters' visit (415). Over the entrance are carved the initials L.N. and the date 1677. The initials belong to Lawrence Newton (—1676), of Height, by whose will, dated 1676, property came to the Quakers of the district, for which see Endowed Charities (County of Lancaster)—Quaker Charities, 1905. The letter re "Lawrence Newtons businesse" (373) may have concerned the building of Height meeting-house.

The following certificate, copied from the original preserved in Cartmel meeting-house, signed by twenty-nine parishioners of Cartmel and elsewhere will prove of interest to local historians :

Aprill, Jn Anō Doñ 1680.

There is a good illustrated account of Height in Cartmel in A. M. Wakefield's Cartmel Priory and Sketches of North Lonsdale, 1909.

484 I See 461. I.

485 I The first Friends' meeting-house at Lancaster, on the north side of Meeting House Lane, was erected in 1677. In the spring of 1708, according to William Stout (Auto. p. 75), a larger house was built, capable of holding the General Meeting for the Four Northern Counties, about to be held in the town. There is a view of the present building in Pedigree of the Barrow Family of Allithwaite, Cartmel, and Lancaster, 1906; also an original sketch in D. See 398, 508; Lancaster Guardian, 25 December, 1915; Lonsdale Magazine, 1820.

489 I John Audland (1664—?1752) was the son of John Audland (1630—1663/4) of Crosslands, Westmorland, and Anne his wife, afterwards Camm (1627—1705). John the younger married in 1689 Agnes Clark, dau. of James Clark, of Crook, near Kendal (d. 1733 as "wife") and had issue. His home was Camsgill and later Hegholme Hall in Mansergh. The Registers record the burial at Sunbrick in 1752 of a John Audland, who died at Baycliff.

Among Gibson MSS. in D. is the signature of John Audland to a marriage certificate of 1682, and in Spence MSS. some verses by John Audland addressed to Jane Birkett on her marriage in 1729.

493 I It is interesting to note that a copy of one of these Bonds is in D. "It is a Bond dated 22nd May, 1678, by Sarah Fell, Mary and Thomas Lower, and John Blaykling for £1000 to Joseph Cradock, Commissary of the Archdeaconry of Richmond, given by them to secure their making an inventory of Bridget Draper's goods by 22nd April, 1679, rendering an account by 23rd May, 1679 (a year from the date of the Bond), and duly administering her estate. That means, I think, that she had died very shortly before.

"The second Bond referred to in the Account Book is, apparently, not in D. It would be 'de bonis non administratis,' that is, with respect to goods of Thomas Fell's not yet included in any previous administration. A new administration 'de bonis non' had to be taken out where there were goods still unadministered and the original executors had died without leaving their own executors" (note by William C. Braithwaite, B.A., LL.B., 1916).

- 493 I Bridget Fell was the second daughter of Judge and Margaret Fell, of Swarthmoor Hall. In 1662 she married John Draper, son of Henry Draper, of Headlam, co. Durham. No mention of either John or Bridget Draper has been found, subsequent to the time of their marriage, save above reference to the Administration (1678) "of all and singular the goods chattels and credits of Bridgett Draper als. Fell late deceased." Her father-in-law was "disowned" by Friends in 1672 and it may be that the son and daughter-in-law suffered in a similar way or disunited themselves from Friends. There is no mention of Bridget in connection with her mother's marriage with George Fox in 1669; she was the only daughter absent on that occasion. See notes to Camb. Jnl.

Thomas Fell (1598—1658) was one of the most important persons in the Furness district in the earlier half of the seventeenth century. In 1641 he was placed on the Commission of the Peace. In 1645 he was elected an M.P. for the County, and subsequently he became Vice-chancellor and Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. In the Parish Register of Ulverston his fine bold signature appears to many civil weddings (Barber, Furness, p. 232). By his wife, Margaret Askew, whom he married in 1632, he had one son and seven daughters (one of these being Sarah Fell, our accountant). He favoured the Quakers, but never became one of them. (See D. N. B.)

- 493 2 John Addison, of Rampside, was doubtless akin to Leonard of the same place (18. 9). His son was also John (504).

- 495 I "The Poll Act of 1667 (18 Car. II, cap. 1) was passed for the purpose of raising moneys towards the maintenance of the Dutch War. It was continued 19 Car. II, cap. 1. Another Poll Act of 29 & 30 Car. II, cap. 1 (1678), with similar provisions, was passed to provide money for a war against France" (note by W. C. Braithwaite, LL.B. in Jnl. F. H. S. xii. 111). On the 29th May, 1678, our account keeper paid "Poll money" for her father and mother twenty-two shillings, for her sisters Susanna and Rachel and herself one guinea each, for her sister Isabel Yeamans one shilling, and one shilling each for Edward Braithwaite and Tom Harrison. It is not evident why sister Yeamans paid one shilling only against her sisters' guineas. It is noteworthy that payment was made of direct war taxes. Assessments on behalf of "Souldiers pay" and "maimed Souldiers" were also paid (79, 355), and the Militia (209).

In D. there is an ancient document endorsed by George Fox: "a paper consaring trebet by gf," which, though undated, appears to refer to an Act of Charles II. It is as follows:

Concerning y<sup>e</sup> in closed: paper: about y<sup>e</sup> poll act w<sup>ch</sup> then montioned: it is knowne for this cause wee pay tribute or Custome & giue Cesar his due y<sup>t</sup> wee may Liue a godly and peaceable life vnder theme who are for the punishm<sup>t</sup> of Evell. This is a Coppy of a letter sent to some friends concerning y<sup>e</sup> poll Act.

The following from an ancient MS. in D. also refers to a Poll Act:

May y<sup>e</sup> 30. 1692 The Quakers doe say that thee preachers or teachers amongst them are not taxable by y<sup>e</sup> poll act

For theire speakers have noe particular relation to any pticular congregation or meeting, nor any meeting upon them For all have eaquall freedome or Libertie in theire meetings to Speake: And none of theire preachers receive any contribution or profits otherwise for preachin or speakeing.

Wee conceive That the Act extends onely to teachers or preachers who take upon them to bee such by theire proffession and therefore if the Quakers have noe Such preachers or teachers But every pson among them man or woman Speake when as it pleaseth them in theire meetings the persons soe hapning to Speake are not liable for Such Speakeing to bee taxed as preacher or Speaker: For if they should bee taxed with such every one of their congregation might be Taxed as A preacher or teacher wich wee conceive not too bee Intended by y<sup>e</sup> Act.

- 499 1 The surname Brockbank has been familiar in the annals of Quakerism down to the present time. Roger Brockbank and Elizabeth his wife (d. 1661) lived at Ayshead or Ayside, and Agnes may have been their daughter. The Registers record the death of Agnes Brockbank, of Colthouse, in 1713, but J. George Brockbank, of Manchester, in his printed papers on the family, 1898, makes the Agnes, who died in 1713, a daughter of John who married Elizabeth in 1679.

Bernard Brockbank purchased iron from the Forge (243).

- 501 1 "The first record of the family of Whitwell in this part of England is that of the conveyance of land by Arthur Whitwell in the time of Charles I, but as there is a township called Whitwell about four miles from Kendal it is probable that the family has long existed in this county. The more distinct account commences with the will of Robert Thompson, a landowner in Furness, leaving estates to his son and property to his daughter Agnes, wife of John Whitwell. John Whitwell had an only son, John, born 1704, married Hannah Atkinson of Crake Hall in 1731, and had eight children, from one of whom, John (3rd), born 1735, are descended many Quaker families—Whitwell, Fisher, Coates, Pease, Wilson, etc." See Foster, Wilson of High Wray, etc., 1890; Benson, Photographic Pedigree of the Wilson Family, 1912; Nicholson and Axon, Older Nonconformity in Kendal, 1915.

Information from Henry Whitwell, of Birmingham and London, 1916.

- 505 I The name Bisbrown (Besbrown) was not uncommon among early Quakers in the N.W. of England. There was a family of that name at Silverdale within the Lancaster district and another around Arnside in Westmorland. Margaret, daughter of Christopher Bisbrown, of Arnside, married in 1666/7 Robert Barrow, noted Quaker minister (d. 1697).

The relationship with Leonard Fell has not been discovered.

See Besse, Suff. i. 307, ii. 1—30.

- 508 I Edward Brittain (Brittaine, Britton) ( —1695) was a son of Richard Brittain ( —1687) of Newton-in-Cartmel. He married Isabel Birkett, widow, of Peasholme, at her own house, 26 Aug. 1674, and had issue. He was frequently engaged to work in the fields around the Hall and at Gleaston (105, 123, 295). He subscribed half-a-crown to the building fund of the Lancaster Meeting House (485. 1), Sarah Fell having advanced this amount (508). He or another of his name contracted the drink-habit late in life (Swarthmore Monthly Meeting, 5 x. 1693).

Isabel Brittain, wife of Edward, above, was the widow of Nicholas Birkett, of Peasholme, whom she married in 1662 and who died in 1672. Her maiden name was Wilson. She assisted in the distribution of the women's Stock (3. 2) (297, 313). At the time of her marriage with Edward Brittain arrangements were made, according to good order, for the children of her first marriage and twenty-five pounds were handed to trustees for their use (Monthly Meeting Minutes, 13 viii. 1674).

71 32 The references to the use of tobacco for persons and animals are of considerable interest.

The purchase of this narcotic for smoking, and of pipes, is noted in general (71, 253, 291, 371). Pipes were purchased for George Fox (283, 295, 363), though in his Journal he decries smoking by others (Camb. Jnl. i. 21—1651 in Cleveland) and states "tobacco I did not take" (ibid. i. 44, anno 1652). A similar purchase was made for Susanna (459, 501) and may have been used by reason of her ill-health, hardly for the purposes mentioned in Jnl. F. H. S. xii. 115—"to blow soap bubbles to amuse the children." Mary Lower purchased a quarter pound of tobacco for twopence halfpenny (403).

The use of tobacco stalks is recorded as a specific for scabbed sheep (9, 73, 163) or horses (51, 59, 353).

Tobacco served as currency in the southern colonies of North America. In 1698, at Thirdhaven in Maryland, "John Stacy having covered and ceiled our great meeting-house, there is due unto him 2,500 pounds of tobacco" (Tallack, Friendly Sketches in America, 1861, p. 187). Among Swarthmoor MSS. in D. is a letter from Henry Fell, who in early life was a clerk in the employ of Judge Fell, written from Bristol in 1656, in which he says: "As for money of mine w<sup>ch</sup> is out is thus: 5<sup>li</sup> left wth M: ff...4<sup>li</sup> 10<sup>s</sup> to Leo: ffell: 14<sup>s</sup> 8<sup>d</sup> yonge M. ff. and 14<sup>s</sup> Rich: Waller & 10<sup>s</sup> to Joseph Nicholson. My Brother Tho: ffell hath 5<sup>li</sup>...& two Rowles of Tobaccoe left wth John Stubbs wife & two rowles left wth william Milner at Dalton to sell for mee...one rowle to Neddy Cooper & one rowle left wth Jam: Clegge w<sup>ch</sup> I was to have 7<sup>s</sup> for but lesse will serve."

The importation of tobacco from Virginia is referred to at large, Stout, Auto. p. 13—"tobacco 2<sup>d</sup> a lb., retailed at 6<sup>d</sup>" anno 1682.

"The too frequent use of smoking Tobacco" was objected to by Friends and it was desired that "such as have occasion to make use thereof, take it privately, neither too publicly in their own houses, nor by the highways, streets, or in alehouses or elsewhere" (Hardshaw Meeting, Lancashire, 1691). The Quakers in Ireland in 1692 were warned against "being overcome with...tobacco," and thus being "brought into bondage to the creature" (Jnl. F. H. S. ii. 68, viii. 69, xi. 27). No rule against smoking was ever laid down in Quaker discipline but a feeling gradually gained ground that the danger of excess made the use of tobacco undesirable. John Kelsall (1683— ) "left off taking tobacco...was fearful of taking more than was proper or needful," 1731.

Jane Peirce, a well-known Quakeress, of Philadelphia, continued the habit till the day of her death in 1846 at the age of ninety. Mildred Ratcliffe (1773—1847), a minister, of Virginia, "was one of those old-fashioned Friends who enjoyed a smoke, a very common thing in those days for men and women in the South to indulge in" (The Friend (Phila.), vol. 78 (1905), p. 410). A description of Ann Miller (1760—1842), a Quaker lady, of Edinburgh, includes the following: "After a little conversation, she asked me if I had any objection to the smell of tobacco, and on my replying in the negative...took out a long pipe and began to smoke" (Memorials of Hope Park, London, 1886). In 1847, the inhabitants of Melksham, Wilts, were surprised to see two American Quaker ministers, Charity Cook and Mary Swet, walking down the street with their pipes in their mouths (Diaries of Edward Pease, 1907, p. 226).

459 I Francis Fleming ( —1694) lived at Newton-in-Cartmel. His wife was Mary ( —1693), probably mentioned also (457). The following dramatic incident occurred in his house in 1652, described by George Fox (Camb. Jnl. i. 104):

"One of the servants of S<sup>r</sup> Rob: Binley [Bindloss] came to ff. flemminges house & thrust his naked rapier In att his doore & att his windowes: & there came a cousen off ff. flemminges with a cudgell in his hande which was noe freinde; & hee bid him putt uppe his rapier but hee woulde not but vaped with it att him & was rude: & hee uppe with his staffe & knockt him downe soe as hee made him sprawle one ye grounde & he tooke his rapier from him: & had it not beene for freindes hee woulde have runn him through with it & soe freindes preserved his life y<sup>t</sup> woulde have destroyed theres."

His signature appears from time to time at the close of minutes of Swarthmore Monthly Meeting, etc. 1692.
